HARRY BRIDGES IS A COMMUNIST, F. B. I. REPORTS

Evidence Handed to Attorney General.

Miami Beach, Fla., Dec. 16 [Special].—J. Edgar Hoover, director of the federal bureau of investigation, disclosed here today that a report submitted to Attorney General Robert H. Jackson on Nov. 28 shows that Harry Bridges, alien west coast labor leader, is a communist and that the communist party advocates the overthrow of the United government.

Hoover said he could not divulge factual evidence about communists which the report contains, nor would he predict what action will be taken in Bridges' case. Hoover's bureau was ordered to investigate Bridges' status last Aug. 24 after attempts to deport Bridges had failed.

FBI Functions Explained.

The federal bureau of investigation cannot arrest any person for holding membership in the communist party, Hoover explained, and neither can the bureau order deportation. Under present laws, deportation proceedings must be prosecuted by the bureau of immigration—formerly of the department of labor but now in the department of justice.

Hoover said his bureau can only investigate and report to the attorney general. He predicted that Jackson will conduct public hearings on the FBI report in the Bridges case.

Bridges entered the United States from Australia on May 7, 1920, and subsequently made three applications for citizenship. Altho he obtained first papers each time, he never bothered to get final papers and take the oath of allegiance to the United States.

Bridges joined a Pacific coast longshoremen's union in 1922 and became the leader of a San Francisco dock strike in 1934. The strike became so violent that troops were called to preserve order.

Joins Up with C. I. O.

Bridges again led strikes in 1936 and 1937, taking west coast stevedores out of the American Federation of Labor and into the Congress of Industrial Organizations. John L. Lewis, then czar of the C. I. O., rewarded Bridges by making him west coast director. His C. I. O. authority later was restricted to California.

Bridges had become so notorious by 1938 that deportation proceedings were instituted against him. Frances Perkins, secretary of labor, refused to order a hearing in his case until more than a year later, maintaining friendly relations with him the while.

James M. Landis, dean of the Harvard university law school, finally was assigned to hear Bridges' case. After many weeks of testimony against Bridges and his denial of membership in the communist party, Landis ruled that Bridges was a radical but not a communist.

Secretary Perkins then dropped deportation proceedings against Bridges and so angered congress that a bill ordering his deportation was passed by the house last June 13. The bill was sent to the senate, where New Dealers immediately started a campaign to kill it. They accomplished their purpose by substituting a resolution asking the department of justice to investigate Bridges. This task was passed on to Hoover.

16,000 Fifth Column Complaints.

In addition to his announcement concerning the Bridges case, Hoover told reporters that the FBI is investigating 16,000 reports of fifth column activities. He said G-men have assembled a "defense index" of 6,000 names of "potential enemies of the nation." The index, he explained, contains the names of every communist leader and every member of the German-American bund.

Altho the FBI has not uncovered any evidence of sabotage in United States industry, Hoover said, 1,200 plants which produce war materials have been surveyed and plans drawn to prevent any future trouble of this nature.

Lawyers Study Report.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16 (AP).—The justice department today said that the federal bureau of investigation report on Harry Bridges had been referred to lawyers in the criminal division. They will study it in coöperation with the bureau of immigration and naturalization.

HOLD BOOKIES UNTIL TRACKS CLOSE, POLICE RAIDERS ARE ORDERED

Police were ordered yesterday to arrest all employés of bookmaking establishments and hold them until the race tracks are closed each afternoon. Capt. Martin McCormick of the morals division, and Capt. Thomas Duffy of Central station, who issued the orders, said this would prevent immediate reopening of the bookie establishments.

Six of 21 men arrested in raids on 15 alleged handbooks over the week-end were fined $13.50 each by Judge George L. Quilici in State street court yesterday. The others, who had not taken bets from policemen, were discharged for lack of evidence.

Meanwhile 34 deputy sheriffs continued their efforts to serve summonses on 1,380 defendants in the temporary injunction action directed against bookmakers in the Circuit court at East St. Louis. Sheriff Thomas J. O'Brien, who declared the list of addresses given him is false, returned 100 summonses to Attorney General John E. Cassidy with a request for better information on the whereabouts of the defendants.

NEGROES DRIVEN OFF STREETS IN MOB-RULED TOWN

Georgetown, S. C., Dec. 16 [Special].—Negroes were driven from the streets of this ancient seaport town tonight in the wake of an uprising yesterday in which Sheriff H. B. Bruorton was forced to hand 11 Negro prisoners over to a mob.

About a hundred men patroled the streets in automobiles after a mass meeting of some 200 persons. Drug stores and business houses employing Negroes as delivery boys made them leave their jobs and go home.

A local unit of the National Guard was called to arms yesterday after a mob of 300 stormed the county jail and took the 11 Negro prisoners before a young white woman who said she had been raped. She was able to identify none of the 11, so all were returned to the sheriff.

NAZIS THREATEN NEW POSTCARD CURB ON FRENCH

VICHY, Dec. 16.—For several months the only means of communication between the French occupied and unoccupied zones has been postcards already printed with ready made phrases. Two lines at the bottom are left blank for additional "family correspondence." It was announced today that the high German authorities have notified the postal administration of their intention of suppressing even this concession unless there is an immediate "end of abuses."

Troubled? Just Ask the Lady at the Big Desk

BY IRENE STEYSKAL.

The bald, fat man plants pudgy hands on the counter, leans forward, and fixes the information girl with determined eye. "Where," he demands, "do I get a red flannel nightie for my wife?"

A young mother, tearful and pale, pushes forward. "O, do help me!" she cries. "I've lost Tommy. That's my little boy. We were in the toy section. I can't find him anywhere."

An enchanting elf in white bunny hood and red mittens stands on tiptoe, peeping over the edge of the counter. Her eyes shine like Christmas candles. "Please," she trills, "is this fairyland, like my mamma said? May I talk to Santa?"

And a Little Poetry.

Here comes a white haired matron in Persian lamb. Says she: "Listen to this, my dear:

'Heap on more wood—the wind is chill;
But let it whistle as it will,
We'll keep our Christmas merry still . . .'

"Those lines have been running thru my head all day. Can you tell me who wrote them?"

All the world, apparently, has questions to ask at Christmas time. An amazing number and variety of them are answered every day by the seemingly omniscient and tactful women who sit in the information booths in Chicago stores.

Where is Santa Claus? Will you please suggest an appropriate gift for my girl? Where can I buy stamps? Hockey tickets? When does the next plane leave for New York and how long does it take to get to the airport? I was supposed to meet my aunt from out of town hours ago. Can you help, or should I call the missing persons bureau?

2,000 Questions a Day.

To them come questions about everything. A survey yesterday disclosed that the average girl in the information booth or at the personal service desk answers between 2,000 and 3,000 questions a day.

Hundreds want information on transportation, roads, weather forecasts, and traffic regulations. The service desk plays nurse to pet puppies, provides smelling salts for tired shoppers, and gives first aid to women on high heels who, entranced by the sights, turn their ankles.

There is one peculiarity in customer behavior for which the service desk has no explanation. The customer who, confused in her directions, asks the way out, for example, to State street, invariably turns and goes out in the direction opposite to that indicated.

Stores are a favorite meeting place. In at least one the service desk keeps a date book in which customers may jot their messages. Typical of a day's run are these:

"Mother: Meet me here for lunch at 1:30. I found a sweater for Bill. Have some news about Jean, and is it funny! Letty."

"Jill: For the love of Pete, where've you been? Waited hours. I'll be back at 4. G. D."

"George: On my way over the rainbow. See you in Hawaii. Alice."

And this intriguing bit: "X Y Z. Can't meet you today. Santa Claus has been trailing me. Same place tomorrow. Princess."

4 SLAIN AS 10 AERIAL BOMBS STRIKE BASEL; SUSPECT RAF PLANES

BASEL, Switzerland, Dec. 17, Tuesday (AP).—Four persons were killed and widespread damage done when 10 aerial bombs exploded in Basel just before last midnight. The bombs were believed to have been dropped by British raiders mistaking this blacked out city on the German border for one of their Nazi objectives.

One bomb ripped thru the central railway station but exploded without casualties. Another fell in Winkelried square, behind the station, killing a woman who was running for shelter. Three persons were killed in the suburb of Dininger, a mile from the center of the city, second largest in Switzerland.

The bombs caught Basel by surprise. The sudden drone of airplane motors was followed by the blasting of high explosives and a spatter of antiaircraft fire from German guns across the Rhine. Several minutes later an alarm sounded, and the all clear did not come for more than an hour afterward.

BRITISH SEIZE FORT IN LIBYA, PORT IN EGYPT

March Into Capuzzo and Sollum.

CAIRO, Egypt, Dec. 16 (AP).—Britain's army of the Nile claimed its first big victory on Italian colonial soil today by capturing Fort Capuzzo, just within Libya. At the same time it crushed the last important Fascist threat inside Egypt's border by overwhelming the fiercely fighting Italian garrison at Sollum, a port on the Mediterranean five miles from the Libyan border.

Thus, with one stroke reported in a bare announcement at British headquarters, troops of Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell, middle east commander, seized two points of a triangle of Italian resistance in the western desert and on the Libyan frontier.

Sweep On Into Libya.

British advance guards were reported sweeping on into Libya and the next probable objective of the British blitzkrieg apparently was Bardia, Libyan port and key Fascist base.

The British spearheads of motorized desert troops were reported to have set back the Italians at some points to where they started from more than three months ago.

Marshal Rodolfo Graziani, Italian commander in Libya, had been reported strongly entrenched in Sollum, and his men put up what the British said was a terrific battle before that "pocket of resistance" was claimed by the British.

While fighting was going on around Sollum and Fort Capuzzo, British units were reported to have swept around them into Libya.

Hammer Italian Bases.

At the same time, the British air force was reported hammering Italian bases without letup. British bombers delivered a smashing attack upon Bardia and their planes were said to be penetrating farther into the Italian colony. Fierce fires, visible for 60 miles, were declared left blazing at Bardia. Other objectives reported bombed were Tobruk and Derna, part of Italy's chain of forts in Libya.

The British air force in the middle east also reported sharp blows against Italy at home.

Bucking bad weather Saturday night, an air force communique said, British bombers stabbed at the Italian west coast port of Naples and scored five square hits on a concentration of cruisers and destroyers. Four large explosions resulted, it said.

Attack Two Battleships.

Two battleships also were attacked at Naples, the communique added. While making no claims of having hit either of them, it asserted that one plane dumped its whole load close to one and that bomb hits set fire to the jetty to which both were moored.

¶An Italian communique acknowledged that Fascist forces are fighting in Libya, against strong British attacks, but said the British were paying with heavy casualties inflicted by Italian aviation. First reports of the Naples raid came Sunday from the Italian high command, which admitted that a small motor sailboat had been sunk and a warship of "medium" tonnage damaged, with 50 of her crew killed or injured.]

With announcement of the capture of Sollum and Fort Capuzzo, the British took stock of the military situation in Africa.

250,000 Men in Libyan Army.

When the British began their surprise offensive across the western desert a week ago today, the Italians were authoritatively reported to have 250,000 men in the Libyan army.

Of these, the British believe that less than 100,000 were involved in the present fighting, with the remainder scattered along the length and breadth of the vast Libyan desert.

Upwards of 30,000 must be deducted as prisoners in the week's fighting [not including any prisoners captured at Sollum and Fort Capuzzo] and a large number of casualties.

One wounded soldier back from the front said it was a remarkable sight to see long columns of trucks carrying prisoners to the rear.

"We all had the impression that the Italians had no heart for the fight," he said.

Appeal to U. S. Is Presented to Morgenthau

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16.—Great Britain has officially applied to the United States for financial assistance to carry on its war against Germany. This was learned today from a high government source.

Sir Frederick Phillips.

The request for financial aid was made by Sir Frederick Phillips, undersecretary of the British treasury, who is in Washington. Phillips has been engaged in a series of what have been termed "informative conferences" with Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau Jr.

At one of these conferences, according to a responsible government official who has been aware of every word of the "conversations," Sir Frederick put the "touch" on Morgenthau for financial assistance to Britain.

Law Stands in Way.

No indication was given as to whether any plan has been advanced to circumvent the Johnson act, which bars loans to countries which are delinquent in their war debts to the United States.

The appeal for assistance was revealed, ironically, on the same day that Britain's semiannual installment of $127,670,765 became due on its $5,651,792,208 world war debt, long in default.

Secretary Morgenthau refused to comment on the report of the British request for financial help, altho he hinted broadly the reporters had received correct information.

In recent weeks, whenever newspaper men asked the secretary whether the British had asked for loans he had always looked for his clock and said that no request had been made up to that moment.

Asked again today whether a loan request had been made up to 4 p. m., eastern standard time, Morgenthau replied: "My clock has stopped."

The implication of the statement was pointed out to him, and he said again: "All I can say is my clock has stopped."

Looks to White House.

Morgenthau indicated that any official statement about the question would have to come from the White House.

The secretary acknowledged that his conversations with Phillips are proceeding satisfactorily. He would not say when he will see the British under secretary again.

Morgenthau did say that he knew of no way that financial aid could be given to Britain without formal action by congress. He referred to repeal of the Johnson act.

He declined to comment on the suggestion of Mrs. Roosevelt that gifts be given Britain instead of loans.

Altho details of Britain's request for financial help were not available, usually well informed officials indicated the British had asked for a "line of credit" probably involving their securities and gold assets, rather than an unsecured loan.

Fits Views of Officials.

This suggestion apparently fitted what many officials have been saying privately for several weeks, that the British were not so much interested in a quick cash transaction as in assurances that they would be able to continue buying war supplies in this country when their present dollar assets ran out.

Some officials estimated it would be a year or more before these assets were exhausted. For instance, the British empire has nearly $5,000,000,000 invested in United States securities, business, and real estate, much of which would be convertible into cash.

GUY MURCHIE, TRIBUNE WAR WRITER, MARRIES NURSE IN ENGLAND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 16.—Guy Murchie Jr. of Chicago, a Tribune correspondent for several months on the war front in Britain, married Josephine Egan, a nurse, today in Manchester. Murchie met Miss Egan prior to his injury in the wreckage of a Dover hotel which was bombed on Sept. 11 by the Germans. Murchie won distinction when, despite his injuries, he rescued the hotel receptionist from the wreckage. Murchie and his bride plan to fly to Ireland, where they will spend the Christmas holidays with her parents.

HITLER'S AID IN VICHY; MAY SET PATH OF FRANCE

Will Quiz Petain on Ousting of Laval.

See Blow at Gibraltar

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 16.—It was reported in London tonight that an important concentration of German troops has been taking place in southwestern France in the last few days. Military experts consider it possible that Adolf Hitler plans to aid Italy by an attempt to divert Mediterranean operations to Gibraltar to relieve pressure in the east.

VICHY, France, Dec. 16 (AP).—Otto Abetz, German ambassador, arrived in Vichy today on a visit that may set France on a new course dictated by the axis.

Otto Abetz.
[A. P. Wirephoto.]

As Adolf Hitler's personal agent in Paris, Abetz was expected shortly to see the French chief of state, Marshal Philippe Petain. It was believed that Petain would learn from him the German attitude toward the French cabinet shakeup that ousted Pierre Laval as vice premier and foreign minister.

The ambassador, the first important German official to visit the French capitol since France capitulated last June, was guarded by Nazi troops with rifles ready for action.

The French government maintained official silence on Abetz's visit, and officials said there probably would be no communique tonight. The censorship generally, however, was considerably relaxed for the first time since Laval's resignation last week-end.

See Threat to Petain Régime.

BERNE, Switzerland, Dec. 16 (AP).—Foreign observers here said today that the visit of the German ambassador, Otto Abetz, to Vichy, might mean life or death for the reorganized French government, possibly even total Nazi occupation of France.

What the future holds for Marshal Petain's régime, these observers declared, hinges on what explanation he gives Abetz, sometimes called the "unofficial king of France," regarding the sudden ousting of Pierre Laval from its government.

Abetz, presumably, is expected to determine whether Petain's assurance that nothing is changed in French-German relations could be taken at face value. The belief was expressed in some diplomatic quarters here that, to reassure the Germans, the marshal would have to follow his statement with action. This might include giving Pierre Etienne Flandin, Laval's successor as foreign minister, the same power in the government that was held by Laval as vice premier.

Laval is rumored to have been made a prisoner in Château de Pellevoisin, along with republican leaders who face "war guilt" charges.

Berlin Silent on Abetz Trip.

BERLIN, Dec. 16 (AP).—Authorized German spokesmen were silent tonight on the mission in Vichy of Ambassador Otto Abetz. That he had gone to Vichy was not officially disclosed here. It was said earlier that until the German government has full information about the change in the French government, the German press will not carry the news of Vice Premier Pierre Laval's ouster.

"Repercussions" Held Possible.

MADRID, Spain, Dec. 16 (AP).—The Spanish newspaper Informaciones, in a dispatch from Berlin, said today that the ousting of Vice Premier Pierre Laval by Marshal Petain "could provoke repercussions in future Franco-German relations," since Germany "cannot maintain a neutral position respecting Vichy's foreign policy."

'NEW' WAR BLOC SAME OLD CROWD, SAYS SEN. HOLT

He Charges Some of Them Are Refugees.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16.—Senator Rush D. Holt [D., W. Va.] charged today that Anglophiles, refugees, and persons under the control of international finance comprised the two interventionist groups which last night addressed petitions to President Roosevelt and members of congress urging that the United States be placed on a war basis.

Thirty-four representatives of educational and scientific institutions at Princeton, N. J., urged "full industrial, military and naval mobilization" to expedite preparedness and to assist Great Britain. Simultaneously the so-called Southern Regional conference, meeting at Southern Pines, N. C., appealed for "immediate full capacity mobilization of all necessary resources."

Speaking in the senate today, Senator Holt said: "You can dress up a monkey but his tail will stick out. This is the same old crowd of individuals who have been active to get us into war from the very start."

Makes Three Classifications.

"First," he said, "they are a group of Anglophiles educated by Cecil Rhodes to carry out his old dream of world empire. Second, a group of individuals who have constantly been under the control of international finance. Third, they are a group of refugees. They are refugees who came over here to America to have a haven of peace, and are now trying to get America into war."

Among the Princeton group, Holt identified Frank Aydelotte, former president of Swarthmore college, as head of the Rhodes scholarship fund in the United States; Walter Phelps Hall as the author of "Pro-Tory Books About England," J. Douglas Brown and Winfield Riefler as signers of a manifesto last June advocating a declaration of war against Germany; Benjamin Merritt as a former lecturer at Oxford university; Henry N. Russell as a former student at Oxford and instructor at Cambridge; Oswald Veblen as the holder of an honorary degree from Oxford, and John B. Whitton as having been "assigned to the league of nations" at Geneva, Switzerland.

Names Two "Refugees."

Also among the Princeton group Holt identified John A. Mackay and John Von Neumann as refugees. Mackay, he said, was born in England and Von Neumann in Hungary.

Holt identified the so-called Southern Regional conference as "the Frances Perkins Miller group." The Miller group has been identified by Holt and other members of congress as an informal organization which works within and behind William Allen White's Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies.

"Miller," Holt said, "was sent up to New York to generate war propaganda, with his expenses paid.

He charged that Ward Cheney, wealthy silk manufacturer and a supplier of parachutes for the army, paid Miller's expenses.

James Boyd, another member of the southern group, married Katherine Lamont, daughter of another Morgan partner, Holt declared. He identified other members of the southern group as follows:

Barry Bingham, publisher of the Louisville Courier-Journal and son of the late Robert Worth Bingham, ambassador to England.

R. Preston Brooks, who was a Rhodes scholar at Oxford and now is a member of the Rhodes scholarship committee.

Mark Ethridge, "one of Bingham's employés, who naturally carries out his ideas."

Frank P. Graham [president of the University of North Carolina], "who advocates a declaration of war; a member of the policy committee of the William Allen White committee."

"Little Herbert Agar, who came out for a declaration of war some time ago."

"Francis P. Miller, head of the Miller group."

A White Editorial.

"These men," Holt continued, "want to give the President wartime power. Of course, so does William Allen White. But what did Mr. White think about this on the 19th day of October, 1939?" Holt then read an editorial from White's Emporia, Kas., Daily Gazette, which said in part:

"A generalissimo sitting in civilian clothes at the White House in case of a 'national emergency,' without additional authorization by congress may become a war dictator over night. If war should come to America such emergency powers of the President would be only a hop-off to the consequences of 'M' or Mobilization day. The modern world has seen nothing of tyrannical dictatorship compared to what may come should congress declare war and grant streamlined letters of 'marque and reprisal'."

PRIEST ASSAILS PROPAGANDA OF WAR AID GROUP

Dragging Us Into Conflict, He Warns.

South Bend, Ind., Dec. 16 [Special].—Describing the Committee to Defend America by aiding the Allies as the "Mass Murder committee," the Rev. John A. O'Brien, University of Notre Dame professor, told the faculty and students tonight that the United States never was in less danger of attack from Europe than at present.

The Rev. O'Brien.

Propaganda from Great Britain describing Europe as America's frontier and insisting that the United States must put the European house in order to insure safety at home was called "unmitigated buncombe" by the Rev. O'Brien, who recently passed a year in Europe studying the causes behind present wars.

"Civilization Threatened."

"The safety and security of the American people, the civilization built up by a century and a half of toil, and the lives of millions of our youth are being threatened by the propaganda which is dragging our nation each day closer to the brink of war," he said.

"'Make the world safe for democracy' was the slogan in 1917 as it is now. Our tragic entrance prolonged the war, cost the lives of two million men, prevented a negotiated peace, and made possible the iniquitous Versailles treaty.

"That treaty, imposed at the point of the sword, sunk the fangs of hatred into a prostrate foe, sowed the seeds of future wars, and paved the way for the rise of dictatorships in Europe. Our entrance paved the way, too, for the worst depression in our history."

Sees No Gratitude.

The Rev. O'Brien said both sides in the European war would like to have the active coöperation of the United States to win, but that Europeans do not feel any gratitude toward the United States for the help given in 1917.

Recalling a conversation he had with a member of the Oxford university faculty, the Rev. O'Brien said the educator had told him that if America had minded her business and allowed Europe to put its house in order it would have been spared the Versailles treaty and the present war.

"The nations of Europe will have to learn some time or other to live together," the Oxford faculty member told the Rev. O'Brien, adding: "but we won't learn that so long as you Americans keep interfering in the domestic quarrels of Europe."

"National Suicide."

To repeat the mistake of 1917 would be to commit national suicide, in the opinion of the Rev. O'Brien.

"Shall we pour our blood and treasure to guarantee the ever shifting boundary lines in Europe and try to dictate to foreign nations the kind of government they must have?" the Rev. O'Brien asked. "That way lies futility, war, tragedy; in short, national suicide.

"The Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies should be called the mass murder committee. Their concern is first with Great Britain, only secondly with America. To perpetuate Britain's hold on one-fifth of the earth's surface they would sacrifice the blood of uncounted millions of American boys and bring bankruptcy to our nation.

"Sheep to the Slaughter."

"Are the American people going to be led like sheep to the slaughter a second time? If not, they should thunder in the ears of congress and of the President their protest against the efforts to drag us into the flames of Europe's strife. Let them turn their eyes upon the 25 millions of our citizens underhoused, underclothed, and underfed. Let them remember that justice, like charity, begins at home."

In closing, the Rev. O'Brien proposed a national crusade to "defend America first, to arm America first."

ROUND UP HOUSE VOTES ON BILL TO CURB NEW DEAL

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16 (AP).—Fully expecting that President Roosevelt will veto the Walter-Logan bill, both Democratic and Republican house leaders today asked absent colleagues to return to the capitol by Wednesday for a vote on the question of overriding his objections.

Acting Speaker John W. McCormack [D., Mass.] and Minority Leader Joseph W. Martin [R., Mass.], announced that they had sent notices to those members who have gone home that "an important vote" would be taken on the bill that day. Friends said that Speaker Sam Rayburn was planning to come back from Texas.

Mr. Roosevelt must veto the measure by Wednesday or it will become law without his signature.

Altho the house approved the bill by a two to one vote two weeks ago, few members would predict what the vote would be on the question of over-riding a veto. Approval by two-thirds of the members present and voting is required to over-ride.

The Walter-Logan bill would broaden jurisdiction of the courts over regulations and orders of quasi-judicial federal agencies.

COL. M'CORMICK ASKS REFORM OF PAROLE LAW

Brands System Main Agent of Crime Alliance.

A thoro restudy of the parole law was urged last night by Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, in an address over W-G-N and the Mutual Broadcasting system.

The address was made on the première broadcast of the Chicagoland Concert hour, a program which replaced the Monday night opera presentations which were exclusive features of W-G-N during the opera season. Col. McCormick will speak on each of the Concert hour programs, returning to his custom of last summer, when he spoke regularly on the Chicago Tribune Symphonic hour.

In discussing the failure of the parole system Col. McCormick praised the Chicago police force and its detective bureau, which he said operates with scientific principles, and praised the prosecuting attorney.

He said the breakdown of justice has occurred in the parole board, and cited statistics that during eight years 52 per cent of all convicts paroled were caught violating their parole.

"The parole system is today the principal agent of the alliance of crime and politics," he said.

TEXT OF ADDRESS

Following is the text of Col. McCormick's address:

"Excepting as the war situation may invite comment, I will address myself in these evening hours to things which we all want to have accomplished but which we have not yet found means of achieving. Among these are the prevention of traffic accidents, the reduction of crime, and teaching the unemployed how to earn their living.

"We all want to reduce crime to the vanishing point. Aside from the performing criminals and the assisting criminals, and perhaps the unfortunate relatives of criminals, we are in full accord in our object, but in this regard we have been the least effective of civilized peoples.

Many Avenues of Escape.

"Our difficulty lies in the fact that the criminal has so many avenues of escape. If only one of them is not blocked he is free to prey upon the community. His first resource is in committing a crime so refined it cannot be detected. This seldom happens. A perfect crime is rare. And, even if a criminal commits one perfect crime, he will lay himself open to apprehension by less fortunate or less skilful ones.

"His next hope is to avoid capture by a lazy or a corrupt police force. If apprehended he may be able to reach the prosecuting attorney, the jury, or the judge's bailiff. In the case of very distinguished gangsters in New York and Chicago, the court itself has come under suspicion.

Prison Flights Arranged.

"If arrested, prosecuted, and convicted, he then has recourse to the parole board, to pardon, and, if his case is so flagrant that these may not be arranged, he has the connived escape from the penitentiary. And we may as well admit that jail and penitentiary escapes are by arrangement with the prison authorities.

"The police forces of our larger cities do not bear good reputations. I cannot speak for the police forces in other cities than my own, but here in Chicago we have an excellent force, with a detective bureau which actually operates by scientific methods, something that did not exist before the present commissioner of police, and which I do not believe is found in many cities.

"We have a conscientious prosecuting attorney. So thoroly was his reputation established that in the recent hotly contested election more than 250,000 voters left their party to vote for him.

Sings on W-G-N

(Story in adjoining column.)

Marion Claire, soprano, singing over W-G-N in premiere broadcast of the Chicagoland Concert hour last night.

"With us the breakdown of justice has taken place in the parole board.

"Over a period of eight years 52 per cent of all convicts paroled were caught violating their parole. There have been years when the parole board turned loose inmates of penitentiaries at a faster rate than the courts were convicting them.

"During the last 11 years in a single county, 22 men executed for murder and two others now awaiting death in the electric chair were out on parole or probation. Fourteen of the 24 were convicted of killing policemen. Of 40 persons electrocuted, 23, or 58 per cent, were on parole or probation.

"This situation prevails here and elsewhere because the parole board is a political board, politically appointed, with an eye to future political exigencies.

Cash Sales Not Unheard Of.

"Altho the charge of venality is not raised as often as previously, cash sales of paroles are not unheard of. Convicts and their unfortunate families are still canvassed by shyster lawyers and petty politicians who feel sufficiently certain of influence somewhere to offer freedom for an appropriate price.

"Circumstances tend to favor the criminal to a much greater extent before the parole board than before the trial court. He comes before the board a prisoner, his crime behind him, expressing a wish to enter a new life.

"He finds the environment of the parole board more friendly than that of the trial court. At the trial he is seen as he is, a depraved brute. His crime is described. His victim's sufferings are related. The public eye can be directed toward the agents of justice.

"The parole board hears only his pious professions and the pleas of his relatives. Privately, the board hears that the ward committeeman has taken an interest. The lawyer criminal is always ready to corrupt. The prison gates swing open once more.

"The parole law deserves a thoro restudy, for the parole system is today the principal agent of the alliance of crime and politics."

THE CONCERT HOUR

Marion Claire, W-G-N soprano, and José Mojica, Mexican tenor of the Chicago Opera company, were the vocalists on the Concert hour.

The W-G-N Symphony orchestra and chorus, under the direction of Henry Weber, were heard in several selections, and Michael Wilkomirski, concert master of the orchestra, played a violin solo, Johan Svendsen's "Romance," with an orchestral accompaniment. The program was prepared under the direction of William A. Bacher, with Marvin Mueller providing the commentary.

Miss Claire sang Musette's waltz from "La Boheme" in English; "O Holy Night," by Adams; in a medley from Franz Lehar's "The Merry Widow," and in a duet with Mojica, "Tu Partida," from "Rio Rita." Mojica was heard in "Granada," a selection from "Rio Rita," in which he made his W-G-N studio debut Saturday.

It was recalled that "The Merry Widow," from which several of Miss Claire's selections were taken, was introduced to Chicago audiences more than 30 years ago by Lina Abarbanell, a Viennese soprano. Before the world war she married Edward Goldbeck, a guards officer and member of the German general staff. Because of his marriage to an actress Goldbeck was compelled to resign from the kaiser's army.

He and Mme. Abarbanell came to this country and Goldbeck, for several years prior to the entrance of the United States into the war, was a staff writer for THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. He and Mme. Abarbanell made their home at that time in Evanston.

DEFENSE MUDDLE PERILS SAFETY OF U. S., HOUSE TOLD

Sumners Cites Bungling; Pleads for Action.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16. — The United States, which interferes in the affairs of all other nations, entertains a childish notion that it can never be attacked, the house was told today in a dramatic speech by Chairman Hatton W. Sumners [D., Tex.] of the house judiciary committee.

In his homely Texas drawl, Sumners depicted vividly the bungling of the defense production program by the administration. He pleaded for action to speed up the manufacture of planes and war equipment.

Sumners has asked government department heads to tell congress what it might do to help the defense council to remove the lag in the production of war supplies for the United States and Great Britain. He has met with a cold response.

Wants Situation Analyzed.

"We have got to analyze this situation and without acting like a bunch of children," Sumners asserted. "We have a notion in this country that there is not going to be any shooting unless we shoot first. It never seems to have occurred to the average American that we may be shootees in the next shooting. We have a bumptious optimism that does not rest on any solid foundation of fact.

"There is not a spot in the world where we are not telling people what ought to happen. We are threatening other people about what we will do if England breaks. They are fit to fight and we are not."

Sumners said that both labor and capital are attempting to take advantage of the 15 billion dollar spending by the government for the armaments program.

All in Same Boat, He Says.

"They have not stopped to consider just what our situation is," he said. "If this country does not win thru, there will not be any social gains for labor to fight over. There will be no pride of property for the owners of factories to fight over.

"We are all in the same boat. My judgment is that the heart of labor is sound and the heart of the property owner is sound if they would stop to appreciate the situation.

"Only a great people can win thru these times when common civilizations and nations must stand at the bar of judgment and answer under the philosophy of the times.

"No President can do this job, congress cannot do this job, public officials cannot do it. It can be done by a great people willing to make the sacrifice necessary to preserve a free government."

Marriage to Wait

MARY HEALY.

Hollywood, Dec. 16 (AP).—The marriage of Mary Healy, New Orleans movie actress, and Peter Hayes, night club actor, set for Christmas day, has been indefinitely postponed, Miss Healy said today. Hayes is going on tour, she said, and they have decided to wait until he returns.

MRS. ROOSEVELT PROPOSES GIVING CASH TO BRITAIN

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16 (AP).—Outright gifts of cash to Great Britain, rather than loans, were advocated today by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Asked at her press conference where such gifts would come from, the President's wife said from the government, but added that they "ultimately would come out of the pockets of you and me."

"A certain number of people," she said, "are under the impression that we are giving aid to England, but we must face the reality that we are being paid." Cash gifts, she added, would be less likely than loans to involve this country in war.

Sending of supplies to England, she said, also has been helpful to this country in that it has helped to stimulate industry in the interests of our own national defense.

"I don't see that there is much reason to talk about loans," she added. "We should not make the mistakes we did last time." She nodded when asked if she meant that these loans were not repaid.

NO NOBEL PEACE PRIZE AWARD TO BE MADE FOR 1940

OSLO, Norway [via Berlin], Dec. 16 (AP).—The Nobel peace prize will not be awarded this year, it was announced today.

Before the war Nobel peace award winners were selected by a committee of five named by the storting, parliament of Norway, now Nazi occupied.

WOMAN DIES OF RABBIT FEVER.

Mrs. Estelle Haut, 33 years old, 5028 West 29th place, Cicero, died in County hospital yesterday, the fourth victim of tularemia, or rabbit fever, in Cook county this season.

TELL THE PEOPLE WHAT'S WRONG, PRESIDENT URGED

President Roosevelt was asked last night to declare a total emergency in war production, in an address by Herbert Agar, Louisville editor, before the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies, at a banquet at the Palmer House.

The production story in America today, he said, is an "utter scandal and a farce. Seven hundred airplanes were produced here last month, he said, while the Germans are producing 3,500 a month.

"Let us ask the President," he said, "to explain to the people what is going on in the world and what is the matter. Are we always to be considered mugs that we cannot be told the truth? We are being told myths about 50,000 airplanes on order and that we are doing all that we can for Britain. That is a lie. We must say to ourselves that we will see to it that Hitler is beaten and declare a state of genuine emergency."

Adlai Stevenson, president of the Chicago chapter of the committee, presided. Pickets from the American Peace Mobilization committee walked in front of the hotel during the banquet.

RED CROSS PLANS TO SEND 2 FOOD SHIPS TO EUROPE

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16 (AP).—The American Red Cross has made tentative arrangements to send food ships to hungry Europe—one to Spain and the other to unoccupied France—it was learned authoritatively today.

Actual departure of the ships depends on a successful outcome of negotiations in progress between the United States and the British governments, and the prospect there was considered good.

While unwilling to exert pressure on the beleaguered British government for a general lifting of the blockade, the state department, it was learned, is seeking permission for an American ship to proceed to Marseilles with a cargo of condensed milk and concentrated vitamin products for undernourished children in unoccupied France.

'FOLLY' TO GIVE BRITISH MONEY, SAYS SEN. NYE

New Orleans, La., Dec. 16 (AP).—Senator Gerald P. Nye [R., N. D.], here on his honeymoon, said today United States financial aid to England would be "the utterest kind of folly."

The senator was married on Saturday in Iowa Falls, Ia., to Miss Marguerite Johnson, 32 year old Illinois school teacher.

Nye, veteran isolationist, said, "I am unalterably opposed to lending financial help to Britain or any other belligerent nation.

"The idea of going into it on a financial basis at this stage in the name of 'Save England' seems to me the utterest kind of folly when we know Britain hasn't spent her own resources to save England."

SEES GREEK GUNS HURL CAPTURED SHELLS AT FOES

Bombard Italian Position on Mountain Top.

BY J. WES GALLAGHER.

WITH THE GREEK ARMY ON THE ALBANIAN NORTHERN FRONT, Dec. 16 (AP).—Greek artillery hurled captured Italian shells into Italian emplacements high on a mountain northeast of Pogradetz today while Greek infantrymen struggled forward in four foot snows.

I stood on a snowy mountain pass 2,000 feet above the southern tip of Lake Ochrida while the Greek cannon lobbed shells over my head across the end of the lake and into the mountains several kilometers beyond. [A kilometer is equivalent to nearly five-eighths of a mile.]

Italian batteries replied, stirring up clouds of smoke in a village below. One Greek artillery officer, said four-fifths of the shells being fired by his batteries were captured from the Italians.

The Greek forces have advanced beyond Pogradetz, but one Italian stronghold remains on a small plateau several thousand feet above the lake. The Italian position there is aided by the weather for Greek foot soldiers have to flounder thru snowdrifts up to their arm pits in many places.

Captain Explains Situation.

A bearded young captain explained the situation as he tinkered with a trench mortar in a nearby farmhouse.

"We must do everything on foot," he said, "and that takes time, particularly with weather conditions as they are now."

I obtained a personal glimpse of these "conditions" in driving a battered American made station wagon along mountain roads which would have offered a challenge even to a goat.

Packed with snow and glazed with ice, these roads hugged towering peaks, with rock walls on one side and sheer drops on the other.

Winding over them were ceaseless strings of donkeys and the small horses typical of this region, with huge packs of munitions and food for mountain troops.

Occasionally the red eyed drivers, with tents strapped around their shoulders to keep out the bitter wind, would lighten their animals' loads by packing part on their own backs as the horses slipped on the ice.

Weary Lines Push On.

Even in darkness, these weary lines pushed onward.

Here and there were grim reminders of the cost—spots where horses had slipped over the brink or had been hit by shell fragments.

One tractor with a large flat wagon could have carried as much as a whole train of such beasts.

Despite such terrific handicaps, the Greek infantry never has given up harassing the Italians, never has allowed them a chance to dig in and construct new fortifications.

One grimy infantryman, trudging up the mountain in the snow, said he had been fighting on this front almost three weeks and in some places had found it so rough that he had to use his bayoneted rifle as a walking stick to advance up the craggy slopes.

Not Accustomed to Cold.

The Greeks admit they are not accustomed to the terrific snow and cold being encountered here, but there has been no apparent slackening of their morale.

The colonel of one regiment walked into a first aid station with a four day old wound over one eye. He refused to consider the doctor's order that he go back to a hospital, but got an emergency dressing and left on foot to rejoin his troops.

While the infantry presses on, the Greek artillery is keeping up a steady fire on the Italian positions.

GEN. DRUM URGES STRONG ANTIAIR DEFENSE IN U. S.

New York, Dec. 16 [Special].—Lieut. Gen. Hugh A. Drum, commander of the 1st army, tonight emphasized the importance of antiaircraft artillery in urging a speedup in defense preparations.

Speaking at a dinner for the 207th coast artillery, formerly the 7th regiment, New York National Guard, Gen. Drum said one out of every seven German planes brought down in England was the victim of antiaircraft fire.

Captions indicate important developments in the warfare yesterday, with the British invasion of Libya.

KING TOURS BOMB RUINS IN BRISTOL; HEARS SURVIVORS

BRISTOL, England, Dec. 16 (AP).—King George VI. drove thru crowds of cheering townspeople today on a tour of several miles of destruction inflicted on the city by German bombers.

The king stood on a heap of blackened ruins which once had been the home of Mrs. Beatrice Herbert while she told him how she and her baby and three other daughters were buried under tons of rubble in a recent air raid.

"I thought none of us would ever come out alive, your majesty," the woman said. "It seemed days rather than hours before we were dug out."

"You are a very brave woman," the king told her.

In one area the king saw how nearly every building for a quarter of a mile had been reduced to twisted girders and a few scarred walls.

ITALIANS LAUNCH DRIVE TO PEP UP MORALE IN WAR

ROME, Dec. 16 (AP).—An intensive campaign to reinforce morale in industrial north Italy began today as the high command announced bitter fighting in Albania and Libya against Greek and British attacks.

The Italian people, told officially only yesterday of the fall of the Egyptian town of Sidi Barrani [which the British captured last Wednesday] and retreat of the Italians into Libya, were declared in high Fascist circles to be "unshakably decided to face any events."

William J. Donovan Visits London on Secret Mission

LONDON, Dec. 16 (AP).—Col. William J. Donovan, former assistant United States attorney general, arrived here today from Lisbon, Portugal, but kept his mission a closely guarded secret. "I can't say anything about why I am here," Donovan declared, "but please don't make me either mysterious or important."

GREEKS CAPTURE NEW HEIGHT ON ROAD TO VALONA

Italian General Slain as His Troops Flee.

ATHENS, Greece, Dec. 16 (AP).—Smashing new advances on both ends of the Albanian battlefront were reported tonight by Greeks battling retreating Italians in near arctic conditions.

An Italian general and a colonel were killed, military dispatches from the southern front said, when Greek forces driving toward Valona, one of the three remaining ports held by the Italians, stormed and captured a bitterly contested height.

"These two officers," a dispatch said, "with revolvers in hand, induced their men to defend the position. However, both officers were hit in the breast and died. That was the sign for a wholesale Italian retreat and abandonment of the height."

Report Many Italians Slain.

The Greeks said the fleeing Fascists left many dead, including other senior officers.

A government spokesman announced the capture of 200 prisoners and one senior officer when the Italians were driven from a position in the Dvinos river valley, and said the Italians suffered heavy losses in that sector. He said counterattacks by "choice Italian troops" have failed in the southern sector.

Battling thru snow three to four feet deep, tough Greek mountaineers thrusting toward Elbasan from Pogradetz, on the northern front, were said to have battered down massed Italian reinforcements to win important new heights and large numbers of prisoners.

[The Italian high command reported Greek attacks were repulsed all along the Albanian front, with losses heavy on both sides.]

New Victories Expected.

An Associated Press correspondent with the Greek army said reports to the headquarters where he is located pointed to imminent Greek successes possibly surpassing those registered with the capture of Koritza and Argyrokastron, main bases of the reversed Italian invasion.

His dispatch said that the steady pounding of Valona by Greek and British planes had ruined the regular docks and that the Italians now were having to disembark reinforcements in small boats from transports anchored two miles off shore. Greeks said not a single piece of Italian fighting equipment was known to have entered Albania in recent days.

P. G. Wodehouse, Author, in Nazi Internment Camp

New York, Dec. 16 (AP).—P. G. Wodehouse, 60 years old, British humorist and writer, is "in an internment camp in Silesia," according to a letter received here today from his daughter, Mrs. Leonora Cazelet of Tonbridge, Kent, England. Wodehouse was captured by the advancing German forces last June near his villa at le Touquet, France. Mrs. Cazelet wrote Guy Bolton, a Wodehouse collaborator, that she was trying to ascertain the exact location of the southeast German camp in an effort to send Wodehouse Christmas parcels.

BRITISH RAIDERS' BOMBS DAMAGE BERLIN SUBWAY

Strike at Nazi Capital in Two Attacks.

BULLETIN.

LONDON, Dec. 17, Tuesday (AP).—The royal air force during the night heavily bombed the German industrial town of Mannheim and "many important targets were left in flames," it was reported authoritatively today.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Dec. 16.—American correspondents who wanted to cable descriptions of last night's two British air raids over Berlin and the effects of the British bombs were told emphatically, "You may send only what appeared in the German official statement."

For the first time since the air war started the Germans admit that one subway line and another transportation line which is partly elevated and partly underground were hit. Squads of workers were working overtime today repairing the damage.

Tonight the subway and elevated services were operating according to schedule. In Berlin two civilians were killed in the raids, while in the whole of Germany four were killed.

Two Separate Attacks.

LONDON, Dec. 16 (AP).—British bombers attacking in two waves six hours apart heavily pounded important targets in Berlin while fellow raiders poured high explosives on three other reich war centers and two "enemy" merchantmen off the French coast, it was reported today.

It was reported that British bombers dropped explosives on "Berlin factories and railway stations and started a big fire."

In Britain, German raiders concentrated their overnight assault on Sheffield, English steel center, for the second time in less than a week, but the number of dead was said to be fewer than expected from an attack of such proportions.

Seek Alternate Targets.

Some raiders had to seek alternate targets, but the second wave of attackers, roaring over at 3 a. m. today, had clear visibility.

The R. A. F. missiles hit railroad junctions, freight yards, a power station, and a railway siding, the air ministry said, with one salvo of bombs in the center of a junction starting a fire which was "still increasing" as the bombers left.

Other forces of the R. A. F. bombed Frankfurt-on-the-Main, important inland port, the Kiel shipyards, and the port of Bremen.

The air ministry said enemy raids during the night were on a small scale, altho some bombs were dropped in the London area, causing a small number of casualties. In some other districts shops and houses were damaged, it was said.

DEBTS OF LAST WAR DUE U. S. AGAIN, BUT ONLY HUNGARY PAYS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16 (AP).—The world war debts came due again today, but only Hungary paid, and she did not pay in full. For the first time, Finland was absent from the pay window, availing herself of a special act of congress authorizing her to skip the payment in view of her heavy war losses.

Great Britain not only failed to pay the $127,670,765 principal and interest installment due today, but asked for more money.

Hungary, which has made a practice in recent years of paying only a part of the installment due, transmitted $9,828 of the $52,770 due today. Only one other country currently is paying. Greece makes token remittances, but her bill does not come due until Jan. 1.

Altogether, $186,834,588 was due today from 13 nations. The amounts due on this semiannual payment date and the total debts of the countries follow:

Belgium, $4,642,453 due today and $461,781,161 owed altogether; Czechoslovakia, $1,682,812 and $165,815,132; Estonia, $468,850 and $21,612,594; Finland, $235,398 and $8,126,622; France, $41,569,744 and $4,220,036,473; Britain, $127,670,765 and $5,651,792,208; Hungary, $52,770 [$9,828 paid] and $2,436,670; Italy, $3,387,030 and $2,026,901,552; Latvia, $194,883 and $8,912,019; Lithuania, $121,466 and $7,980,148; Poland, $5,698,039 and $270,464,503; Rumania, $956,309 and $65,828,752, and Yugoslavia, $154,062 and $61,865,093.

MAYOR ACCEPTS GREEK RELIEF DRIVE HONOR

Mayor Kelly has accepted the honorary chairmanship of the Greek war relief drive in Illinois, John L. Manta, chairman of the Illinois group, announced yesterday.

The national group, of which Harold S. Vanderbilt is honorary chairman, seeks to raise 10 million dollars for civilian relief of war stricken Greeks. The national drive, however, will be launched officially by a series of events planned by the Chicago and Illinois committees.

The first of these is a March of Freedom thru Chicago's loop tomorrow, starting at Chicago and Michigan avenues at 10 a. m. and proceeding down Michigan to Jackson street, where it will turn into the loop district. The second event will be a mass meeting at 2 p. m. Sunday in the Coliseum.

Bomb Kills Albanian Who Presented Crown to Italy

ROME, Dec. 16 (AP).—The Albanian news agency reported tonight from Tirana that Xhafer Ypi, 60 years old, Albanian minister of justice and chief of the provisional government that turned over Albania to Italy in April, 1939, had been killed by an aerial bomb. He came to Rome to present the crown of Albania to Italy's king.

ENGLISH CONFESS MUSSOLINI STILL HAS STRONG NAVY

But Charge Fleet 'Keeps Out of Corners.'

LONDON, Dec. 16 (AP).—British naval circles, commenting on Saturday night's air raid on Italian warships at Naples, acknowledged tonight that the Italian fleet "remains a not inconsiderable force" capable of doing great damage if properly handled.

This frank admission of an enemy's sea strength was made as the air ministry and admiralty claimed at least 45 "casualties" inflicted on the Italian fleet in attacks up to, but not including, the Naples foray.

Lists Italian "Casualties."

In the last raid, an air force communique issued at Cairo said the British airmen had scored direct hits on a concentration of cruisers and destroyers with resultant "large explosions." Two battleships also were attacked the communique said, but no direct hits on them were claimed.

The joint air ministry-admiralty list of Italian "casualties" prior to the Naples raid was: Four battleships damaged; one cruiser sunk, four damaged; 10 destroyers sunk, four damaged; and 24 submarines sunk, others probably damaged.

Eager to Bring Foe in Action.

This leaves, the British say, a "not inconsiderable" and presumably undamaged fleet as follows: Two battleships, 16 cruisers, 119 destroyers, and 80 submarines.

Altho the British respect the strength of this fleet, they are eager to bring it into action, naval circles added. They said the Italians "have proved experts at keeping out of corners."

ITALIAN VESSEL NEAR JAMAICA CALLS FOR HELP

Second Freighter Bombed Off Irish Coast.

New York, Dec. 16 (AP).—Mackay radio said the 5,416 ton Italian freighter Istria called for "urgent assistance" late today.

Mackay reported 15 minutes later, at 4:30 p. m., Chicago time, that it still was in contact with the Istria which gave its position as between Jamaica and Cuba. No details of the cause of distress were immediately available.

The Istria is owned by the Italian Line and traded between Italy, United States ports, and the West Indies before the war.

The distress message was the first indication that the Istria had left the Mediterranean altho shipping circles here had heard that it was scheduled to sail from Portugal to Cuba.

Italian Line officials said they had received no information from Italy on recent movements of their vessels and that "there must be a mistake some place."

Bombed Off Ireland.

The 2,450 ton Canadian freighter Bic Island wirelessed at 5:23 a. m. [Chicago time] today that it was "being bombed by enemy aircraft" off the coast of Ireland, "340 miles west by south of Tory Island."

The freighter originally was the American Munson Line Manardan. In 1934 it came into Italian ownership and was renamed the Capo Noli. Last June 10, when Italy entered the war, the Capo Noli's crew, attempting to scuttle the vessel, ran it ashore near Bic Island in the St. Lawrence.

The vessel was seized by Canada, refloated and renamed. It last was reported out of Montreal for Liverpool about Oct. 2.

Wreckage in South Pacific.

AUCKLAND, New Zealand, Dec. 16 (AP).—Wreckage believed to be that of the small steamer Holmwood has been found on the shore of Chatham island, 350 miles east of New Zealand, with indications that the ship was shelled, Prime Minister Peter Fraser announced today. The Holmwood was long overdue on a voyage from the Chatham islands.

More Than One Raider?

HONOLULU, T. H., Dec. 16 (AP).—A belief that "three or four" German surface raiders are operating in the south Pacific was expressed today by a member of the crew of the City of Rayville, American steamship sunk off Australia, apparently by a mine.

Twenty-one survivors, led by Capt. Arthur Cronin, arrived on the steamship Aorangi en route from Australia to New York. Capt. Cronin declined to discuss the sinking. The one crew member who would express an opinion said:

"One German raider could not do the damage the British credit the raider with. I believe there were three or four."

250,000 Tons for Nazi.

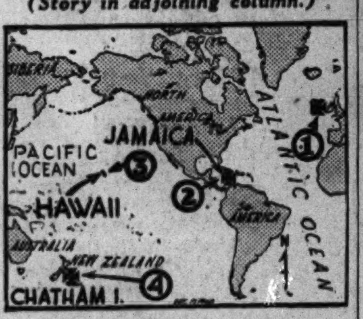
BERLIN, Dec. 16 (AP).—The high command announced in a special communique today that Lieutenant-Commander Otto Kretschmer had become the first German submarine commander to sink more than 250,000 tons of shipping the communique said. "Included in this total tonnage are three auxiliary cruisers and the British destroyer Daring." [The British admiralty announced the loss of the 1,375 ton Daring with 157 men last Feb. 19.]

Sandbags Protect Shaft Given Scots by Americans

LONDON, Dec. 16.—The monument erected in Edinburgh to the memory of the men killed in the world war, which was presented to Scotland by Americans of Scottish ancestry, has been given a protection of sandbags against air raids.

Widespread Sea War

(Story in adjoining column.)



A former Italian freighter seized by Canada reported it was being bombed by enemy aircraft off the coast of Ireland (1) yesterday. An Italian freighter called for "urgent assistance" near Kingston, Jamaica (2). Sailors from torpedoed American freighter arrived in Honolulu (3) and wreckage believed to be shore of Chatham Island (4).

CHINA TO SEEK END OF TREATY RIGHTS FOR U. S.

CHUNGKING, China, Dec. 16 (AP).—Foreign Minister Wang Chung Hui announced today China would seek abolition of the treaties granting Britain and the United States extraterritorial rights in China. He said his government would take such action after the Chinese-Japanese war only thru legal means, and declared it would refrain from antiforeign agitations.

Speaking at a meeting of government leaders, he cited numerous Anglo-American references of unwillingness to negotiate for elimination of what he called the "unequal" treaties.

He described the treaty elimination as one of China's war aims. Others, he said, were "maintenance of her racial existence and national independence," and preservation of international justice.

HOFFMAN RAPS HILLMAN STAND ON FORD ORDERS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16 (AP).—Sidney Hillman, labor's representative on the National Defense commission, was accused by Representative Clare E. Hoffman [R., Mich.] today of considering it "more important that the demand of labor be met than it is that we have national defense."

"Mr. Hillman's patriotism is subject to the qualification that his ideas of what industry should do in connection with its relations with labor must first be followed," Hoffman told the house.

FRANCE TO CARE FOR ITS SOLDIERS HELD IN GERMANY

Vichy Envoy Relieves U.S. Embassy of Task.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Georges Scapini.

BERLIN, Dec. 16.—Georges Scapini, leader of the French world war veterans and special ambassador to Germany, today took over the care of French prisoners of war from the American embassy. British war prisoners are under the protection of the American government.

Scapini starts his new job at a critical time, since the cabinet crisis in France temporarily complicates relations between Germany and the Vichy government.

He hopes to be received by Adolf Hitler in the near future. Scapini is eager to induce the Germans to allow part of the French war prisoners to return home to their families and work in France.

At Work in Berlin.

Nowadays you can see many French prisoners in Berlin working on building projects or unloading huge garbage cans into special garbage trucks.

The street picture in the capital has changed considerably in recent months. Toward evening, when the workers are leaving their jobs, you can see groups of foreign looking men gesticulating with great eagerness while others plod on quietly, looking neither to the right nor left. They are either Italians who have come to Germany to work, or Frenchmen, Dutchmen, Danes, or Poles laboring in German plants.

It is revealed that in the 12 months ending Sept. 30 a total of 340,000 Polish workers were transported to Germany in addition to the Polish war prisoners also working here. The Polish workers must wear a special badge with a yellow "P" on it, showing that they are Poles.

Seek Way to Exchange Parcels.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 16.—The British and German governments are negotiating thru the Red Cross for a route between the two countries to speed up despatch of food and comforts for war prisoners, it was disclosed today.

Sir Philip Chetwode, executive chairman for the British Red Cross, declared that tens of thousands of parcels for British prisoners had been held up in Spain and France because of transportation difficulties. It was revealed that the British government has made suggestions which brought counter proposals from Germany.

Shell Explodes

Enrico Dinerco pointing to hole ripped in New York City incinerator by explosion of old 75 mm. shell.

New York, Dec. 16 [Special].—Explosion of a 75 millimeter shell, probably of world war origin, in a furnace at a city incinerator plant, injured three employés, one seriously, today.

The shell had been tossed into the furnace as part of a three day garbage collection. About 20 men were working on a 30 foot wall, bordering a series of furnaces at the plant when the blast occurred.

BRITAIN TAKES ⅓ SLICE IN ITS MEAT RATIONS

Hopes to Have Enough for Christmas, However.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 16.—The British tightened their belts another notch today as new meat rations became effective. Supplies for restaurants were cut one-third.

One restaurant owner said the usual 6 ounce portion served to diners has been reduced to 4 ounces. "But we are giving an extra potato to make up the difference," he declared.

Allocations to restaurants are based on a percentage of the normal total consumption. The new cut today makes the allowances 40 per cent of the prewar consumption. Restaurants are permitted to pass the reduction on to the customer in any way they choose.

Seek Christmas Supplies.

An announcement by the ministry of food said every effort is being made to insure an ample supply of meat for Christmas. Truck drivers and railroad workers, it said, will help dock workers in overcoming the "difficulties resulting from the total warfare."

Despite the food ministry's efforts, housewives already have been warned by newspapers not to expect the usual Christmas joints to which they are accustomed. Pork, another seasonal dish in peacetime, also is becoming a rarity.

Moderate supplies of poultry and geese are available, but turkeys are scarce, owing to the stoppage of supplies from the continent. Poultry prices, altho controled, are beyond the purse of the poorer people, they complain. Wild rabbits are becoming a standby at the controled prices of 9 and 11 pence a pound [about 15 and 18 cents].

Fix Price of Apples.

The food ministry fixed prices for apples today. Prices for the two main groups range from a shilling to a shilling and two pence [from 20 cents to 23 cents] a pound, with cooking apples selling from 6 to 7 pence [from 10 to 12 cents].

The shortage of domestic coal is acute in London, Surrey, Sussex, and other parts of south England and is likely to spread, the Daily Telegraph said.

Reserves accumulated by merchants for the cold weather yet to come already have been depleted or exhausted.

Army Air Cadets Learning Hand, Foot Co-ordination

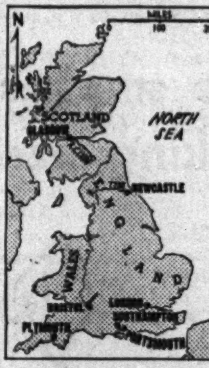
Oxnard, Cal., Dec. 16 [Special].—Army air corps cadets begin their careers at the training center here by learning coördination of hands and feet on airplane controls. A device built by H. G. Nicholson, an instructor, reproduces the cockpit of a training plane. Stick and foot controls first are locked together, forcing the cadet to coördinate hand and foot movements. Then the lock is removed and the student tries to operate the controls as tho in the air. Mistakes cause a bell to ring until the controls are brought into proper relation.

British Getting Ample Food Cargoes, Says Norse Captain

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Dec. 16.—The German counter-blockade of England is more destructive than during the world war, but so far the British have sufficient food and their morale is good.

This estimate was voiced here today by a Norwegian ship captain, just arrived in New York after two and a half months in England.



Map shows ports where sea captain says reports of damage have been exaggerated.

The captain's vessel was sunk in a collision during a night blackout when two convoys, going in opposite directions, filtered into each other off the English coast. He and his crew had only 20 minutes to escape. The weather-beaten skipper is in New York to take command of another ship.

At his urgent request, the Norwegian master's name is not divulged. His family is living in Norway and he fears reprisals if the Germans find he is piloting cargo ships to and from British ports.

'Leaks' Are Guarded Against.

Permission for the interview was granted by the Norwegian Shipping and Trade commission, an official of which sat at the captain's elbow to see that no specific information was revealed which might aid German submarines or bombing planes.

The captain was asked about the condition of harbors around the isles in the light of reports that wreckage has made navigation so hazardous that only shallow draft vessels are being used.

"I saw only small freighters and tankers going in and out of the port of London," he replied, "but I don't think it was because of wreckage. I believe the British decided it was less risky to split up cargo in smaller ships when the port is so close to German air bases.

"On the other hand, large vessels are going in and out of the harbor at Newcastle on the Tyne river in the north of England and into Glasgow on the Clyde in Scotland, where I have been during recent weeks."

Uninformed on Other Ports.

He recalled it was off Newcastle that the Oslofjord, 18,673 ton pride of the Norwegian merchant marine, went to the bottom after striking a mine last week. The Norwegian skipper had not visited Southampton, Bristol or Portsmouth.

Running down the Clyde river in Scotland, the captain noticed the shipbuilding ways were crammed with new cargo ships and tankers in all stages of construction. So far as he could tell, there had been no damage from aerial bombs.

Once after the Germans reported wreaking tremendous damage in the air raid on Newcastle, the captain said he took a cab around and found the port operating as usual. The bomb craters were on farmlands lying between Newcastle and South Shields, he said.

PORTLAND, ORE., SCHOOLS SHUT AS FLU SPREADS

Absences Jump Almost 4,000 Over Week-End.

Portland, Ore., Dec. 16 (AP).—Influenza closed Portland schools today as absences jumped almost 4,000.

Supt. Ralph E. Dugdale said more than 25 per cent of the city's pupils were absent. The absentee list increased from 7,419 Friday to 11,134 today.

The epidemic showed few signs of increasing in other parts of Oregon.

Epidemic Near Army Camp.

Alexandria, La., Dec. 16 (AP).—Health officials today said that about 7,800 persons, 15 per cent of the population of Alexandria, were sick with colds or influenza, but no flu cases were reported at nearby Camp Beauregard where 12,000 soldiers are in training.

The city's normal population is about 30,000 but National Guard officials said this number has been swollen by out of town workers engaged on camp building projects.

Reports Colds Are Mild.

Dr. R. B. Wallace, city health officer who reported 15 per cent of the city's population was sick or "off duty" as the result of colds and influenza, said the latter disease was in a mild form and had not resulted in any pneumonia complications.

Col. H. C. Michie, Camp Beauregard surgeon, said 45 per cent of the 316 soldiers on the sick list there were suffering from "upper respiratory infections," but not ill enough to be considered as having influenza.

LLOYD GEORGE TO PONDER OFFER OF POST IN U. S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 16.—David Lloyd George returned to his country home at Criccieth today after a long talk with Prime Minister Churchill. It is understood the world war prime minister was offered the ambassadorship to Washington, D. C., but because, as he remarked, he was approaching 78 years old, he wanted time to think it over. Lloyd George's friends declared that it was unlikely he would accept, in view of the strain involved in the key post.

Whether Lloyd George was offered a ministry in the government as an alternative was not disclosed. It is known that he was invited indirectly to join the cabinet last May but refused to serve in the same government as the late former prime minister, Neville Chamberlain, on the grounds that he was responsible for getting the country into its present predicament.

Bitter opposition is developing in Labor circles towards the suggestion that Lloyd George go to Washington. The Laborite Daily Herald in an editorial objected on account of his age, and because of the suspicion that he "belongs to the minority which believes at some later stage a round table talk with Hitler—a bargain with Naziism—is possible." Among the others suggested for the ambassadorship is the duke of Windsor, but from The Tribune correspondent's personal knowledge it can be said that this has also had a cold reception in some quarters here.

Consul's Wife Dies

MRS. LEWIS BERNAYS.

Mrs. Lewis Bernays, wife of the British consul general here, died yesterday in Billings Memorial hospital at the University of Chicago. She had gone to the hospital two weeks ago for an operation.

Before her marriage in 1915 to Mr. Bernays, who was then vice consul, Mrs. Bernays was Alida Winona McDermid. She was the daughter of the late Dr. Andrew McDermid of the Postgraduates and the Physicians and Surgeons' hospitals. Mrs. Bernays was 49 years old. She leaves her husband, three sons, Robert, Richard, and Peter, and her mother, Mrs. Emma L. McDermid.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p. m. tomorrow at the Fourth Presbyterian church. The burial will be in Oak Woods cemetery.

GEN. ABRAHAM LEAVES TO TAKE FT. CUSTER POST

Brig. Gen. Clyde R. Abraham, in command at Fort Sheridan since Nov. 13, left yesterday for Fort Custer, Mich., where he will be assistant to the commanding officer, Maj. Gen. Joseph M. Cummins of the 5th infantry division. Col. John L. Homer, in charge of the 61st coast artillery regiment at Fort Sheridan, assumed temporary command of the post. About 400 officers and their wives honored Gen. Abraham and Mrs. Abraham Sunday at a combined reception and farewell party in the Officers' club at Fort Sheridan. The reception had been deferred because of the press of business at the army post.

TELL OF JOBS CUT TO FIT FRIENDS OF NEW YORK MAYOR

Qualifications Changed, Hearing Discloses.

New York, Dec. 16 [Special].—How job qualifications were tailored to fit friends of Mayor Fiorello La Guardia was disclosed today before the city council committee investigating the municipal civil service commission.

Testimony showed that findings of experienced examiners were overruled so that friends of the mayor might qualify for $2,400 a year jobs as assistant directors of the city information center. These jobs, an examiner for the civil service commission testified, could be filled adequately by third grade clerks, who draw $840 a year.

Fails in Examination; Hired.

The first case was that of Mildred Marshall, provisional appointee at the center. She testified she lost a job with the welfare department after failing to pass a civil service examination.

Mayor La Guardia, whom she had known socially "since I was an infant," then gave her a letter of introduction to the head of the information center and she was put to work immediately.

Two veteran examiners subsequently testified that Miss Marshall was not qualified for the post, but Paul Kern, civil service commissioner, refused to remove her.

Modeling as a Requirement.

Examiner John J. Flannelly testified that he had proposed as requirements for an assistant director of the center a college degree and three years of experience relating to commerce. He testified that the commission added the proviso that three years' experience in dramatic, theatrical, or radio work or as a receptionist or a model would be acceptable.

Emil K. Ellis, counsel to the investigating committee, charged that this was inserted to permit retention of Miss Grace Roberts, who had been a model, and Miss Mary Power, an actress.

Miss Roberts said she received her provisional appointment after seeing the mayor in December, 1939. She testified that her husband had been associated with the mayor in the world war flying corps.

Mayor La Guardia has refused to honor a subpena to testify at the hearings, it was disclosed.

NEW ARMY CAMP SUPERVISOR ACTS TO SOLVE DELAYS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16 (AP).—The new director of the army's $1,137,000,000 construction program acted today to speed lagging work on camps, cantonments, and other defense projects.

Lieut. Col. Somervell.

Lieut. Col. Brehon B. Somervell, engineer officer placed in charge of construction only 72 hours ago, announced decentralization of the army's share of the vast building program in the interests of speed and efficiency.

Somervell also took steps to reorganize the harassed national headquarters, ordering 11 major administrative sections consolidated into five, effective today. To deal with labor difficulties which Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson reported had caused delay in completing 25 camps, Somervell said an official "of wide experience" will be named in a few days.

Avoiding forecasts on future progress of camp construction, the new director said that adverse weather will be a handicap for months. He said it will take "every bit of experience, drive and energy we have" to complete camps and other facilities on schedule, with the army's expansion goal of 1,400,000 men by next June.

PRESIDENT BACK; AIDS TAKE STEPS TO SPUR DEFENSE

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16.—As President Roosevelt returned to the White House after a two weeks' fishing cruise and defense inspection in the Caribbean sea, the administration moved today to bolster the limping national defense program on two fronts.

1. The war department placed a $69,722,625 order with the Allison Engineering company, a division of General Motors corporation at Indianapolis, Ind., for liquid cooled aircraft engines.

2. William S. Knudsen, member of the defense advisory commission, dispatched letters to machine tool manufacturers and their employés declaring that delivery must be speeded up because of the "terrible urgency" of the defense situation.

Award of the engine contract was made to speed up the delivery of airplane engines. At present the shortage of engines has bogged the airplane production program. The armament drive is running short about 300 engines a month. Knudsen has estimated that the airplane production program is 30 per cent behind schedule.

The number of engines involved in the contract was not made public.

In his letter appealing for a speeding up of tool production, Knudsen suggested that manufacturers post his letter where it could be seen by workmen in order that they might be inspired to greater efforts. He praised the industry for a "remarkable achievement" in what has been done so far, but asserted that the effort was not sufficient and must be improved because of the vital need of machine tools to make arms and other defense material.

Mr. Roosevelt spent the first hours of his return in conferences with Secretary of State Cordell Hull and Undersecretary Sumner Welles. They talked over the world situation.

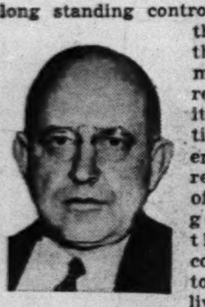
SUPREME COURT UPSETS STATES' POWER CONTROL

Gives Rule Over Dams to U. S. Commission.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]



Justice S. F. Reed.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16.—The long standing controversey between the states and the Roosevelt administration with respect to authority over the nation's water power resources was resolved in favor of the federal government by the Supreme court today. A 6 to 2 decision delivered by Justice Stanley F. Reed held that the constitutional power of the United States over its waters is not limited to control for navigation.

Forty-one states, intervening as friends of the court, opposed the federal government in its effort to prevent construction of a hydro-electric power dam on the New river in Virginia without a license from the Federal Power commission. The Supreme court's decision will force the Appalachian Electric Power company, which recently completed and began operation of the $12,000,000 dam, to obtain a license from the commission.

Forty-one States Protest.

The 41 intervening states asserted "the full and complete right to provide if they choose for private development of their water power resources to secure for themselves the benefit of the resulting tax revenues."

Altho not involved in the case decided today, the New Deal's flood control act of 1938 resulted in the first violent controversy between the states and the administration with respect to the control of water power resources. This measure, authorizing a 376 million dollar nation-wide flood control program, was amended at the request of President Roosevelt to vest in the federal government permanent title to lands, easements and rights of way for all the authorized projects.

Congress Rejects Proposal.

This measure was regarded as an effort by the administration to establish the basis upon which to carry out Mr. Roosevelt's long projected plan to TVA-ize the whole country. Congress refused to act on the New Deal bill to authorize six additional projects similar to the half billion dollar TVA experiment in socialism.

The government sought to enjoin construction of the New river dam without a license under the rivers and harbors act of 1899, which makes it unlawful to construct a dam in any navigable stream without the consent of congress, and under the federal water power act of 1920, which vested in the Federal Power commission authority to license dams in navigable streams.

Dismissed in Lower Courts.

The bill for injunction was dismissed by a federal District court and the dismissal was upheld by the fourth United States Circuit Court of Appeals, both courts finding that the New river is not a navigable stream and holding that the power commission has no authority to regulate dams in nonnavigable streams.

But the Supreme court majority held that the New river is available for navigability with "reasonable improvements." Justice Reed's opinion did not pass upon the government's contention that the commission has authority to license and regulate dams in nonnavigable streams, but it upheld the broad scope of federal authority claimed by the administration.

"In our view, it cannot properly be said that the constitutional power of the United States over its waters is limited to control for navigation," the opinion said. "In truth, the authority of the United States is the regulation of commerce on its waters. Navigability, in the sense just stated, is but a part of this whole. Flood protection, watershed development, recovery of the cost of improvements thru utilization of power, are likewise parts of commerce control."

Justices Harlan F. Stone, Frank Murphy, Hugo L. Black, Felix Frankfurter, and William O. Douglas concurred in the Reed opinion. Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes took no part in the consideration of the case. Justice James Clark McReynolds concurred in a dissenting opinion by Justice Owen J. Roberts blasting the majority finding that the New river is navigable.

His wife, in the hospital, is not seriously injured.

$25 OUT STATE AUTO TITLE FEE IS HELD INVALID

Illinois Court Calls It a Trade Barrier.

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 16 (AP). — The Illinois Supreme court today held unconstitutional the state law requiring payment of a $25 title investigation fee on new automobiles purchased outside of the state.

In holding the act of the 1939 legislature invalid the high court sustained an earlier ruling by the Sangamon county Circuit court.

The ruling resulted from a suit brought by Charles Clements of this city who refused to pay the title investigation levy on a car which he purchased in Hammond, Ind. Only the title investigation fee clause of the uniform motor vehicle antitheft law, of which it was a part, was declared void.

An Unwarranted Burden.

The Supreme court held that the provision of the act voided placed an unwarranted burden upon interstate commerce. The court did not consider other objections to the law contained in Clements' complaint.

The court declined to enjoin the state from spending $71,500,000 in state highway funds in its ruling on an injunction appeal by Representative Arnold Lund [R., Riverside].

The high court, however, directed the Sangamon county Circuit court to hear a portion of the legislator's case relating to the expenditure of $1,000,000 for traffic surveys and reporting of motor vehicle accidents.

The lower court had refused to hear any portion of the suit.

Lund's suit had attacked the general assembly's practice of making lump sum appropriations for highway purposes. The high court held, however, that with relation of items in the complaint affecting the expenditure of $70,500,000, the general assembly could not know at the time of making its appropriation even approximately the amount required for each of the various purposes.

As to the section of the suit remanded to the Circuit court for hearing, the tribunal said:

"It is clear from mere reading of that section that objects for which this appropriation is made do not represent integral parts of a single purpose. There is no necessary relation between making traffic surveys and investigating and reporting motor vehicle accidents, and as to that item of the complaint the Circuit court erred in refusing permission to file the complaint."

LUND TO SEE GREEN.

State Representative Arnold L. Lund said last night that he will confer with Governor-Elect Dwight H. Green about further steps to be taken in his fight against alleged "lump sum" appropriations by the 1939 legislature.

CANADIAN FINANCE CHIEF SAYS STATE HAS A CLAIM ON INCOMES

TORONTO, Ont., Dec. 16 (AP).—Finance Minister James Ilsley asserted in a speech today no one could deny the seriousness of the situation for the British empire in the war with Germany, but that it "can and shall survive this most trying of ordeals." He spoke before the Canadian club in Toronto. His speech primarily was about the war savings campaign and the responsibilities it involved for all Canadians.

"We should regard our incomes as received in trust," he said. "We may legitimately use them for meeting our needs and those of our families, but we should not regard them as our own to spend as we choose. The nation has a claim upon them which ranks ahead of our personal claims for nonessential purposes. The liberty we enjoy in the spending of our income increases our responsibility for their proper disposition."

The minister said the government would need to borrow next year a sum "likely to be much closer to $1,000,000,000 than $500,000,000."

HIGH COURT WILL HEAR MITCHELL 'JIM CROW' PLEA

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16 (AP).—The Supreme court today agreed to review a challenge by Representative Arthur W. Mitchell, the only Negro member of congress, of the constitutionality of "Jim Crow" railway cars in the south.

Mitchell [D., Ill.] asserted that railroads must furnish accommodations to members of his race equal to those provided white persons traveling in interstate commerce. His petition was dismissed by the Northern Illinois Federal District court. Granting of a Supreme court review means that argument will be heard in a few weeks, to be followed by a final decision.

Mitchell's petition said that while traveling from Chicago to Hot Springs, Ark., in 1937, on a first class ticket, he was "forcibly ejected" from a Pullman car in Arkansas and compelled to finish the journey in a "Jim Crow" car.

Referring to claims by the Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific Railway company that it had acted under provisions of the Arkansas separate car law, Mitchell said the constitution gave congress exclusive jurisdiction over interstate commerce and the state statute did not apply to his case.

PETRILLO MAKES AGREEMENT ON SOLDIERS' MUSIC

New York, Dec. 16 [Special].—James C. Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians, announced tonight that he has reached an agreement with representatives of the three major broadcasting chains by which the music of military training camp bands now can be broadcast.

Petrillo declared that Mutual Broadcasting company, the Columbia Broadcasting system, and the National Broadcasting company had agreed not to dispense with the services of their studio musicians as a result of any camp pickup programs.

"Of course, as I explained last Saturday, we want the camp bands on the air," Petrillo asserted, "but we wanted first to see what was going to happen to our men in the studios."

JAN. 20 SET FOR TRIAL OF 4 HELD IN SHOOTING OF TRIBUNE'S GUARD

Judge Julius H. Miner in Criminal court yesterday set Jan. 20 for the trial of four men accused of the holdup and shooting of Harry P. Walsh, chief of the Tribune guards, last July 19. Earlier the four were arraigned before Chief Justice James F. Fardy, and they pleaded not guilty.

One of the defendants, Peter Allegretti, 30 years old, who was arrested in California and was brought to Chicago last Thursday, has been identified as one of four men who held up the Hurley Machine company in Cicero last Aug. 2. Emmett Moynihan, assistant state's attorney, who will prosecute the case, said arrangements are being made to have witnesses of the Hurley robbery appear before the grand jury, and that an indictmnt charging Allegretti with participation in that affair probably will be voted by the end of the week.

The other three are Walter J. Smith, Tony Lullo, and Neal Rizzo, alias Ritz. All are charged with armed robbery and assault with intent to kill. Allegretti will be represented by Attorney W. W. Smith, Lullo by Attorney Charles A. Bellows, and the other two by the public defender.

KILLED FLAGGING A TRAIN.

Bellevue, Ia., Dec. 16 [Special].—William F. Paul, 66 years old, a creamery operator, was killed last night by a freight train. His automobile had skidded onto the tracks and he was running down the tracks waving his overcoat in an attempt to stop the train.

TABLE TENNIS PLAYERS TO AID GOOD FELLOWS

Funds for Baskets to Be Raised at Tourney.

BY PHILIP MAXWELL.

Bob Anderson.

The table tennis players of Illinois are going to join in the Good Fellow campaign. They will play Friday and Saturday for the E. L. Schnadig trophy, donated by the president of the Chicago Mail Order company. The tournament will be played on the company's tables at 511 South Paulina street. Players from Chicago, Morris, Danville, Peoria, Elgin, Aurora, and other cities will take part, and spectators and players will contribute to a fund for the purchase of Good Fellow baskets.

Among those entered in the tournament are Bob Anderson and Bill Holzrichter, members of the United States team which went to Japan this year.

Contestants may enter the tournament by telephoning to Wes Bishop or George Koehnke at Seeley 4000, extension 377. The deadline is tomorrow noon. The tournament will open at 6:30 p. m. Friday and will be resumed at 1 p. m. Saturday.

Basket Deliveries Sought.

There must be hundreds of persons who would be willing to deliver Good Fellow baskets, altho they do not feel they can contribute to the fund or buy a basket themselves. This service will be welcomed by THE TRIBUNE.

Baskets purchased by those who send money to the campaign will be ready for distribution Monday. A plan will be worked out by which those who wish to deliver baskets may aid in the campaign.

Those who wish to do so are asked to telephone Superior 0200, or to write a note to the Good Fellow bureau in THE TRIBUNE's public service office, 1 South Dearborn street. The note should contain the volunteer's name, telephone number, and should tell in which section of the city he lives. Many will be able to pick up their baskets en route home from work Monday.

Chorus Plans Completed.

Thirteen choral conductors of high school and junior college choruses met in Tribune Tower last night with Dr. Helen Howe, director of music in the Chicago public schools, and worked out final plans for the fifth annual high school Good Fellow choral sing. The sing will be presented at 3:45 p. m. Monday in the areaway between Tribune Tower and the W-G-N building.

The first 15 minutes of the sing will be broadcast on W-G-N. The names of the hundreds of boys and girls who will sing in this massed chorus will be listed in the Metropolitan sections of the next SUNDAY TRIBUNE.

4,200 BUY TICKETS TO G.O.P. VICTORY DINNER TONIGHT

Approximately 4,200 tickets have been sold for the Illinois Republican victory dinner to be held tonight in the Stevens hotel with an overflow in the Palmer house.

There are accomodations for only 3,300 at the Stevens, and the speeches will be carried to the diners at the Palmer House by loud speaker. It is possible also that Governor Elect Dwight H. Green and Senator Wayland Brooks, the principal guests, will go to the Palmer House to shake hands with their friends there.

Washington, D. C., reports yesterday were that Green had left there for a short visit to New York City, whence he will come to Chicago some time today. His time here, it was said, will be spent preparing tonight's speech.

The Republican state committee last night accepted the resignation of one of its members, Maj. A. K. Stiles of Sycamore, and elected Paul C. Rosenquist of Rockford to succeed him. Stiles was called into federal army service recently. Rosenquist was selected by the county chairmen of the six counties in the 12th congressional district.

ST. JOHN'S READY FOR ITS ANNUAL BOAR'S HEAD RITE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Delafield, Wis., Dec. 16.—Bringing in the boar's head, the Christmas ceremony that has been observed each year at St. John's Military academy here since 1905, will be repeated tomorrow night at the annual breaking-up banquet, always held the day before the students leave for the midwinter holidays.

The ceremony was borrowed from Queen's college, Oxford, where it has been an annual rite since before the days of Queen Elizabeth. It involves a procession of heralds, trumpeters, standard bearers, pages, men at arms, and cooks and scullions carrying a huge boar's head on a trencher.

The guest of honor will be John Cudahy of Milwaukee, former United States ambassador to Belgium. Guests from Chicago will include Richard Graham and Mrs. Graham, and Dr. and Mrs. Bertram Cushing.

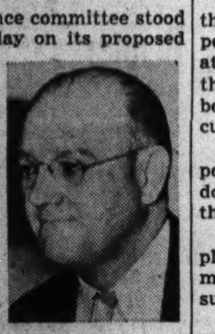
ALDERMEN DARE HINT OF STRIKE; PAY CUTS STAND

Budgeteers Hear Union Group Led by Boyle.



Michael J. Boyle.

The council finance committee stood its ground yesterday on its proposed 10 per cent pay cut for salaried union employés of the city. It did so in the face of a veiled strike threat from Michael J. Boyle, head of Electrical Workers' union, local 134, and vigorous protests from 50 union business agents who jammed the visitors' gallery of the committee room. The union protests were referred to a subcommittee.

Boyle, befitting his position as the electrical union czar who has twice thrown the city into darkness by calling strikes, did not sit in the crowded visitors' gallery. He sat with the aldermen at the committee table.

Urges Use of Prerogative.

After several union spokesmen had objected to the pay cut which the committee approved last week in an effort to reduce the 1941 operating budget, Boyle rose and spoke.

"I know what I would do if I were a union worker," he said to the committee. "I'd exercise my economic prerogative."

He did not enlarge on that statement. The aldermen looked at one another.

Ald. J. M. Arvey [24th], chairman of the committee, had opened the meeting by explaining the reason for the cut to the unionists. He said the committee had received a report from a special budget survey committee which found that city salaried union employés are better paid than union scale men working for private industry. The survey group was financed by the Civic Federation and Bureau of Public Efficiency and the Association of Commerce.

Objects to Paying More.

Arvey said the committee approved the flat 10 per cent cut, which is expected to save $344,000 in 1941, and at the same time recommended that the salary scale and the outside scale be thoroly reviewed in 1941 and accurate adjustments made.

"We intend to continue the city's policy of paying union scale, but we do not intend to pay more," he told the union leaders.

William Quirk, representing the plumbers' union, said: "I'd like to meet with you aldermen and that survey committee in the same room."

"We'll do that, too," replied Arvey. "I am convinced the survey committee went to work with no axes to grind. They came here with the highest motives. We rejected some of their recommendations but we'll have payless paydays in October unless the cut stands."

Refuses to Confer on Cuts.

"I'm not going to sit in with any outside agency," Boyle objected. "This civic organization would holler a damn-sight more than we are if we got the legislature to increase the taxes to give the city more money."

"I'm surprised you aldermen haven't resented this report as much as we have," Boyle continued. "It indicates we have had you mesmerized for 29 years since the annual salary plan was started."

Ald. Avery twice referred to the fact that city salaried union employés receive extra benefits of vacation with pay, sick leave and pensions and asked the union representatives how those benefits counted against outside scale. He received no answer.

Ald. Avery received word yesterday that the Illinois Supreme court had handed down two decisions on the 1937 city corporate budget. In one the court reversed a decision by County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, who had sustained objections to $2,092,672 of the budget. Judge Jarecki had ruled that the items "forfeitures and abatements" should have been included as a lump sum under "loss and cost of collection" for taxes.

Upholds Tax Objection.

In the second decision the Supreme court upheld the county judge's decision sustaining objections to $1,600,000 appropriated for cleaning streets and alleys on the grounds the appropriation was not properly itemized. The appropriation did not specify what part of the sum would be used to hire trucks and what part to buy new equipment.

Assistant Corporation Counsel Joseph Grossman estimated the city would lose $400,000 under the second decision. Ald. Arvey said the tax objection will reduce the surplus in the city funds for 1937 operations and "will mean that much less money to reduce unpaid bills."

ATTORNEYS HAVE ANNUAL FUN AT DRAFT'S EXPENSE

Skit Praises a Law That Pays the Lawyers.

The nation's first peacetime draft drew good-natured raillery in the Chicago Bar association's 1940 Christmas Spirits production, "Lawyer Get Your Gun," which was performed by some of the city's leading attorneys last night. The skit will be put on again tonight.

Two years from now is the time given for the scene, "Fort Torts," a drill room for lawyer conscripts on the roof of the Chicago Bar association. The play opens with a song by men in long underwear, wearing overseas caps, to the tune of "Stars and Stripes Forever."

"Hooray for the life that we love;
"As soldiers we meet here today;
"The Red, White, and Blue flies above,
"And we'll fight for old U. S. A.;
"Hooray for the draft law sublime,
"The one law all lawyers obey;
"Thru it we'll get practice, in time;
"And what is best—it meets our test—
"We'll get our pay!"

Plow Under Underwear.

Physical examinations begin under Dr. Bundesen. [His part, as well as those of other city officials, is taken by the lawyer actors.] A uniformed man enters with a pair of scissors and cuts holes in the underwear of every third draftee. This, it turns out, is being done under the first order issued by President Wallace. Roosevelt has resigned.

"The unions are complaining of over-production, so Henry's plowing under every third union suit," the sergeant explains.

Alderman James McDermott enters, followed by Col. J. M. Arvey, gaudily dressed and astride a hobby-horse. Arvey sings:

"Sometimes I've felt bound to find excuses
"For tactics that a politician uses,
"But the things I've learned from these abuses
"Make me the Napoleon of my time.
"I am a politician
"Who gave up high position;
"There's a place for one of my great talents,
"When the Nation's fate is in the balance.
"If guns and men are lacking
"While foemen are attacking
"I can put them all to rout,
"Like GOPs I'll count them out!"

A New Draft Movement.

Arvey makes the recruits count off by wards. At this point a loudspeaker bellows: "We want Roosevelt! We want Roosevelt! You want Roosevelt. I want Roosevelt. We all want Roosevelt!"

Arvey: "Boy, what loyalty! That sewer commissioner's been chanting that since the 1940 convention."

Bundesen: "What's the idea, Jim?"

McDermott: "The sewer commissioner's all mixed up. After the conscription law took effect he heard there was gonna be a draft, so he started drafting Roosevelt again."

From time to time the loudspeaker reports the predicament of workers lost in the subway [still under construction] for 832 days.

"We've just been interviewed by Dr. Gallup down here—no wonder you've never known any one who's ever known any one who's ever been questioned by Gallup!"

Lawyers Delay Enemy.

An enemy army approaches, but the lawyer-recruits insist upon invoking the delays of the law. All turns out well when the enemy is lost in the subway. The lost subway workers emerge, followed by Santa Claus, who turns out to be "our new governor, Pete Green." He closes the show with the aid of the chorus in a song entitled "For the Love of Pete."

Lyrics were written by Richard Bentley, John D. Black, Jesse H. Brown, Chester R. Davis, Lewis C. Murtaugh, Cranston Spray, Pressly L. Stevenson, George W. Swain, Frederic Ullmann, and William S. Warfield III.

G. O. P. LEADERS PUSH PLANS FOR WINNING IN 1942

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16 (AP).—Two unsuccessful contenders for the 1940 Republican Presidential nomination—Senator Robert Taft [R., Ohio] and Arthur H. Vandenberg [R., Mich.]—today suggested that talk of a 1944 standard bearer be deferred until after the congressional elections in 1942. Both said their party should concentrate on winning additional house and senate seats.

Senator Arthur Capper [R., Kas.], veteran midwest party leader, told reporters that "a moratorium on Presidential politics would be a fine thing for the Republicans. Domestic and foreign situations are changing so rapidly that we ought to see later conditions before talking about candidates. We will have no difficulty in obtaining Presidential timber when the time comes."

Republican leaders, here for the annual gridiron dinner Saturday, are concerned particularly with the selection of a new party chairman to succeed Representative Joe Martin [R., Mass.], who wishes to resign.

Wins Divorce

[TRIBUNE Photo.]
MRS. MARY DUDA.

Mrs. Mary Duda, 27 years old, told Judge Rudolph Desort yesterday that her estranged husband, Adam, was so jealous of her that he would keep her up nights accusing her thru "third degree methods" of being out with other men. Questioned by Attorney Norman Becker, Mrs. Duda said she was married in 1936 but that she separated from her husband on Sept. 27 because of his persistent delusion that she was keeping company with other men. Judge Desort granted her $4 a week pending hearing on her divorce bill. Mrs. Duda lives at 1353 East 47th place.

IT'S OFFICIAL—MR. ROOSEVELT IS THE WINNER

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 16 (AP).—"Franklin D. Roosevelt receives 29 votes for President; Henry A. Wallace receives 29 votes for Vice President."

That was the way it turned out—strictly according to Hoyle—when Illinois' 29 Presidential electors met solemnly today in the state senate chamber and marked their ballots as members of the electoral college. Similar scenes were enacted in the other 47 states, Mr. Roosevelt receiving a total of 449 electors' votes while Wendell Willkie, his defeated Republican opponent, got 82.

In the Illinois vote, one of the electors, Louis Rixmann of Chicago, acted as a teller and announced the result. It was the signal for a round of applause.

GET WARRANTS FOR 3 FREED BY FEDERAL JUDGE

The government yesterday obtained warrants for the arrest of three alleged bootleggers who were released from custody last Thursday by Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward. The court ordered the prisoners released on the ground that they had been held too long without grand jury action. A few moments after their release the grand jury voted true bills charging the three with liquor law violations. The men are Daniel Warfield, colored; Frank Sajdak, and Michael Hercyk. Joseph Tobin, first assistant United States marshal, said he had no idea where the defendants might be found.

DIES WHILE AT WORK.

David Sundeen, 53, of 646 East 73d street, a carpenter, died of a heart attack yesterday while at work on a building at 7539 Essex avenue.

A. OF C. GUESTS GET MUSICAL TRIP TO A WARM PLACE

The Chicago Association of Commerce substituted "a musical trip to hell" for its annual gridiron production last night at the Christmas party in the Chicago Towers club. Frank A. Mitchell, Chicago manufacturer and author of the production, "Hell's Belles," said the association decided world affairs this year are too serious to joke about.

The show, produced by the association's glee club, portrayed the musical adventures of arrivals in Hades who could not get visas for their passports to Heaven. Characters included Demon Dan; the Hoboes of Hades, an offkey barber shop quartet of 1880; Salome, Hell House Harry, the Drunkards' Friend, and the fallen angels, all of whom were put thru their paces by "Pluto Beelzebub, Head Man of Hades."

Leads were played by Edward F. Eilert, Ernest G. Karth, J. P. Wahlman, Jules E. Jenkins, and Carey G. Wirick. More than 600 persons dined, danced, and watched the entertainment.

UNIFIED TRANSIT IS NOT FAR AWAY, SAYS ALD. QUINN

Ald. James R. Quinn [50th], chairman of the council traction committee, told the City club yesterday that he believes the proposed ordinance for a unified transit system will be submitted to the city council "in a very short time."

"The plan must go thru," Quinn said, after sketching the long history of the traction muddle. "The elevated lines have been losing money for a long time, and now the surface lines are scratching bottom. There has been a great decrease in the use of these facilities.

"Only modernization and better service will bring back the passengers."

THE TRIBUNE CAR IS DOWN WHERE SUN TAN BEGINS

Reaches St. Augustine—and Hot Weather.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Augustine, Fla., Dec. 16.—It's hot here today, just two and a half days after driving the Tribune road car from a Loop darkened by snow clouds and swept by a raw wind from the north. The weather for this winter travel survey has been as a Florida press agent would stage it.

We awoke late this morning with a warm salt breeze waving the window curtains. We could hear the sea breeze in the palms outside our window. Norma, 12 years old, donned a sun suit resembling shorts and a brassiere and was comfortable in this exposure.

It's Chilly Sometimes.

Just so you won't expect too much of St. Augustine weather, we might mention that thermometers dropped below freezing when we were here last winter. Frosts here are almost as frequent as sub-zero temperatures in Chicago.

This oldest city in the United States, retaining many relics of its antiquity, is in northern Florida. Thru the town, population 12,111, moves much of the state's resort travel. You can tell whether a motoring party is en route to or from the resorts farther south by the presence or absence of sun tan.

We arrived here this morning after an afternoon and night of driving from Chattanooga, Tenn. Norma, with a typical tourist temperament, didn't want to stop until she was in Florida. She curled in a blanket in a back seat.

"As long as you can stay awake and I can sleep," she said, "we might as well travel."

Encounter a Drizzle.

Travel we did, leaving Chattanooga on U. S. 41 thru Missionary Ridge by tunnel. A drizzle soaked the red clay and brown cotton fields in the hills of Georgia. It wet the fancy bed spreads that farmers display in their front yards for sale to tourists in this section of Georgia.

The going was good, on a smooth blacktop pavement. The Georgia speed limit is 55 miles an hour and [be careful, friends!] it's enforced. We continued at the authorized pace to Atlanta, following the route of Sherman and his army, which Norma is studying in school.

On the outskirts of Atlanta, late Sunday afternoon traffic was jammed on a two lane pavement with a prolonged blockade for one way traffic over a bridge under repair. Atlanta is spending money to promote its tourist trade. It also needs to promote better highways.

Overlook a Marker.

South of Atlanta, we took U. S. 41 to Macon and thence followed in turn Ga. 87, U. S. 341, Ga. 15, and U. S. 1. By oversight, we missed the Ga. 7 markers in Barnesville which would have taken us to Perry, bypassing Macon.

In south Georgia a moon penetrated a fog in the thin pine wood flats. Skirting Okefenokee swamp, the fog lifted for glimpses of Spanish moss dangling from scrawny pines, sometimes like nooses, sometimes like crepe.

All such sombre thoughts are gone today. From the balcony of a spacious and moderately priced [$4.50 for two] room, we can see the bay where Ponce de Leon is supposed to have anchored in 1513. In a nearby yard, with bougainvillea draping its old wall, poinsettias are aflame. We're going to ride a horse drawn surrey with a colored driver in a silk hat—the popular tourist conveyance here—for a story for the Tribune's travel section before continuing south.

EVANSTON GETS NEW PROPOSAL ON TAXI FARES

The Evanston city council wrestled with the taxicab problem again last night and this time introduced a revision to the new ordinance passed Nov. 25 over Mayor Henry D. Penfield's veto. The revision, proposed by Ald. Thomas Airth, leaves the initial half mile charge at 10 cents, but changes the further rate from 5 cents for each additional third of a mile to 5 cents for each subsequent half mile.

The revision, which will come before the council next week for a final vote, also abolishes the newly formed taxicab commission, which is headed by Airth and includes Ald. Alan Ashcraft Jr. and William McStevens. Nothing was said at the council meeting about a temporary injunction obtained by the taxi companies which forbids Evanston police from enforcing the ordinance provisions. These include picking up passengers at bus stops.

As the meeting ended Airth was approached by a number of drivers who told him they would be unable to continue paying for their cabs at the revised rate. It is considered possible that a proposal for a flat rate of 25 cents for any trip within the city limits will be introduced next Monday. The drivers are known to favor this.

Baer, managing officer of Manteno State hospital, reported yesterday that 42 patients and three employés stricken Nov. 29 and 30 with a gastro-intestinal disorder are clinically well, altho still in quarantine. Gets 10 Days in Jail for Driving While Intoxicated

Judge John V. McCormick in Safety court yesterday sentenced Lee Seitzinger, 32 years old, 1646 Jonquil terrace, to 10 days in the county jail for driving while intoxicated. Seitzinger's driving privileges were suspended for 60 days.

GIRL OF 7 RUNS AGAINST SIDE OF TRUCK; KILLED

Eugenia Delaris, 7 years old, a third grade pupil at St. Andrew's parochial school, was fatally injured yesterday when she ran into the side of a truck near her home at 3856 Lincoln avenue. The truck driver was Joseph Natchke, 46, of 1606 Nelson street.

Louis Fradkin, 45, of 1553 North Fairfield avenue, owner of a newsstand at Sedgwick street and North avenue, was killed when he was struck by one of two automobiles involved in a collision at the intersection. Automobiles driven by John C. Murray, 32, of 2053 Cleveland avenue, a salesman, and E. Clarence Hellard, 37, of 659 Shakespeare avenue, collided. Neither driver was hurt, but Hellard's car swerved and struck Fradkin, who was standing in the street near the southwest corner.

Michael Duffy, 61, of 8238 May street, was killed when he stepped in front of a truck driven by Edward Goss, 1224 South Central Park avenue, at 74th and State streets. Duffy was a city construction worker employed on a water tunnel project.

Travis McDaniel, 6, of 424 North Central Park avenue, died in Franklin Boulevard hospital of a skull fracture incurred when he ran against the side of an automobile while on his way to school. The accident occurred at Lawndale avenue and Ferdinand street. The driver, Harold Feinberg, 3840 Chicago avenue, was not held.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 844 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these, 617 were killed in Chicago, where 22,840 were injured during the same period.

George Meyers, business agent of Glaziers' union, local 27, was not fined $200 and placed on six months' probation on a charge of assault and battery Sept. 19, 1933.

JUDGE RELEASES UNION BOOKS FOR INCOME TAX QUIZ

Judge Philip L. Sullivan yesterday granted a government petition to investigate the financial records and books of three officials of the glaziers' union, local 27, for possible income tax liabilities. The officials are Charles Pfeiffer, president, and George Meyers and Max Glass, business agents. They and 12 other defendants were indicted last May for an alleged price fixing conspiracy in the glass industry.

In the indictment were 24 pages of specific amounts totaling $86,000 allegedly paid as tribute from glass contractors to the union representatives.

On this basis, Paul Ziffren, assistant United States district attorney, appeared in court yesterday and obtained an order allowing E. C. Wright, field agent for the internal revenue bureau, to examine impounded books and records. The trial date has been set for Jan. 29.

Report Election Fraud Fighter Heard by Jury

Lanning MacFarland, vice president of the Northern Trust company and a member of the Chicago Businessmen's 1940 Election committee, reportedly testified yesterday before the federal grand jury investigating alleged vote frauds in the Nov. 5 election. United States Attorney J. Albert Woll said he expects the inquiry to be completed by the end of January. To date about 40 witnesses have been called, and 60 more will probably appear before the jury.

STARS GATHERING IN CITY FOR BIG SHOW TOMORROW

Hollywood descended on Chicago yesterday to take part in the eighth annual "Night of Stars" tomorrow night in the Chicago Stadium. This event, sponsored by Chicago's Own Christmas fund, of which Mayor Kelly is chairman, will bring together stars from the stage, screen, and musical world. Their entertainment is donated and all proceeds go to buy clothing for needy Chicago children.

Those who arrived yesterday are Wayne Morris, Nancy Carroll, Mona Maris, Peggy Diggins, Hugh Herbert, William Orr, George Raft, and George Tobias. They will be joined by other film stars before the event tomorrow night.

Barnet Hodes, secretary of the benefit, received assurance that Joan Crawford, film star, and Irving Berlin, song writer, will be present to take part in the program, which will open at 8:30 p. m. and run until 4 a. m. Thursday.

More Than $340,000 Raised.

More than $340,000 has been raised for the children's fund to date and Hodes expressed confidence that the total fund would equal or exceed the $375,000 gathered last year. Between 75,000 and 80,000 Chicago children will receive new outfits thru the money raised.

A total of $2,095,000 has been poured into the Chicago's Own Christmas fund since the event was founded in 1933, Hodes said, and 445,375 children have been outfitted in that time.

Tomorrow's show will be opened with a prolog by the Paulist choir. This will be followed by the overture conducted by James C. Petrillo, president of the musicians' union, and then Mark Love, of W-G-N, and the Chicago City Opera company will sing the national anthem.

Many Others to Appear.

Among those who will appear at the benefit are Miss Lillian Gish and Percy Waram with their entire "Life With Father Company"; Ruth Gordon, star of "Here Today"; Ruth Chatterton, star of "Pygmalion"; the "Time of Your Life" company, the cast of the musical comedy, "Pins and Needles," and Gypsy Rose Lee.

Others who will donate their services include stars of the City Opera company; the shows from the Chez Paree, Empire room, Colosimo's, Hi-Hat, 885 club, Club Alabam, Colony, Stevens, Bismarck, and Old Heidelberg. Also present on the stage will be most of the name bands in the Chicago area and talent from all the radio stations.

Carols for Shoppers

Mayor Kelly (right) with Douglas Beattie, opera star, as he sang Christmas carols yesterday to State street shopping crowds.

Christmas music fell yesterday on State street. The street lamps blinked on and off and traffic halted for a moment at noon to signal the opening of a series of broadcasts that, from now until Christmas, will bring holiday music to the shopping throngs during the noon hour and from 5 to 7 p. m.

The voice heard singing "Adeste Fideles" and "America" yesterday was that of Douglas Beattie, basso of the Chicago Opera company. The accompaniments were played on an eight ton carillon 7 miles from the studio in the Republic building from which the program emanated. Mayor Edward J. Kelly spoke briefly. David Mayer Jr., president of the State Street council, and Congressman Raymond McKeough participated in the ceremony.

GO IN DEBT TO BUY A FARM? EXPERTS IN DISAGREEMENT

Young men just starting out to till the soil were given a little advice yesterday by four successful gentlemen farmers at an "In-farm-ation Please" luncheon in the Morrison hotel, sponsored by the Agricultural Club of Chicago.

The board of experts included Gov. John Stelle, lifelong Hamilton county farmer; Henry W. Marshall, president of the International Live Stock Exposition and a Lafayette, Ind., farm owner and publisher; Gerhard H. Eckhoff, president of the Pure Milk association and a Kankakee county farmer; and Merle J. Trees, owner and operator of farm properties in Clinton county.

Questions sent in by mail—including "Should a young man buy a farm and go heavily in debt or operate as a tenant for a few years?"—were put to the experts by Dr. Henry C. Taylor, former chief of the United States bureau of agricultural economics.

Gov. Stelle thought a young man could buy a farm and "make a paying proposition of it," while Marshall said the youth "would be better off if he would rent land for a few years from a good land owner and buy his own farm when he has saved some money."

CLUB DEMANDS METERS FOR ALL CHICAGO WATER

The City Club of Chicago yesterday reaffirmed its opposition to resumption of work on the 47th street water tunnel, which was discontinued last year, and reissued a 1937 report in which it proposed universal metering of the city's water supply.

The club's report, which was made by city engineers in coöperation with the club's committee on public health, headed by Dr. Anton J. Carlson of the University of Chicago, said that all citizens and water consumers would benefit from universal metering.

"Filtration of all the water in the city would then be economically practical," it read.

The committee found that studies of revenues and expenditures for the Chicago water works system during the 25 years between 1935 [the basis of the report] and 1960, "indicate that a program for filtering and metering the entire water supply—estimated to cost $59,500,000—could be made self-liquidating with an increase in water rates of approximately 15 per cent and the establishment of minimum rates to consumers of 60 cents per month for residences and 90 cents per month for all other consumers."

LEADERS OF AMERICA.

Senator Holt the other day produced the names of those who gave the William Allen White committee its start. Social climbers, theatrical people, and bankers with strong international ties were shown to have been heavily represented among the original contributors.

The contrast is provided by the America First committee. This organization, formed to resist the drift of this country toward war, is starting an intensive campaign of education in Chicago. The committee is not opposing aid to Britain, but is opposing participation in the war. The directors come from many walks of life and they hold a wide diversity of views on many questions; they have in common a profound distrust of the wisdom of involving America in foreign military alliances and they have a realistic sense of what war is.

Many of the members of the committee acquired their knowledge of war at first hand. Edward Rickenbacker was America's greatest ace in the last war, the most distinguished of our military pilots. Gen. Thomas Hammond ranks among the ablest of Illinois' living soldiers. He enlisted in the National Guard in 1915 as a private, and served with great gallantry in France. Gen. Hugh Johnson's war record is too familiar to require mention. Hanford MacNider enlisted in the Iowa National Guard before the war and served in France as an officer of the famous 9th infantry of the regular army. Clay Judson, a soldier's son, is another who saw overseas service. Gen. Robert E. Wood's contribution to the victory of 1918 is universally recognized.

These are some of the men who are leading the America First committee. They know war. They know the costs of war. Each of them has proved his devotion to his country by risking his life for it not once but many times. They are men of proved loyalty, proved gallantry, and proved ability under the hardest kind of testing. They stand as Americans, for America, in shining contrast to the colonials of Wall street and Park avenue and the theatrical pets of Broadway who started the White committee on its way.

ARMY POSTERS.

By this time pretty nearly every newspaper in the country must have published a photograph of the young lady whose charms will be pictured on army recruiting posters. In a few months her features will replace those of a stern Uncle Sam who is now exhorting the youth of the land to do their duty.

The type of young man who can be lured into the army by the command of Uncle Sam or by the allure of the young lady will not be remarkable for intelligence or initiative. Only a sap will respond to such silly advertising. The army has something to sell to the young men of America, but has succeeded pretty well in concealing the real advantages it has to offer.

An enlisted man today has a chance to learn a trade or a number of trades and to acquire as much education as he has the ambition to get. He also has a chance to improve his physique. He can greatly enhance his prospects for employment if he decides to leave the service at the end of his enlistment. If he stays in the army he can look forward to a reasonable income, fairly rapid promotions if he is worthy of them, and a substantial retirement pension when he is still a relatively young man.

These are selling points which the army ought to be placing before the young men of the country. If the army wishes to attract ambitious and intelligent men it should stress these considerations. The other kind of advertising may bring in the riffraff but it can hardly accomplish more. The navy's recruiting campaigns have been far more intelligently conducted, with the result that it has about all the men it needs and, until the draft upset the balance, had a waiting list of applicants.

Had the army employed similar tactics there would have been little excuse for the conscription law. The strength could have been increased thru regular enlistments beyond all pretense as rapidly as equipment and training facilities were made available. If any doubt on this point existed, it could have been removed by increasing the scale of army pay with one-tenth the money now being spent on the draft organization.

It becomes clearer every day that the draft law was politically inspired with a view to heightening the sense of fear in the country on the eve of the national election. The voters had to be scared into indorsing the third term. The delays in summoning men to the colors under the draft prove that the cries of emergency were insincere; if the danger had been anything like as grave as it was said to be, no strikes among the men building cantonments would be tolerated today and the mere lack of finished buildings could not be allowed to interfere with mobilization and training.

RALLY AROUND DEWEY.

Charles Dewey, congressman elect from the 9th district, has been hard at work ever since his election in seeking to bring about an industrial renaissance in Chicago. He has gone to Washington to discover why Chicago has not received more of the nation's armament orders and to the same end he has been making an inventory of Chicago's productive resources for presentation to the purchasing authorities.

As a business man and as a politician, Mr. Dewey finds himself in a strong position. He has the respect of both elements. If he gets the coöperation of both, the community may be expected to resume its growth in population and wealth.

GOVERNMENT BY EDICT.

Both houses of congress have had difficulty in keeping a quorum, a condition which plays into Mr. Roosevelt's hands in the veto of the Walter-Logan bill. Congress has remained in session at some sacrifice of the members' personal inclinations. Many went home for the elections and nearly all would like to go home for Christmas. Some haven't been in Washington for weeks. Nevertheless, the national legislature has remained in being, having two good reasons for not adjourning. One is to keep an eye on the administration's foreign transactions. The other was to pass the Walter-Logan bill and, if possible, repass it over the veto.

Senator Burke, in a recent radio talk, explained the provisions of this act. It protects the rights of the citizen to appeal to the courts when he feels that an administrative order or ruling has affected him injuriously and has transgressed the law which should protect him. Administrative law is in essence law by dictate. It is law made by executives. It is the law of the old Roman empire which has been incorporated in every dictatorship since that time.

Under the New Deal government in the United States has tended to become government by administrations, authorities, and governmental corporations set up to regulate and control nearly all phases of the nation's activities and enterprises. Nearly every business organization encounters a number of these boards and commissions which are vested with authority to lay down this rule or that rule of procedure. The orders issued are supposed to be final and the New Deal courts, construing the acts creating the various authorities, tend in their decisions to uphold the administrative edict as the highest law of the land in the field to which it is applied.

Congress endeavored to remedy what it had unintentionally or mistakenly done in drawing up or accepting such administrative laws. In the Walter-Logan bill the right of judicial appeal is restored to the citizens. Under it an administrative body would not be the final authority for a ruling affecting the conduct of private affairs. If the ruling violated the citizen's legal rights his remedy would be in the courts.

No dictator has a free hand if a country has an independent judiciary and maintains the principle of legal rights. A dictator cannot operate with a free legislature and a free court. A citizen can never be made a subject without rights if he is represented in a free legislature and if he has resort to an open court. Dictators know that and their first step is to abolish the people's assemblies and close the courtroom. Then edict becomes the only law and the administrator issues it. The people obey it.

Congress has been aware of the trend of American government. It has been nowhere more plainly indicated than it has been in Washington, and congress under the pressure of the New Dealers has set up these dictatorial authorities and granted the powers which have been abused. When the congressmen saw the mistake they had made and undertook to put administrative law under judicial review New Dealers were unable to make a stand-up defense against the pressure for correction. They appeared to give way.

The senate passed the bill without an opposing vote and then reconsidered on the promise of Senator Barkley, the administration's spokesman, that in the following session—that of the present congress—the matter would be taken up early. In this session the house passed the bill by more than a two-thirds majority, but Mr. Barkley did not keep his promise to the senate and after the elections of November every effort was made to get congress out of Washington.

The Republicans opposed adjournment and were supported by enough Democrats to keep the session going, but when Barkley consented to have the bill called up a quorum was obtained with difficulty. It was apparent then that a veto might be sustained because there were so many absentees. Furthermore, Mr. Roosevelt, who was never to be more than 12 hours distant from his office, departed for the Caribbean and the act could not be immediately laid before him. He didn't get it until he returned to Washington. Meanwhile quorum difficulties were increasing.

As Senator Burke explained, New Dealers have said the act is too restrictive, but they have refused to offer any reasonable amendments. Their intention was to give Mr. Roosevelt all the talking points they could against the act. The objection to it is significant. It is stated in the argument that you can't get things done if the courts are forever examining the edicts. An edict must be authoritative and final or it isn't worth anything. Fair or unfair, it must prevail.

PEACE ON THE SHORT WAVE.

All is not blood and thunder abroad. The short wave broadcasting programs from the countries at war contain much sweetness and light.

Berlin—4:00 p. m.—Musical potpourri.
Berlin—5:15 p. m.—Entertainment and dance music.
London—6:45 p. m.—"For the Children."
Tokio—7:05 p. m.—Popular songs.
Tokio—11:40 p. m.—Children's hour.
And from Mussoliniland:
Rome—7:40 p. m.—Light music.

This is not a world of despair or to be despaired of. We've got it wrong.

Editorial of the Day

THE ST. LAWRENCE WATERWAY AND THE DEFENSE PROGRAM.

[Baltimore Sun.]

In his 1940 message to the Great Lakes seaway and power conference at Detroit, delivered by Assistant Secretary of State Berle, Mr. Roosevelt says the St. Lawrence seaway and power project is vital for the national defense. It was only a few days ago that the President warned against those who would try to dress up pet public works projects as necessary to defense in order to resist the public works economy program which the defense emergency in his view made necessary.

The President is aware that critics of the St. Lawrence project will wonder whether he himself is not now endowing one of his own pet programs with defense necessities which it does not really have. On the contrary, he protests; the St. Lawrence project has always been dear to him because he recognized its "vital importance to the people in peace and in war." The fact remains that he said not a word of defense uses in his 1936 message to the Great Lakes conference nor even in the 1934 message in which he asked the senate to ratify the St. Lawrence seaway and power treaty with Canada.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U. S. Pat. Office

THE EAGLET'S LAST FLIGHT.

So Napoleon Francis Joseph Charles Bonaparte, whose infancy was glorified with the title of king of Rome, goes back to rest in the mausoleum of his mighty father, with marshals of France as his bodyguards! This notion of Hitler's, who has overrun Europe with his armies like the Eaglet's begetter, strikes the gong of history with a political gesture.

Napoleon's attitude toward his son was blended of dynastic ambition and a Corsican family man's pride in fatherhood. He played with the infant on the floor of a suite in the Tuileries, like any bourgeois papa, and then he left him to pursue glory on battlefields all the way to Moscow and return.

The boy never saw his father after the exile to Elba in 1814, when he was 3 years old, and therefore could not have remembered him. The rest of his life [he died at the age of 21] was spent among his mother's imperial kin in Vienna. Question: Should he have been left among the scenes of his brief career as an Austrian princeling and army officer, for sentimental reasons, or returned to his father for ideological purposes? It's the most harmless matter that the present condition of affairs in Europe offers for argument.

The Eaglet's boyhood was strongly influenced by die-hard Bonapartist propaganda. He felt that his mother had deserted his father in his time of need. One of his remarks on this subject has been preserved in the papers of his friend, the Chevalier Prokesch-Osten:

"If Josephine had been my mother, my father would never have gone to St. Helena and I would not be languishing in Vienna."

This boy, who became a plaything of European power politics, is familiar to American playgoers thru Rostand's drama, "L'Aiglon," in which we have seen him hysterically represented by Sarah Bernhardt, Maude Adams, and Eva Le Gallienne. With all its flourishes of French oratory, the play runs close to history. The Eaglet's deathbed utterance on the stage was "Napoleon!" But Metternich, the anti-Napoleonic diplomat, had the last line:

"He is to be buried in his Austrian uniform."

It is gloomy in that impressive sepulcher by the banks of the Seine, young Franz, and the symbols of old conquests there are a mockery. You may become homesick for Vienna and the strains of a folksong heard in youth: "Im Prater grün blühen die Bäume."

IN PRAISE OF WINTER.

Gold is the sun in an icy sky
And the still lake gleams like a mirror of gold.
White is the path where the fir-cones lie,
The blackbird is silent, his story told.
Into the sunlight, like sharp black lace,
Trees stretch up eager and empty palms;
The hillside is blessed with the snow's white grace,
And sparrows wax noisy, demanding alms.

Dark is the night when the shadows wake
And the moon, a pale wayfarer, swiftly climbs
The knoll; washed in silver now sleeps the lake
And the air is a tinkle with silver chimes . . .
Poets may sing of the youth of the year,
Beauty walks also when winter is here.

A Philosopher Waits for a Train.

Most depots are cold and inhospitable, and the La Salle street station is no exception, but once a year things are different. Up from the storeroom comes a wooden platform, some white cloth, and imitation snow; some one makes a miniature cathedral of sugar; the janitors drag in an evergreen; the electrician hides a loud speaker somewhere and runs wires to a hidden phonograph. The lights go on, a Christmas hymn softly begins, and suddenly we are in a sanctuary where strangers are friends and a smile appears here and there to make the world seem a pretty good place after all.

It doesn't take much to work a miracle sometimes. Quizzicuss.

Wings Over Lake Michigan.

Morning drama of the skies—ducks flying south, quick, jackstraw shaped dots in flocks or little knots of five or six against the dusky orange of the dawn. Some skim close to the water, long chains of them making the gulls appear fat and lazy by comparison. A miscalculation of inches, it seems, would send them headlong into the lake. Few aviators would dare fly so near the surface, and there's a bumpy headwind to buck, too. One sees the ducks at their best these mornings between 6:45 and 8 o'clock. There is something about their clean, eager flight, their gallant ardor to arrive, that makes even the most ambitious hunter secretly hope that every one of them makes it! Newcomer.

CHICAGO PUBLIC LIBRARY.

Garland Court on the east side
Of its one and only block
Lends its quaint, faintly distinguished name
To a treasure house.
On the west side, trucks unload
To Wabash avenue stores,
And there is a single track, upon which,
At intervals, a street car competes clamorously
With traffic, and quarrels with pedestrians, to get out.
But Garland Court has no concern with vans,
Or noise, or cars, or stores.
Garland Court guards gracefully
The great, tall, ornamental iron fence,
And heavy iron gates
That are the back doors
To a Castle of Books!

HISTAMINE FOR MENIERE'S DISEASE.

MENIERE'S syndrome, or group of symptoms, has puzzled physicians for many generations. The sudden attacks of vertigo, nausea, vomiting, ringing in the ears, and deafness are likely to prove prostrating to the patient. Certainly he cannot carry on his ordinary vocation and, while the bout lasts, he is practically helpless.

The exact cause of the malady has never been determined, altho it is thought that a disturbance of the circulation to the inner ear [including the nerve of hearing] is at fault. Relief comes after a while and the onslaughts appear to wear themselves out.

Furstenberg—who suggested that edema [swelling] might be responsible—advised moderation in the use of all liquids and the omission of common salt from the diet. In consequence, there ensued a generous elimination of fluids and sometimes marked alleviation of distress. Under this management many individuals have been free from severe seizures or have been cured entirely.

More recently Sheldon and Horton, of the Mayo clinic, recommended that histamine be given directly into a vein. Their method consists in administering—very slowly—small doses of histamine acid phosphate dissolved in approximately 8 ounces of salt solution. The time required for the procedure is one and one-half hours.

In January of this year they reported on 15 cases. In one instance the victim, who had been confined to bed for three weeks, recovered so promptly that he was able to get up and walk around the room as naturally as ever. One of the subjects had been vomiting continuously for 15 hours when the chemical was started. The symptoms vanished coincident with the completion of the injection. No other medicine was given this group of sufferers, and all responded satisfactorily.

Subsequent work has borne out the promise of Sheldon's original contribution. Apparently the drug has a sufficiently beneficial effect upon the autonomic [nervous] system in addition to reducing edema in the delicate hearing machinery of the inner ear.

It is interesting to note that the treatment was discovered as an outgrowth of an attempt to control excessive sensitivity to cold. In one patient who was afflicted also with Ménière's disease, not only was the burning pain and the redness of the skin banished, but the dizziness disappeared likewise. There is reason to believe that many hitherto unknown nervous irritations may be amenable to histamine. In fact, the thought has been advanced that its employment will be successful in chronic hives, where victims have become so miserable from repeated eruptions that they can scarcely carry on.

There seems to be no objection to the compound from any point of view and certainly no untoward results have been observed. Confirmed asthmatics, of course, will be worse at first and some will feel a bit uncomfortable; but relief from this devastating ailment is so desirable that one should be willing to endure a fair amount of punishment. The deliberateness of the injection gives the physician an opportunity to stop the process if the slightest embarrassment is occasioned.

SIESTA.

C. R. writes: When we were visiting the zoo one Sunday we noticed that the animals went to sleep after eating. The question arose as to whether humans would benefit by such a practice.

REPLY.

Yes. A half hour rest period after the midday meal will increase efficiency and prolong life. A heavy meal at this time of day, however, is not recommended if one has much work to do.

THE VINEGAR CURE.

T. C. writes: Is a teaspoonful of vinegar a day a good reducer?

REPLY.

You are probably going on the theory that since sugar makes fat an acid will take it off. Well, it isn't so. Reducing is not a simple matter. Vinegar [dilute acetic acid] merely adds to the quantity of alkali in the body. Then, too, it may sour the disposition.

TOOTH ADJUSTMENT.

M. L. writes: Can a space between two teeth be closed in an adult?

REPLY.

Probably not. But consult a skilled orthodontist, one who specializes in straightening teeth.

CHRISTMAS HOMILY.

Oregon, Ill., Dec. 12.—The headline in THE TRIBUNE on last Christmas day read, "War or Not, It's Christmas." It hardly seems possible that another year has passed and scores of others have felt the ravages of war. As we look at the world today it will be rather difficult to sing, "Silent Night, Holy Night," in our churches. Yet it's Christmas, and at this time we in America come a little closer to what we ought to be; some of our doubts are silenced; and we rest our eyes on the spiritual things of life.

Two advertisments appeared some time ago in a New York newspaper. One read, "Wanted—A man to impersonate Santa Claus," and the other stated, "Wanted—A man for a blood transfusion." Those are the two elements in Christmas today; we like the romance and sentiment of Santa, and we are anxious to play his rôle. But the world is ill today and it needs a transfusion from the man of Nazareth. Do not permit this season to pass by without thinking of the real meaning of Christmas; don't leave Christ out of Christmas. REV. PAUL E. TURK.

CHRISTMAS PETS.

Chicago, Dec. 11.—A dog in any home means an added responsibility and expense. It needs time, patience, and affection to win its unquestioning love and companionship, plenty of exercise, good food and training. True, these will be repaid with a wealth of devotion and loyalty even unto death, but readers are urged, before buying a dog for Christmas giving, to be certain not only that the recipient is eager for the pet but also that he is qualified to give it right treatment. Otherwise, once the novelty of a live plaything has worn off, the Christmas pet may become yet another unfortunate stray on the city streets.

E. C. DOW,
Humane Education Chairman, Chicago Federation of Women's Organizations.

WE DIDN'T SAY THAT.

Chicago, Dec. 11.—Your editorial yesterday makes it appear a crime that the holders of Chicago City railway bonds receive their interest on their investment.

I own $5,000 of these bonds, which I purchased years ago, costing me 102 at the time of purchase, and had every reason to suppose that interest and principal would be paid up to due date, 1927.

I don't feel we are committing a crime in receiving the interest, which is earned, and we should have been paid the principal. Having been a resident here all my life and a constant reader of your paper, I believe such an editorial most uncalled for. J. FREEHLING.

NO JOKE.

Oxford, Ind., Dec. 11.—The growing tendency to attempt the revival of the old war hysteria of the training camp days of 1917 and the antics of our boys in the training camps for use in skits on the radio and for use in some of our daily comics, seems to me to be not only premature, but also very bad taste on the part of the users. At best, our training plan is still very much an experiment, and not too much of a joke to those who are the subjects. It does not even faintly resemble the push of getting ready in 1917. ROBERT D. SMALLEY.

BLACK AND WHITE TWINS.

Chicago, Dec. 13. — In last Sunday's TRIBUNE a notice appeared regarding the birth of a pair of fraternal or two egg twins, one member of which had black skin and the other white. This case is of considerable interest to scientists and, judging by the number of inquiries I have received, it apparently is also of interest to the general public.

Since both parents of the twin pair are of Negro stock, the black member of the pair requires no genetic explanation. The white member, however, does. According to the report the white twin is a Negro albino; that is, it has the thick lips, the broad nose, and the kinky hair of the Negro, but lacks pigmentation in skin, hair, and eyes. Albinism in the human species is known to be inherited as a simple Mendelian recessive. It has previously been reported in the Negro stock.

In this case the most probable genetic explanation is that both parents carry a hereditary unit or gene for albinism. If this is true then one-fourth of their children should be expected to be albinos and, since the twins represent separately fertilized eggs, each twin had one chance in four of being an albino. Since the gene for albinism is relatively rare in the Negro stock, and since it is a recessive gene, it seems probable that the parents are closely related. This, however, is not necessarily true.

TIMELY PETITION.

Chicago, Dec. 11.—Some of the Tribune readers might be interested in the following item which I have just read in a November issue of the Church of England newspaper:

"I must again thank the many readers who have come to the rescue—this time by sending in words of the prayer asked for by my Birmingham correspondent. The prayer, it appears, is taken from an old Cornish litany, and is as follows:

"From witches, warlocks, and wurricoes,
From ghoulies, ghosties, and long leggity beasties,
From all things that go bump in the night,
Good Lord, deliver us."

FROM THE LIVE STOCK SHOW.

Chicago, Dec. 13.—We wish to express our deep gratitude to the staff of THE TRIBUNE for the splendid support given to the recent International Live Stock exposition, which closed its most successful showing in its 40 year history last Saturday.

Without the generous backing of THE TRIBUNE, we realize that this could not have been accomplished and we are sincerely grateful. B. H. HEIDE,

A PLEA TO EMPLOYERS.

Chicago, Dec. 13.—Here's a plea to all employers:

Resolve here and now to hire men who can perform the work, rather than discriminate against them on account of age, WPA, etc. The above class of men held good positions at one time; they fought for you in 1917 and 1918; now they need your help, so please let your New Year's slogan be "Help America and Americans." A WPA MAN.

THE DEPRESSING RADIO.

Chicago, Dec. 13.—During a recent illness I listened to many of the daytime radio programs and found myself growing sicker and sicker each day as a result.

With very few exceptions, each story has one or more characters either dying or about to die, losing a limb, or his or her eyesight and the actors are moaning and groaning in despair over the ill fated loved ones until by the time you have listened to 10 or 12 of those atrocities a day, you're a mental and physical wreck yourself.

Then there are those sickening, slushy love scenes where the lovers go into a long embrace and then finally break it up with a deep, sensuous sigh which sounds like a lovesick cat and makes you positively sick at your stomach to hear.

I realize that millions of housewives listen to these scripts daily and that is the purpose of this criticism. The average homemaker has enough of her own troubles and worries without trying to shoulder the additional burdens of all the mythical unfortunates on the air. I don't care how healthy or mentally sound the listener might be, it is a psychological fact that no one can constantly listen to the tragedies of 10 or 12 other individuals day in and day out without finally becoming influenced themselves either mentally or physically. Many of these good women probably become rather morbid at the end of the day and wonder why, never realizing it is the pet radio programs.

I am sorry to be so vicious in my condemnation of something which has become a part of our daily life, but I cannot help but feel that radio programs should be devoted to making people happy instead of depressed and disillusioned. AL MORRISON.

TRACING ESTATE.

Chicago, Dec. 13.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My stepmother died here and a will she was supposed to have left is supposed to be in San Jose, Cal. [for the disposition of my father's estate]. My father died five years ago in San Jose, Cal.

1. How can I get any information about this will?

2. If a will is formed in San Jose and recorded, when and where would the contents be divulged?

3. How long would it be before distribution of estate, according to California law?

4. There were some stocks here in Chicago in a joint safety deposit box with one of my stepmother's nieces.

5. How can I find out if the quantity of stocks was tampered with? Z. A.

1. The first step would be to ask the person who has possession of the will. It is largely a matter of following up clews in your possession.

2. If the will is filed there, you can obtain a certified copy from the clerk of the court.

3. Depends on what steps are taken.

4. Joint access to the box does not necessarily mean joint ownership of the contents.

5. It is largely a matter of following up clews in your possession.

COUNCIL GROUP BACKS REVISED ZONE ORDINANCE

Measure Seeks to Spur Home Building.

A tentative draft of a revised zoning ordinance under which city officials hope to rezone Chicago to halt the growth of slum areas and to stimulate home building was recommended yesterday by the city council subcommittee on zoning.

Ald. Arthur G. Lindell [9th], chairman of a committee which has been working on the revision, said public hearings will be held after Jan. 1.

Work was begun on a new ordinance last spring after the present zoning ordinance had been branded obsolete and criticized for reserving too much area for commercial use, large apartments, and hotels, and not enough for small homes.

Need Described by Assessor.

Assessor John S. Clark has said home building cannot be revived on a large scale until home owners are protected by an up to date zoning ordinance.

Lindell said that, among other things, the revised draft increases the building classifications, scales down height limits, provides for public hearings on parking lot permits before the board of appeals, and requires that new apartment buildings provide garage space on the same premises for at least 75 per cent of the tenants.

The new building classifications are outlined as follows: [1] residential districts for one family dwellings and to include school, church, park, community, and other similar buildings; [2] residential districts for two family dwellings; [3] group house districts; [4] apartment districts; [5] business districts; [6] commercial districts; [7] manufacturing districts, and [8] industrial districts.

Setback Provision Changed.

The proposed ordinance limits the height of new skycrapers to 165 feet, or 15 stories, before provisions for setbacks. The present limit is 264 feet, or 24 stories, before setbacks.

Other height limitations proposed are: Residences and small apartment buildings—proposed 25 feet; at present, 33 feet plus setback. Large apartments and commercial buildings—proposed, 45 feet; at present, 66 feet plus setback. Manufacturing and limited commercial buildings—proposed, 99 feet; at present, limits ranging from 132 to 198 feet plus setbacks.

Lindell said the proposed ordinance seeks to zone Chicago more nearly in accordance with its real needs.

LOTHIAN GIVEN VAULT OF HONOR AT ARLINGTON

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16 (AP).—In a foggy rain, the ashes of Lord Lothian, British ambassador, were deposited today in a vault beneath the mast of the battleship Maine in Arlington national cemetery.

A caisson drawn by six horses of the "President's gray horse battery"—battery C of the 16th field artillery—bore the catafalque containing the ashes to the cemetery. The catafalque was draped with a Union Jack. The small box containing the ashes was wrapped in the British standard.

A French 75 boomed a 19 gun salute, and an army band played Chopin's Funeral March as the caisson proceeded toward the vault. As the ashes were carried into the resting place, the band gave four flourishes and a ruffle and played "Nearer My God to Thee." A chaplain offered prayer.

Secretary of State Hull, and other officials and citizens watched the ceremonies. It is believed that Lord Lothian's remains will remain in the vault until after the war and then be removed to his home country.

FIVE OFFER HELP TO HOMELESS AND JOBLESS WOMAN

Grace Crowther was taken to the county hospital Sunday. She was homeless, had gone without food for three days, and was unconscious. Yesterday she had five offers of temporary homes or jobs.

The young woman, who is 24 years old, was found Sunday in the rear seat of a car in front of 1016 Keystone avenue. She had crawled into it for refuge from the streets and the cold. Beside her was a penciled note, saying she had no place to sleep, no money for car fare or telephone, and no job after a month of seeking.

"Just let me stay," she had written. "I'll work hard to repay you."

Dr. Ole Nelson, warden of Cook County hospital, said she would be discharged today, provided she has somewhere to go. Offers to care for her, received by THE TRIBUNE, which published an account of her plight, have been turned over to the hospital's social service department.

13 STATIONS HIT AT PLAN TO ALTER RADIO CHANNELS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Nashville, Tenn., Dec. 16.—Representatives of 13 of America's most powerful radio stations, including W-G-N, Chicago, met here today and approved a petition of protest to be filed with the Federal Communications commission concerning proposed alteration of the clear channel radio status as guaranteed under terms of an agreement at Havana.

Under this pact, signed by the United States, Canada, Mexico, and Cuba, to become effective March 29, 1941, some 770 stations of the 862 now operating in the United States will have their wave lengths changed.

The clear channel group took this action because it was reported to them that the FCC was considering granting a license to a Boston station, WHDH, which would permit it to operate on the same frequency as KOA, Denver.

Monopoly Quiz Delayed.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16.—The Federal Communications commission today postponed until Dec. 24 the time for filing additional briefs by the radio networks on the commission's charges of monopoly in the radio broadcasting systems. The extension was requested by the National Broadcasting company, altho the Mutual and Columbia systems required no further time.

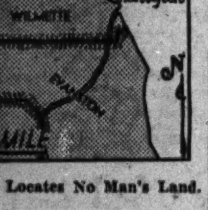
APPEAL UPSETS ANNEXATION OF NO MAN'S LAND

The Illinois Supreme court yesterday held invalid the special legislative act under which the village of Wilmette annexed No Man's Land, the 22 acre unincorporated area lying between it and Kenilworth. The area was annexed by the Wilmette city council a year ago under the special legislation.



Map Locates No Man's Land.

The opinion of the Supreme court, which reversed a lower court ruling that the statute and annexation was valid, was handed down on the appeal of Attorney Stanley K. Gage of 923 Elmwood avenue, Wilmette, a property owner in No Man's Land. Gage contended the law was unconstitutional.

No Man's Land, which had neither fire nor police protection, was taken over by Wilmette after numerous complaints by north shore residents because of its lack of regulations.

Christmas Really Is at Hand: Yuletide Party Cards Are Out

BY JUDITH CASS.

ONE begins to feel that Christmas really is near when the mailman brings the ivory invitations that each year bid the Charles Daniel Freys' friends to a Tom and Jerry party on Christmas day from 11 to 2 o'clock. The Freys' hospitable home at 1435 State parkway always is filled between those hours on Christmas.

Mrs. Jacob Baur and Mr. and Mrs. Franklin M. Miller tied for first place in the list of early Christmas card senders this year, for both mailed their cards more than a week ago. Each carries an original verse, and Mrs. Baur's, as is her custom, has for its frontispiece a picture of a corner in her Astor street home. This year it is the breakfast room that is pictured.

The Millers departed soon after sending out their cards to spend the winter at their home in Palm Beach.

Among others who have taken no chances this year on having their Christmas greeting cards delayed by the rush of last minute mailing are the Stewart Harveys, Lowell M. Chapin, the Cradle society, Charles S. Peterson, and the Angus Hibbards.

The Harveys' Card Prepared by Mrs. Harvey.

The cunning drawing on the Harveys' card is the work of Mrs. Harvey and shows the papa, mamma, and the three little Harveys around a wee Christmas tree with a saguaro cactus as a background, reminiscent of Santa Fe, where the family spent the summer. Mr. Chapin, who used to live in Chicago but now resides in Niles, Mich., sends a picture of his attractive home, Topinabee Lodge. The Cradle society used a picture of two enchanting young choir boys as the first page of its greeting card.

The Clay Judsons have cards out for their annual "at home" on Sunday from 4 until 7 o'clock. This is the day upon which members of the Great Lakes Dredge and Philharmonic society will sing carols, stopping in at the Judsons, who live at 1541 Astor street, as they trek north. The singing starts promptly at 5 o'clock in the little park at Goethe and Astor streets, where several hundred children of the neighborhood gather each year to hear the carolers.

From the park the singers, clad in bright colored hats and mufflers and carrying lighted lanterns, will go north to North avenue, west to State parkway, and then south. Usually they stop in at Mrs. Bartholomay Osborne's, at State and Burton place, for a second bit of cheer, but this year Mrs. Osborne has not returned from a Thanksgiving trip east, so no invitation from her is forthcoming, as yet.

In case Mrs. Osborne does not reach home—she is expected on Thursday—in time to entertain the carolers, they will not go cold nor dry, for Ernest Byfield has invited them to drop in at the Pump room before they go to the Robert Pyzels', 1200 Lake Shore drive, for a buffet supper. The wives of the singers will join them there. The James Waller Rogerses have invited the carolers to assemble at their home, 25 Scott street, before going to the park.

Wayne Howorth is the leader of the carolers, who are Cyrus H. Adams III., J. Beach Clow, Francis Fabyan Jr., Clinton Hughes, Hamilton Vose, Herbert Stratford, Walter Frazier, Kellogg Fairbank Jr., Arthur Barry Jr., Walter McLallen, Sam Pace, Edward V. Platt, Nicholas Poole, George Artamonoff, William Welsh, Thomas Underwood, Louis C. Sudler, Dr. Philip Shambaugh, John Cromelin, Dr. Herman Chor, Paget Cady, Noel Flint, Philip von Ammon, Fred Spencer, and Merrill Shepard.

Casino Club Makes Annual Gift Collection Friday.

Members of the Casino club will gather around a lighted Christmas tree Friday from 5 to 7 o'clock to enjoy cocktails and to deposit gifts to be distributed by the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society. This is an annual custom of long standing in the club in East Delaware place.

The Earl Kribbens, who reside at 1120 Lake Shore drive, and the Ernest A. Hamills, whose home is at 12 Scott street, have both chosen Friday as the day upon which to be at home to their friends and to dispense a bit of pre-Christmas cheer.

A former Lake Forester, Mrs. Alfred H. Granger, is spending several days in Lake Forest on her way to Neenah, Wis., where she will visit one of her daughters, Mrs. Chester Shepard. Mrs. Granger will go north on Thursday.

Mrs. W. F. Kirk Somewhat Busy with Christenings.

Mrs. Wallace F. Kirk attended the christening of one grandson, Robert Franklin Carr III., last Sunday, and shortly after Christmas she will be attending the same sort of ceremony for her other grandson, who was born just last Thursday. The new baby is Samuel Alexander Culbertson III., the first child of the former Beatrice Kunhardt of New York and Santa Barbara and Samuel A. Culbertson II., Mrs. Kirk's only son.

Master Carr is the four and a half months old son of the former Vesta Culbertson and Robert F. Carr Jr. When he was given his name in St. Chrysostom's church Sunday Mrs. Alanson Donald was his godmother and Joseph Sampsell and Milton Wilson Jr. his godfathers. Mr. and Mrs. Culbertson are spending this winter in New York, where their baby was born at the Doctors' hospital.

Cliff Dwellers Giving Party for Opera Managers.

The Cliff Dwellers, who long have been seeking an excuse to give an especial party after the Tuesday concerts, have found a timely one today in the presence in Chicago of sixteen major symphony orchestra managers. After the regular symphony concert and the presentation of Pierne's mystery, "The Children of Bethlehem," the Cliff Dwellers will be at home during the tea hour in their clubrooms high above Michigan boulevard.

The visiting managers and their wives, gathered in Chicago as a tribute to the golden anniversary season of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, will attend the afternoon concert, when a chorus of children from the public schools will take part in the yuletide program.

Mrs. Chalkley Jay Hambleton, hostess at the regular Friday teas of the Cliff Dwellers, will welcome guests to the party today.

Even before the tea, wives of the visiting managers will attend a party, for Mrs. Henry E. Voegeli, wife of the Chicago orchestra's manager, is entertaining for them at luncheon in the Arts club.

Many symphony-goers who do not attend the Cliff Dwellers' party will be at tea after the concert in the College club.

Prof. and Mrs. John Garstang Guests at Reception Today.

Prof. and Mrs. John Garstang, who recently arrived from the near east by way of Bagdad, Basra, and Bombay, will have exciting tales to tell the guests they meet at the reception Mr. and Mrs. Francis Neilson are giving for them tonight.

Assisting the Neilsons in their home on Drexel boulevard, where 125 guests have been invited to meet the British archaeologist and his wife, will be Prof. and Mrs. John Wilson of the Oriental institute at the University of Chicago, President and Mrs. Robert Maynard Hutchins of the university, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Swift, and Dr. and Mrs. Max Curtis.

Prof. and Mrs. Garstang will be the house guests of the Neilsons until Prof. Garstang is settled in his new duties at the Oriental institute.

Symphony Orchestra Attendance Has Gain of Million in 1940

For American symphony orchestras 1940 was a record year, it was announced yesterday at the annual conference of symphony managers at the Palmer House. Total attendance at the concerts of the nation's 15 major symphony orchestras was 3,726,300 in 1940, against 2,694,900 in 1939. These same 15 orchestras gave a total of 1,418 concerts in 1940, as against 1,368 in 1939.

Henry E. Voegeli, host to the conference by reason of his position as manager of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, said the increase is due mainly to the new interest of young people in symphonic music, an interest stimulated primarily by the children's concerts which the orchestras have been presenting during the last decade.

Other figures revealed at the meeting follow: Average length of season [for the 15 major orchestras]—26 weeks. Average number of concerts [including tours and summer engagements]—95. Average total attendance—248,420. Average number of musicians employed—89. Average minimum weekly salary—$62. Average operating deficit—$121,828.

LONDON, Dec. 16 (AP).—Several thousand soldiers today began helping the railroads dispatch Christmas cards and packages—their help sought because of public response to a "mail early" plea. The soldiers will work eight hour shifts at all main terminals and railway stations until the night before Christmas. Pianist Reveals Fine Talent as Conductor, Too

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The Cuban pianist, José Echániz, appeared in the unfamiliar guise of conductor at the Great Northern last night. He directed the Illinois Symphony in a program which included two Chicago premières.

As a conductor Mr. Echániz displays the same refinement and precision that he does as pianist. His work in the new medium seemed warmer, however, possibly because of the vastly greater color possibilities which the orchestra offers. Even in the purely classical items of his program he managed to inject into the performance an occasional slight suggestion of southern richness.

◆

The new works were the Darius Milhaud piano concerto and the "Three Little Poems" of Amadeo Roldán, recently deceased Cuban composer. In the Milhaud, the Chicago pianist, Paul Des Marais, played the solo part cleanly, idiomatically, and with many an enchanting color and tempo effect.

The Milhaud work is small of scale, very restrained [it always stops well short of any big or obvious climax], and rich in those delicate intuitions which the French have succeeded better than any other national group in translating into musical terms.

◆

The vigorous opening movement and the delightfully liquid barcarolle set a standard and establish a plan which the finale, because of its discursiveness, does not seem to maintain or further. However, first impressions are notoriously unreliable when one is dealing with an inner, esthetic logic rather than with an outer, formal one.

Roldán's little pieces are bold, rhythmic, melodious, and splashed with color.

Movie Censorship Policy Is Defended by Head of Board

Lieut. Harry Costello, head of the police motion picture censor board, denied that the board acts arbitrarily in censoring films to be shown in Chicago theaters. He said the board adheres to the city ordinance regulating such censorship.

Costello was one of several witnesses heard before the city council judiciary committee, headed by Ald. H. L. Brody [39th]. The committee is holding public hearings on the proposal of Ald. Earl B. Dickerson [2d] to abolish censorship for films to be seen by adults. Dickerson's proposal would replace the present board with a five man board appointed by the mayor. The board would inspect and censor films to be viewed by persons under 21 years of age.

The hearing was adjourned until Jan. 13. Representatives of the American Legion are expected to state their views before the committee and officials of the motion picture industry are to tell how their censorship operates.

Card Playing Wagnerian Tenor.

Lauritz Melchior, who sang Siegfried in Die Walküre at the closing performance of the Chicago Opera company Saturday evening, left for New York Sunday afternoon with Mme. Flagstadt after spending most of his time in Chicago playing his favorite Danish card game, l'hombre. The Wagnerian tenor and three companions started to play Friday in the private apartment of Fred Chramer above the Kungsholm, stopped to lunch on the Danish fish dish, rodstaetter, and played all thru Friday. They—Melchior, A. K. Mose, Capt. Torben Kleems, and Roger Chaveaux—played from Saturday morning until the hour for opera, with time out for luncheon only, and after the opera the game was resumed. The four played all night, winding up their game at 5 o'clock Sunday morning. Mme. Melchior did not accompany her husband to Chicago this trip.

"She stayed home so I could play more l'hombre," said Melchior.

Melchior, who has applied for United States citizenship papers, will spend Christmas at their home in New York, with Jean Hersholt of the movies as their guest.

Young Ornithologist.

Gerard Darrow, who is the ornithology expert of the Quiz Kids board, was introduced to Mrs. Philip Block Jr. at a tea, at which plans were made for a personal appearance of the Quiz Kids at the Woman's Exchange Junior Esquire hour Saturday morning, Dec. 28. Gerard shook hands politely, but kept his eyes fastened on the two long quills that adorned her hat as he said: "How do you do, Mrs. Block. You certainly are a lucky woman. You have two silver pheasant feathers."

Food for Thought Note.

The Stage

Ruth Chatterton and the "Pygmalion" company will break some sort of threatrical record next Wednesday evening when they move to their third [and last] theater within a month. The Erlanger being under contract to "Du Barry Was a Lady" from next Sunday forward, "Pygmalion" will be transferred to the Harris theater. It will remain at the Harris until Jan. 10, when, presumably, it will move on to Milwaukee.

◆

"New Pins and Needles," the Labor Stage revue, opens an indefinite engagement at the Studebaker theater this evening. The revue shatters commercial precedent by selling its best seats for $1 on week nights, and $1.50 on Saturdays, Sundays, and holidays.

◆

Josephine Del Mar, a dancer who has appeared at the Colony club, last night succeeded Bernice Parks in the "Chichicastenango" dance in "Meet the People," at the Grand Opera house. Miss Del Mar will remain with the company during this final week in Chicago, and will continue with the show when it opens at the Mansfield theater in New York on Christmas night.

The Odor of Violets

By Baynard Kendrick

[Copyright: 1940: By Baynard Kendrick.]

SYNOPSIS.

Leaving their house guest, Chell Scott, Norma Tredwill goes to the city to break up the romance between her libertine ex-husband, Paul Gerente, and her stepdaughter, Barbara. She sees Barbara leaving Paul's apartment and discovers Paul murdered. Duncan Maclain, a blind detective, receives a visitor who claims to be Gerente, with orders in code from the naval intelligence. On a hunch Maclain goes to Paul's apartment and finds Cameron, who lives below Paul, in the apartment with the dead man. Cameron confesses to the murder, claiming a girl, Hilda Lestrade, witnessed it. Norma longs to ask the advice of Bunny Carter, head of the aircraft works where her stepson, Gilbert, is a designing engineer, but she does not dare for fear of implicating Barbara in the murder. Barbara disappears. In Gilbert's workroom some one pushes a wardrobe on Norma. Col. Gray, head of the New York defense plans, commissions Maclain and his partner, Spud, to investigate spy activities in connection with the murder and the bombing sight Gilbert Tredwill has designed. Maclain goes to the Tredwill with his two seeing-eye dogs, ostensibly to solve Barbara's disappearance. He discovers the plans for the bombing sight have been traced and learns from Norma that she thought Bella was hiding behind the wardrobe. Later Bella is found dead with her head cut off. Norma confesses everything she knows to Maclain. Maclain, who came upon the odor of violets in Gerente's apartment, finds it again about Bella.

INSTALMENT XXVI.

READY FOR SUMMONS.

Duncan Maclain knew that no stranger could have argued Barbara into leaving Gerente's apartment quietly. There was a chance, of course, that she had left in terror, as Norma had done, without seeing any one at all.

There was another chance, which Duncan Maclain disliked exceedingly—a chance that Babs had killed Paul; a chance that Arnold Cameron had known Thaddeus Tredwill's daughter, and was taking a murder charge to save the girl. Babs had keys to The Crags—knew every inch of the great house——

The captain's knuckles rapped sharply on the table and he irritably shoved back his chair. He crossed the room and opend the door to the hall. The trooper's footsteps approached quickly, and the officer said in a low tone, "Captain Maclain. Is there anything I can do? Sergeant King said I was to coöperate with you."

"I'm going downstairs to use the phone," said Maclain. "You might make sure that no one listens in the hall."

"I'll go with you."

"You'd better post yourself on the stairs. You can watch both upstairs and down."

"Okay," said the trooper.

Schnucke came up beside her master, but Maclain ordered her back into the room and closed the door. He was already familiar with the layout of the Tredwill home. Under the anxious eyes of the trooper he strode off confidently, stopped at the top of the stairs, found the banister, and unhesitatingly went down.

A few minutes later he had New York Police Headquarters on the phone. He got the Missing Persons bureau and asked for Sergt. Kyle.

"Duncan Maclain calling from Hartford," he said. "A confidential report of a girl named Barbara Tredwill was turned in to you this morning by G-2. Have you turned up anything yet? It's important that I knew."

"Hold it," said Kyle. Maclain could hear the rustling of papers. The sergeant spoke again, "a cab picked her up on 12th street and dropped her at 63d and Park avenue. She went in an apartment house there, and came out 20 minutes later, according to the doorman. She was staying there with friends. She had a traveling bag with her when she left. No trace from there."

"Did she take another cab?" asked Maclain.

"No. She walked off uptown toward 64th street. Beyond that the doorman doesn't know. Have you got anything?"

"A hunch," said Maclain, "that she's been kidnapped, but I would not want to put it on the air!"

He left the booth and went back upstairs accompanied by the trooper. In his room again, he fitted a record onto his portable Ediphone which Cappo had set up in a corner. Twice he played the record thru, marking the voice of the unknown man who had impersonated Paul Gerente; searching for unusual accents or pronunciations; listening intently for cadences and tones as a handwriting expert might take note of loops and whorls.

The man's diction was faultless, but the captain's face was set in lines of satisfaction when he took the record from the Ediphone. The speaker had an unconscious trick of pronunciation, a quirk of speech so slight that it had almost escaped the analytical ears of Duncan Maclain.

Once or twice he had injected an extra syllable on the vowel "i"—"cap-i-tan" instead of "cap-tain"—"con-dish-i-uns" instead of "con-dish-uns." To Maclain's impressionable hearing it marked the speaker with an ineradicable scar.

The captain got into bed and lay sleepless for a long time listening to the crackle of frost against the window pane. Russia and Finland were battling desperately. England, France, and Germany were choked in the constricting coils of war. The smaller nations of Europe stood armed in constant danger of invasion. Those nations were thousands of miles away, yet, in the brooding quiet of The Crags, Duncan Maclain felt them disturbingly near.

From somewhere in the direction of Boston he heard the drone of a late flying plane. Lying rigid, he followed the swell of the sound, traced it overhead, and relaxed with its passing.

For one terrible moment memory had carried him away, tricked him into thinking that the roar of the motor would be blotted out by the whine and crash of a life destroying bomb.

"We are at war!" He whispered into the darkness. "Every combatant in the world is against us—fighting our peace with every weapon they know." He sat up suddently and shook his fist into the darkness. "I'll beat you," he exclaimed so loudly that Schnucke stood up and came beside. "You think you've wrecked me with blindness—but I still have a brain. Your weapons of death and terror are helpless against it." He lay back on the pillow, then reached down and petted the dog beside him. "Go lie down, Schnucke, you need your sleep—you and a blind man versus a world full of fools!"

It was shortly after 7 when Sergt. King rapped at the captain's door. Cappo, bearing a tray of breakfast, was with the officer.

"I'm going upstairs to look over that girl's room again," the sergeant said laconically. "After you eat I'd like you to join me."

"I'll come," said Maclain.

"Good," The sergeant went out and Maclain addressed his giant Negro servant: "Did they make you comfortable last night, Cappo?"

"Yessah, Captain," Cappo's big hands moved with extraordinary delicacy as he arranged the breakfast tray. "I slept over the garage. This breakfast ain't exactly like Sarah would fix it, Captain."

Maclain laughed as he sat down and located the dishes on the tray. "There are other cooks beside that wife of yours, Cappo."

"Yessah," Cappo agreed doubtfully, "but seems like Sarah knows exactly what to do. That's hot cereal in the bowl, Captain, cream in the silver pitcher, and milk in the china one. You say the word and I'll open the eggs for you."

The captain ate silently while Cappo laid out a suit, drew water in the tub, and found clean underwear.

"Where's Dreist?" Maclain asked when breakfast was nearly finished.

"He's chained up in my room, Captain."

"I want you to stay close by him," said Maclain. "I don't want any one to get near him—nor any one to see him if you can help it. What's the number of the house telephone in your room?"

"Number nine, Captain."

"If I give four short rings I want you and Dreist," Maclain said impressively. "Understand?"

"Yessah." Cappo spoke from the bathroom. "How'll I know where you're ringing from?"

"There are 12 phones in the house," Maclain told him after a little consideration. "I want you to locate each one and its number. I've done so already. I'll give four short rings—and follow with the number of the phone I'm ringing from. For 11, I'll follow with two long rings—and for 12, one long and then two more. Is that clear?"

"Yessah, Captain. If you gives four short and two short I come running with Dreist to phone number two."

"Right."

Cappo busied himself about the room for a moment, then he asked, "are you going to need the car?"

"Badly, perhaps." The captain stirred the last of his coffee and drank it down. "But I'm not going to use it for that very reason. I want you to let it get out around here that something's wrong with the car. Ask about the nearest garage. If necessary, put some small thing out of adjustment—but keep yourself ready."

Man Chasing Charge Irks Young Lucille

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Here's a challenge for you, young men! Lucille is waiting to hear from you. Lucille, 19, says she's beginning to think this is a horrible world to live in, because no matter what happens, says Lucille, the girl is always blamed.

At a party recently, Lucille explains, a game was promoted by the hostess in which partners were changed at a given signal. One man guest present suggested the addition of an extra man, a single, so he said. "The girls here will feel more at home when we give them the chance to chase a man. That's what women are always doing."

"I protest against such an attitude," Lucille challenges boys. "It is not so. Not all women chase men. It just seems that regardless of what's done, the woman is always blamed for the wrong of it. One so often hears men say, when an engagement is announced: 'O, so she finally hooked him.' Why do all men believe that the only reason a girl gets a man is because she hooked him?

"I bet men couldn't answer my question without again blaming the girls. Isn't it true?"

We wouldn't get so worked up over the remarks, Lucille. The boys must have their fun, and women must get their men. True? What matters who perpetrates the chase as long as the altar goal is reached? One comfort for you, Lucille, is that the men don't put on much escape speed, if you'll notice, provided the right girls are after them.

The 'Spare Tire' Around Waist Is Easily Curbed

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Don't let those spare tires of flesh get started around your waistline. That beginning is the end of your nicely belted waist, for that fat grows and grows, and bulges and bulges, until you're soon not the girl you used to be, nor could you dream of getting into a dinner frock you wore a few seasons ago, much less the wedding gown that made you look so slim and lovely.

Adopt a couple of waist saving exercises as your very own.

You have a door to your bedroom. Close it tight. Stand with your face toward it. Put the toes of your right foot against the door and step back three foot lengths. Keep your feet and knees together, your body straight. Have your hands flat on the door, just below shoulder level. Now, lean forward, touching the door with your chin but without raising your heels, keeping the body rigid. Push back to starting position.

Using the door again, stand with right side toward, and an arm's length from, the door, with toes, heels, and knees together. Hands overhead with thumbs clasped, bend to the side until the fingertips touch the door. Bend in a straight line and keep heels on floor. Reverse position.

The crispness of a waffle depends more upon how it is baked than upon how the batter is combined or what goes into the batter. In these days of heat controled, scientific waffle bakers, a cook can be pretty sure of good results with any standard recipe.

Very little or no sugar in a plain waffle helps it in becoming crisp. Sugar has a tendency to soften the texture. A fairly large amount of shortening is a "crisper."

PLAIN WAFFLES.

[About six average.]
1½ cups sifted flour.
2½ teaspoons baking powder.
¾ teaspoon salt.
2 eggs, beaten separately.
1 cup milk.
⅓ cup melted shortening.

Sift dry ingredients. Beat egg yolks and add milk. Stir into flour mixture, add shortening, and beat enough to blend. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in preheated waffle iron.

VARIATIONS OF PLAIN WAFFLES.

CHEESE WAFFLES: Add ¾ cup grated cheese to batter before folding in the egg whites, or sprinkle grated cheese rather thickly over the waffle batter after putting it in the iron.

PECAN WAFFLES: Add ¾ cup broken pecans and a teaspoon of vanilla to the batter, or sprinkle chopped pecans on batter after placing it in the iron.

BACON WAFFLES: Add several crumbled strips of bacon to the batter or lay strips of uncooked bacon over the waffle batter and let it cook with the waffle.

ORANGE WAFFLES: Use orange juice for half the liquid in the recipe and add the grated rind of an orange to the batter.

WHOLE WHEAT WAFFLES: Use half whole wheat flour and half white in the recipe.

Waffles may be served with any kind of sirup, or jelly you like, or may be used as crisp bases for creamed meat, fish or vegetables.

Gingerbread and devil's food cake batters may be baked in a waffle iron. The resulting "waffles" usually are topped by whipped cream, ice cream or a fruit sauce, and are served as dessert.

Electric waffle irons never should be washed with soap and water. They should be wiped carefully with a slightly damp cloth after each use.

Luxemburg Royal Family Expected to Visit Here in January

The royal family of the duchy of Luxembourg may visit Chicago in late January, Fred A. Gilson, secretary to John Marsch, Luxembourg consul in Chicago, said yesterday.

Plans have not been completed, but the Grand Duchess Charlotte, Prince Consort Felix, and Crown Prince John, who is 19, probably will arrive around Jan. 26, Mr. Gilson said. The royal family now is in Montreal, from where the grand duchess is operating her government. The five younger children probably will remain there.

The royal family fled their little duchy, a hazardous little spot between France and Germany, on May 10. Pierre du Pont, minister of state in the Luxembourg government, may accompany them to Chicago, as may Victor Bodson, minister of justice.

Dec. 17, 1940.

Universal day—Avoid confusion. Not a good shopping day, as you might be in a mental fog.

Using numbers—When you have found your personal year, then you find out what your personal month is for whatever month you want by adding the number of the month and your personal year. Suppose you want to know what January is for you, and your personal year [which is given on your personal chart] is an eight. You add one [because January is the first month] and eight, giving your personal month for January the number 9. What you might expect in a nine personal month in an eight personal year is explained in the personal charts based on your birthday.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1940: By Ely Culbertson.]

Every reader of contract books, newspaper columns, or contract magazines has had drummed into him the undesirability of avoidable finesses. Hundreds of example hands are produced for his benefit, showing how an elimination and throw-in play, or a sure squeeze would obviate a finesse. There is another side to this question, however. Finesses often are unavoidable, and when that is so, it is vital to take them at a convenient stage. The expert who chucked the slam contract in the hand shown below would not have been guilty of missing a squeeze or throw-in play, but he did slip badly on a much more elementary play.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	1 spade	2 hearts	Pass
6 hearts	Pass	Pass	Pass

*South's leap from two to six hearts was not nearly as flashy or "wild" as many readers may consider it. South reasoned, and with logic, that any sort of sound free raise on North's part virtually guaranteed a good play for a slam. As a matter of fact, North's free raise was distinctly weak, and the slam contract resulting from it was far from ideal.

If West had been slightly clairvoyant and had opened a club, declarer would have had no chance whatsoever. Even on the badly selected trump opening, the chances were none too good. Declarer won in his own hand with the ace, and laid down the spade queen in order to establish the king for the discard of a club. West won with the ace, and then presented declarer with an opportunity where none really existed. He returned the jack of spades, on the theory that dummy's king always would be good. As it happened, this return presented declarer with a vital entry to the dummy, but he did not recognize it as such. He discarded his losing club, and then, instead of taking the unavoidable diamond finesse while he still was in the dummy, he laid down the heart queen. After that, even tho the adverse hearts broke 2-2 and the diamond king was "on side," the contract was hopeless. Dummy now was down to two low trumps. A successful finesse to the diamond jack meant virtually nothing because East still had the suit amply stopped, and declarer could neither ruff it out nor return to dummy for another finesse.

Had the diamond finesse been taken when the spade king was won, and then the heart queen utilized as an entry for a second finesse, dummy's two remaining trumps would have been enough to ruff away South's two losing diamonds.

Adjust School to Pupil Needs, Teachers Told

Democracy's existence may depend on adjusting the public school to the individual instead of pouring children into an educational mold and discarding them if they fail to fit, Dr. Ben D. Wood, professor of psychology at Columbia university, said yesterday. He spoke before 1,200 Chicago teachers at Lane Technical High school.

The teachers, who represented every grade and high school in the city, were those who have taken active parts in developing the adjustment service—or "no failure" program—sponsored by Dr. William H. Johnson, superintendent of schools.

"Your pupil won't become a selfish little beast," Dr. Wood assured his audience, "if you study him, find out what he needs, and do all that you can to give him what he needs. In fact, you will help to make him an individual, a capable citizen.

"On the other hand, if the school systems demand that each pupil live up to a certain set standard—no matter if his capabilities lie in an entirely different direction—then, indeed, are we aiding regimentation. And with regimentation comes the fall of democracy."

Dr. Wood enlarged on the teacher's part in the study of pupils, which he said is one of the most important functions in a civilized society.

"It means constant study," he told the teachers. "You must follow their progress from year to year. Each pupil has his own little quirks, capabilities, and desires. Those must be discovered if schools are to turn out men and women fitted to do the tasks they can do best."

Dr. Wood complimented Dr. Johnson and the teachers on the work they have done in the Chicago system during the four and one-half years the adjustment service has been in effect. He said, however, that a step or two remain before the program attains its full growth.

"There are still those who believe a child with musical or mechanical talents should be made to master mathematics—should, in fact, be branded a failure if he can't," Dr. Wood said. "These hidebound people constitute one of education's paramount problems."

The Housewife

A welcome remembrance for any woman who prides herself in being a good cook is a rack of purified spices. These spices are not just the ordinary kind. They are selected from the best the market affords and then they are purified. They are packed in white milk-glass jars, each one labeled, and ranged on little shelves in neat cabinets. Several sets of these spices are available. A popular one for homes is made up of the following: Allspice, ginger, garlic salt, ground cloves, celery, ground cinnamon, dry mustard, nutmeg, paprika, black pepper, poultry seasoning, and roast meat seasoning. Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., Dec. 16.—Mention the word "extra" to Kenneth Thomson, who quit being a good and successful actor to become executive secretary of the Screen Actors' guild, and he shudders. The word means excitement on radio programs, big news in newspaper offices but in the S. A. G. it means headaches. Despite a continuous propaganda of discouragement people still flock to Hollywood to become extras and they haven't a chance in the world.

They come, Thomson estimates, at the rate of 3,000 a year, yet the extra lists are closed. Only in special instances such as the request of a director that some old timer be given a job will the guild accept a new member in this classification. These dispensations run to about 100 a year.

"Then why do they keep on coming?" I asked last week.

"I don't know," Thomson said, "but I do know this paradox: they don't come because they are ambitious. They don't dream of becoming stars or getting rich. I think they want to become extras because they can't do anything else. The minimum wage is $5.50 a day, which is high for casual labor, and everybody gets paid off in cash every day.

"We have about 6,000 extras in the guild and not more than 300 of these have any ambition. We're going to cut that list down because the studios obviously can't support that many. In 1939 the average yearly earning of an extra was $317 and it's no better this year. And here's an interesting thing: Actors understand unemployment; it's part of the trade. But extras don't, and are forever complaining that the industry owes them a living. And the cowboys! There are about a thousand of them and they are firmly convinced they are the backbone of the movies."

For months the S. A. G. has been wrestling with the cowboy problem. It plans to thin the ranks by giving tests—but nobody has yet devised a test that will be accurate without costing a fortune. Experts proposed a simple one: To have a cowboy saddle and bridle a horse, ride a figure 8, dismount and unsaddle. They said they could tell from this whether a cowboy was a good rider, but the punchers themselves objected. They said it wasn't adequate, and that even now the lives of competent men are jeopardized by their having to ride with inexperienced horsemen.

Getting back to ambition: Leo Roston's just completed Carnegie-Rockefeller survey shows that only 1.9 per cent of Hollywood's actors began as extras. Nearly 85 per cent have a stage background and half of them have been to college. So even an ambitious extra has precious little chance.

A few, of course, earn fair money. I went over the guild's ledgers showing individual earnings, and on a very close-set page there were three or four who have earned more than $1,000 this year. Few get up to $2,000. These usually are competent and well known "dress extras," but a few get fairly steady employment for odd reasons. One man, for instance, is popular because he's a ribber—a professional insulter rather than an actor.

In a bank of guild card files 6,000 extras are indexed and cross-indexed for qualifications and you can find experts in any trade or occupation you can think of. Analytical chemists, chiropractors, master mariners, tea plantation workers. In case anybody should happen to need one, there's an armless man. And one bowlegged woman. "And we can get you up three championship football teams any time," says Thomson.

The Screen Actors' guild offices in Hollywood boulevard look and are run like a bank and the bookkeeping is an instantaneous affair. No studio will hire an actor or an extra whose dues are not paid up so each day's employment lists are checked against the guild's books. Membership costs $50 for initiation. Extras and junior apprentices pay $18 a year dues. Actors, or A members, pay according to salary—a minimum of $30 and a maximum of $100 a year. The guild collects about $200,000 a year, spends within $5,000 of that amount. A big part of its job is policing its own contract with the producers. It's a difficult task because the contract is extremely complicated.

Dress Parade Jacket Ideal Gift Selection

BY REA SEEGER.

No fashion-wise clothes collector ever has too many dress parade jackets or will admit it. With such dazzling and high colored jackets any wardrobe can be transformed in a jiffy just by wearing a different color, a new design, or a daringly different contrast.

Starting with the glittering sequin evening jackets, there isn't any color or style you can't find if a jacket is what you seek as a gift. Boleros, fitted affairs with peplums, and the extra long box coats with long sleeves come in vivid green, Christmas red, winking blacks, the flattering powdery pastels and a stunning dead white.

Thin wool jackets liberally beaded in fanciful designs offer another idea. They'll top short or long skirts with great distinction. More simple models have appliqué trim or braid festooning in the same color.

Pale yellow and dull gold are particularly effective high fashion colors this season. The supply of livid red jackets in wool, silk, velvet, or brocade is virtually endless. Braid in gold or silver, beading in bright contrast, bands of rhinestones and sequins enliven these festive jackets so that they sparkle like a Christmas tree.

Long sleeved ribbed silk jackets are precisely tailored and then lavishly encrusted with gold or pink gold sequins on the lapels. They also feature red, pink, blue, and white in this ribbed silk tailored number. Black dull wool in long torso lines has glinting gold braid trim. Zippers up the front are a part of the necessary equipment, keeping these form revealing jackets snug around the ribs.

White is rating a tremendous fashion ovation. Whether they are beaded in pastel colors, whether they dazzle with gold braid or appear frosty with silver appliqué or go dramatic with jet bead trim these snow-white beauties are dress parade units without equal.

Brand new is the lastex velvetlike material that makes supersmart jackets with either short or long sleeves. These fit with emphasis and have a smart knot weave. Bagherra jackets and the velvet models have the new square cut neckline, long sleeves, and quantities of beadwork and bright embroidery. Some have the front trimmed with horizontal bands of dull gold braid. The result is the resplendent appearance of a dress parade military jacket. Prices range from around $5 up to more than $20, and there isn't a dull ordinary jacket in any collection.

Play Is Good for Souls of Old and Young

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1940: News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

If you've managed to take any of my really altruistic advice in regard to easing up on the "business" side of Christmas, so you'll have more time to get the "feel" of the season, here's one more way to enter into the spirit of Christmas:

Don't park all your holiday feeling at the base of the tree on Christmas night, with the feeling "Now it's all over," and wake up Thursday morning all practical and busy again putting the holiday behind you.

Down in Virginia, where a number of people I know have grown up, they give themselves up to fun and gayety and visiting until after the turn of the year. I think it's a fine idea. Life gets so utilitarian thruout the year that when we have a legitimate excuse for merrymaking we should make the most of it. Play does give color to life, and relaxation, and even if we're tired after it, it is a kind of tiredness that brings refreshment, too.

So it possible, I think people who have children should try to put aside some of their everyday duties during the gay interim between Christmas and the New Year. Almost everywhere there are special events planned for parents and children, interesting festive things that provide opportunity for them to play together.

But if you want to, or live where you must create your own fun, that is easily done, too. Simple parties with the children, trips here and there, all sorts of pleasant ideas will come to you if you plan so you have time for them. Let the holiday spirit have its way with you, as they did in old England when only Twelfth Night marked the end of Christmas gayety and the Yule log.

LOUIS KEEPS TITLE; M'COY LASTS FIVE ROUNDS

OHIO STATE ACCEPTS FRANCIS SCHMIDT'S RESIGNATION

'I BEAT BOARD TO PUNCH,' SAYS BUCKEYE COACH

Four Assistants Also Quit.

Francis Schmidt.

Columbus, O., Dec. 16 [Special].—The resignation of Francis A. Schmidt as head football coach at Ohio State university was accepted tonight by the Ohio State athletic board. The board had been hastily summoned in special session upon the receipt of Schmidt's resignation this morning.

Simultaneous with the action on Schmidt's petition, the board accepted the resignations of four other members of the coaching staff. They are Ernie Godfrey, line coach; Sid Gilman, end coach; Ed Blickle, back field coach, and Gomer Jones, a scout and assistant line coach.

Schmidt did not attend the board meeting, but commented dryly that "the board is dissatisfied and I'm just beating them to the punch."

Effective June 30.

At the conclusion of the two and a half hour board meeting, an official statement announced that the resignations would become effective on June 30, when coaching contracts expire. Ohio State employs its coaches on a year to year basis, altho it broke precedent in 1934 when it signed Schmidt, starting him off on a three year contract.

Fritz Mackey also resigned as freshman football coach, but will remain as baseball coach. Blickle, the board announced, would remain as an assistant basketball coach.

Schmidt's release follows Ohio State's worst season in 10 years, a season in which an illegal player incident, charges of unfair practice against an opposing coach, rumors of Schmidt's dismissal, and the appointment of a special committee to investigate the Buckeye football situation, all were climaxed by a 40 to 0 defeat at the hands of Michigan.

Rumors Come to Surface.

It was the three man investigation of his régime that finally persuaded Schmidt, a disciple of the razzle-dazzle school of football, to send his resignation to Athletic Director L. W. St. John after he had repeatedly called rumors of his release "a lot of poppycock." Asked to comment on the investigation, Schmidt, who confirmed his resignation as soon as the board went into session tonight, said:

"I arrived in town late last night after scouting the Southern California-Notre Dame game and I don't know a thing about what's going on."

Later he discussed his resignation and reactions to the Ohio State fans' unrest over the recent season in which what was expected to be one of the Buckeyes' greatest teams suffered four defeats and won only four games.

Recites Record.

"I have been happy here at Ohio State," Schmidt said, "and I have worked hard. But some of the folks around here evidently don't believe that football teams have their ups and downs.

"We have been pretty successful here at Ohio, with a couple of Big Ten championships, several seconds and a couple of fourths. That's not bad in the toughest league in the country.

"Last season wasn't so good—we won four and lost four. But our material wasn't as good as most people believed. Then, in spring practice, we went thru without any of our five quarter backs. Two were ineligible, one was playing baseball, another was on the golf team, and the fifth had a knee operation.

"That handicapped us when the season started, but a flock of injuries hit us, too."

No Mention of Successor.

Schmidt, a native of Nebraska, came to Ohio State in 1934 from Texas Christian, where he had coached the Horned Frogs into two Southwest conference championships and a tie for a third in five years. Early in his career at Columbus he gained dubious fame for an order to his team to "show 'em no mercy" when Capt. Regis Monahan, between halves of the Chicago game, suggested that the Maroons didn't seem to know what was going on and it might be sporting to quit bearing down.

Nothing was said in the board's announcement about a successor, altho it is believed the board has been preparing for a change in the Buckeye coaching setup since midseason. Schmidt likewise said he had no plans for the future.

In his seven years at Ohio State Schmidt's teams won 39 games, lost 16, and tied one. In 1934 it tied for the Big Ten title and in 1939 it won it outright.

A Well Beloved Guest.

[To S. D.]

When comes the time that some beloved friend
Must leave your house and go upon his way—
After a rest within its sheltering walls
Must all too shortly end his little stay;
Your mood is not gray grief, but in its stead
A gentle sadness that such things must end,
And somehow now this house in which he paused
Seems dearer still for harboring such a friend.

When comes the time that someone we well loved
Must leave the House of Life and go away,
No empty bitterness should fill our heart,
But, rather, gentle memories of his stay.
Just as we cherish every room wherein
A well-loved guest found respite from all care,
So should the House of Life be dearer now
Because the loved one, gone, once lingered there!

DE PAUL VICTOR, LOYOLA LOSER IN DOUBLE HEADER

U. C. L. A. Beaten, 30-23; Georgetown Wins, 38-35.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Chicago's third season of basketball double headers opened last night in the Coliseum in the exact pattern of most of last year's games. Before a crowd of 7,000, DePaul's undefeated Blue Demons whipped U. C. L. A., 30 to 23. In the first game, Loyola fell before Georgetown university's rally in the closing minutes, 38 to 35.

The Loyola-Georgetown game was a faster, smoother exhibition, however, and had the Rambler varsity remained intact the result might have been different. A deliberate foul by Art Double, sophomore forward, his fourth of the game, sent him to the bench. On this foul, Georgetown's Ken Engels tied the score at 32 all.

Gainer Leads De Paul.

There never was any question of the outcome of the De Paul scrap with U. C. L. A. Co-Capt. Elmer Gainer led the attack with five field goals, three in the first half, and one penalty shot. His size was a determining factor on defense and he also was the hub of De Paul's somewhat erratic passing attack. Jackie Robinson, star U. C. L. A. forward, had trouble escaping Gainer, but while he played less than half of the time, he scored five points.

U. C. L. A. spurted within two points of De Paul early in the second half, but thereafter was the victim of its own shooting inefficiency.

While Kiernan's scoring won—the Georgetown forward had been rested during most of the second half—it was the phenomenal shooting of Francis O'Grady that kept the visitors in the running in the second half. O'Grady kept pace with the Loyola quintet, getting three goals and then after his teammate, Ken Engels, had counted a follow-up, he added another pair of long shots. The fifth goal by O'Grady sent Georgetown into the lead for the first time since the first two minutes of the game, 31 to 30.

In Comes Kiernan.

From here on the teams battled for the final advantage. Art Double's field goal sent Loyola ahead but Engels tied the score on Double's fourth foul. Free throws by George Wenskus, for Loyola, and by Engels left the count deadlocked at 33-33. Wenskus broke this with a penalty shot, but Capt. Irv Rizzi made an easy follow up for a Georgetown lead, 35 to 34. Vin Graham then tied the game on another free throw. Here Kiernan staged the winning exhibition.

De Paul Leads at Half.

De Paul held a 13 to 10 lead at the end of the half. U. C. L. A. seemed bothered by the height of the De Paul men, and their short passing, rolling offense never did function properly. Jackie Robinson, Negro star, was on the bench for more than 10 minutes, but finally contributed one point on a free throw.

WHITE SOX TRADE KNOTT TO A'S FOR DARIO LODIGIANI

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

James J. Dykes, whose trading talents got him nowhere at the recent Atlanta and Chicago baseball meetings, yesterday consummated a deal in behalf of his White Sox.

Dykes phoned Sox headquarters from Philadelphia that he had met up with Connie Mack of the Athletics and had given the latter Pitcher Jack Knott for one Dario Lodigiani, a lad who can work at second or third base and even at shortstop.

Thus Dykes has relieved the pressing need for a utility infielder and at the same time landed a player who might be good enough for regular second basing in the event Rookie Don Kolloway, recalled from Oklahoma City, finds the grade too steep. It is the Sox manager's present intention to start Kolloway at the position next spring.

Starts Pro Career at Oakland.

Lodigiani is one of the numerous Italian ball players produced in recent years on the San Francisco diamonds. He played high school ball there, signed with Oakland of the Pacific Coast league in 1935 and was promptly farmed out to Vancouver where he hit .396. Back at Oakland in 1936 he batted .284 but when he boosted himself into a .327 bat wielder in 1937 the Athletics stepped in and closed a deal for his services. His hits that year included 39 doubles, 14 triples, and 18 homers, all of which indicated he has some power.

Lodigiani, who is 24 years old, was with the Athletics thruout 1938, batting .280. In 1939 he played 89 games at third and 28 at second, batting .260. Six of his safe blows were homers and 22 went for two bases that year. Last spring, after appearing in one game with the Athletics, he was shipped to Toronto, being recalled in the fall. With the Leafs he confined himself to second base, batting .281. He committed 31 errors in 141 games for a fielding mark of .962.

Arm Weakness Hampers Knott.

The 33 year old Knott came to the Sox from the Browns June 11, 1938 in trade for Pitcher Bill Cox. He finished that season with a record of 6 victories and 12 defeats. In 1939 he won 11 and lost only 6. Last season he captured 11 and dropped 9 decisions. Altho possessed of a quantity of pitching stuff Knott's right arm isn't strong, hence his tendency to weaken after about seven innings. Last year he was in 25 games, but only four of these were complete performances.

During the baseball meetings Dykes tried to wangle the Browns out of Don Heffner, but the door was slammed in his face. The wily Cleveland club was more than willing to fix him up, at a price of course, with either Oscar Grimes or Russell Peters. Grimes was injured when hit in the face by a ball last season and reports indicate he hasn't fully recovered. For that reason Dykes wouldn't consider the proposal.

Jenkins Works Outdoors Despite a Heavy Rain

Pompton Lakes, N. J., Dec. 16 [Special].—An early morning downpour forced Lew Jenkins, world's lightweight champion, to don his overshoes and raincoat as he began to put the finishing touches to his training grind for Friday night's 10 round contest with Fritzie Zivic, Pittsburgh welterweight champion, in the Garden.

LOUIS BLAMES LONG LAYOFF FOR POOR SHOWING

Boston, Mass., Dec. 16 (AP). — An apologetic Joe Louis, who appeared slightly worried over the inroads several months of idleness had made in his magnificent fighting machinery, had little to gloat about tonight when he retired to his dressing room after successfully defending his heavyweight title against Al McCoy.

"It was a bad fight," Louis said as he beat the newspapermen to the first verbal punch. "I must have looked as bad out there as I did the last time I was here." [On his previous Boston visit, seven years ago, Max Marek of Chicago knocked Louis down seven times in a national amateur semifinal.]

"That McCoy gave me plenty of trouble with his bobbing and weaving," admitted Joe. "He moved around so much that I had trouble catching him with my right and I had to left jab him. I know I missed plenty of lefts, but when you've been idle for five months you're bound to miss a lot of them."

Louis was unable to recall a blow that made any impression on him.

"McCoy can't punch," he explained, "but he sure can make you look bad."

"I wanted to keep going, and I could have gone the limit, but they wouldn't let me come out for the sixth," McCoy explained. "Louis hits harder than they say he does. Those rights he landed on my body in the first round almost paralyzed me and I had trouble straightening up.

"I think Billy Conn is a much better boxer than Louis but, of course, he can't punch as hard. If I hadn't been half blinded, I'm sure I could have gone the 15 rounds and I'd be glad to go in with him again."

Northwestern Takes On Michigan Swim Team

Ann Arbor, Mich., Dec. 16 (AP).—Coach Matt Mann, who was able to talk only two Western conference schools into dual meets with Michigan's national championship swimming team this season, announced today Northwestern had been added to the schedule for a meet in Evanston, Ill., Feb. 20. Michigan's only conference meet at home, with Purdue Feb. 8, has been moved up to Jan. 25. The other Big Ten opponent, Iowa, will be met Feb. 21 in Iowa City.

CUT EYE FORCES OUT BOSTONIAN AT START OF 6TH

13,334 Pay $46,980 to See Fight.

Boston, Mass., Dec. 16 (AP).—Joe Louis came back from his six months' vacation to an easy job of work tonight, but he wasn't the devastating puncher of old in disposing of Al McCoy, an overgrown light heavyweight from Boston.

It took Louis five full rounds to cut down a fellow he outweighed by 21½ pounds and who had no more punch than grape juice in his fists. After taking a beating for 15 minutes, McCoy, his left eye closed and his body red from right hand shots, was unable to come up for the sixth round. Commissioner George Laplante ruled the bell had rung for the sixth and that Louis was awarded a technical knockout victory in that round.

The second largest crowd ever to turn out for a fight in the Boston garden enjoyed itself while it lasted, but didn't like the finish, booing as the public address system announced that McCoy's eye was in bad condition and that he had refused to come out for the sixth round.

Louis Earns $17,000.

The attendance was announced as 13,334, with a gross gate of $46,980 and a net of $44,844, of which Louis received between $17,000 and $18,000. The crowd was second in size for the Boston garden only to that for the Jim Maloney-Tom Heeney bout 11 years ago.

Louis showed the effects of the long layoff since he disposed of Arturo Godoy last June. The champion's timing, particularly with his right hand, was off, and for some time he didn't seem to know just what to do about McCoy's circling away tactics and half crouching style. As a result, altho he floored the Bostonian for no count with three crunching rights to the short ribs in the first round, Louis failed to put him down once after that. In addition, Joe took some desperation right hand pokes to the jaw.

McCoy Lacks Power.

McCoy was game and did all he could, but he just was shy on power in his fists. He reddened Joe's nose with straight left hands several times, and in the fourth and fifth pitched right hand swings that whistled around Louis' ears. A couple landed, and one—in the fifth—nailed Joe so hard on the chin that he blinked.

Otherwise, Louis was the whole show. He stalked the backing, circling McCoy thruout and banged away. He drove three clublike rights to the ribs in the first that put McCoy down on one knee, but Al bounced up quickly. In the third, Louis drew blood from McCoy's nose and started working on the left eye. He raised a small welt under the eye in that round, puffed it some more with right hands in the fourth, and had it closed in the fifth.

He'll Fight Conn in June.

McCoy was tired and bruised as he returned to his corner at the end of the fifth. He sat down on his chair as his handlers tried to work him into shape to continue. However, he patted his eye and rubbed his midsection as his seconds informed Referee Johnny Martin that McCoy was all thru. Louis weighed 202¼ pounds, McCoy 180¾.

Immediately after Louis disposed of his 27 year old opponent tonight, Promoter Mike Jacobs announced that the champion and Billy Conn would fight next June. Conn, who was at ringside tonight, announced he was giving up his world's light heavyweight championship to point exclusively for the Louis bout. They will sign Friday in New York, Jacobs said.

LOUIS TO BOX NOVAK

Boston, Mass., Dec. 16 (AP).—Promoter Mike Jacobs announced today that Joe Louis would appear in a benefit fight in Kansas City against Tony Novak, Chicagoland Golden Gloves heavyweight champion in 1938. The date has not been set.

"The fight will come off," Jacobs said, when asked who and when Louis would battle for the benefit of a new and modernistic nondenominational church, planned by Dr. Burris Jenkins of Kansas City. Jacobs said all details of the benefit fight would have to await his return to New York. Novak lives in Kansas City.

Jacobs has tried to arrange a fight a month schedule for Louis that would carry him up until next April, and, while no final word was forthcoming, it was indicated the benefit battle would be fitted in between two of the monthly fights.

Hold Rites Today for Onetime Baseall Star

Worcester, Mass., Dec. 16 [Special]. Private funeral services for William R. [Billy] Hamilton, baseball immortal whose base stealing and run scoring records still stand, will be held at his home here tomorrow. He died yesterday at the age of 74. He made major league fame in the '90s as an outfielder with Boston and Philadelphia National league teams. With Philadelphia in 1891, he stole 115 bases, 19 more than Ty Cobb's best in 1915.

WHIZZER WHITE WHIZZES HIS WAY TO NEW LAURELS

Lions' Star Again Leads Pro League in Yardage.

Byron [Whizzer] White, the erstwhile Oxford law student, set something of an all-time football record this year when for the third time in as many playing seasons and with three different teams he won national honors in ground gaining.

Picking up five hundred and fourteen yards in 146 attempts for the Detroit Lions, the scholarly Coloradoan regained the National Football league individual championship he vacated last year to pursue his studies in England and at Yale. White won the title first as a rookie with the Pittsburgh Steelers in 1938. The season before as a senior at the University of Colorado he was the leading college ground gainer in the nation.

John Drake Is Second.

White's performance at Detroit, to whom he was sold by the Steelers for $5,000, was fifty-three yards short of his winning mark in 1938, when he carried the ball six more times for the hapless Steelers, then known as the Pirates. His five hundred and fourteen yards was thirty-four more than John Drake, Cleveland full back, made to finish second, and forty more than Tuffy Leemans, New York half back, who was third. Drake and Leemans both carried the ball less times than White.

Nolting Paces Bears.

Ray Nolting of the Bears, perhaps the most underrated back in the league, was the leading Chicago ground gainer, finishing seventh with three hundred and seventy-three yards in 78 attempts. He was followed by Joe Maniaci, Bear full back, whose 84 attempts netted three hundred and sixty-eight yards.

Marshall Goldberg led the Cardinals, packing the ball 87 times for three hundred and twenty-five yards. This was more than twice as much as Goldberg gained as a rookie last year when he came to the Cardinals from the University of Pittsburgh heralded as the greatest running back of the year. He made only one hundred and fifty-two yards in 56 attempts in 1939.

Bill Osmanski, the Bears' thunderbolt, who led the league last year with six hundred and ninety-nine yards in 121 attempts, missed a chance to repeat when injuries kept him out of five games. He finished far down the list with one hundred and ninety-two yards in 50 attempts.

For CHRISTMAS—Give Yourself a GOOD HEAD OF HAIR
When you were born, Nature presented your scalp with the structure necessary to grow hair. Your hair DID grow until some local scalp trouble, such as dandruff (dry scales or greasy-pasty scalp film), itchy scalp, or abnormal hair-fall made it impossible for your hair growing structure to continue to function normally. Thomas treatment overcomes the 14 local scalp ills which lead to baldness . . . dandruff disappears, abnormal hair-fall stops, and normal hair growth is promoted. Why not give yourself a good head of hair for Christmas? Call today for a free scalp examination.

MARIUCCI ONLY HAWK NOT HURT; HE'S JUST TIRED

But Most of 'Em Will Face Canadiens.

Games Tonight

Toronto Maple Leafs at Boston Bruins.
Detroit Red Wings at New York Americans.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

The Blackhawks still are in a tie for third place in the National Hockey league standings as this day breaks. Moreover, they are determined to stay high in the standings even if they have to employ Press Agent Joe Farrell, flanked by President Bill Tobin and Envoy Shadow Hayden as one of their lines.

What with one injury after another, Manager Paul Thompson has had an awful time keeping all the team's playsuits filled. If the plane service between Chicago and the Providence, R. I., farm rink were to be snowed under, the Tobin-Farrell-Hayden line certainly would glide into action, tho currently these athletes have been more useful helping with the splints, the bandages, the liniments, and the patent ray machine. The only first aid accessory the Hawks haven't needed is smelling salts. Their courage and spirit in adversity has been remarkable.

Those Leafs! Tsk! Tsk!

The Blackhawks' physical miseries were complicated yesterday by mental anguish. And why not after Saturday and Sunday night trimmings at the hands of the marvelous league leading Toronto Maple Leafs? Not a player that couldn't figure a moral victory in each contest, but the fact remained the Leafs won Saturday night, 2 to 1, on two third period goals and, here Sunday night, conquered, 4 to 1, on three goals negotiated in the last four minutes and 41 seconds.

Three of the Hawks, two who didn't play Sunday night and one who did, are in Garfield Park hospital under the care of the team physician, Dr. H. F. Meacham. All three, Cully Dahlstrom, Red MacKay, and Art Wiebe, have injured knees. Dahlstrom and MacKay may be out of service for at least 10 days, but Wiebe will play against the Canadiens in Chicago Stadium Thursday night.

Under the care of Trainer Eddie Froelich in the Hawks' own sick bay were Mush March, Max Bentley, Joe Cooper, and Earl Seibert. These gents all are badly bruised, but all are eager to get into action Thursday night.

Mariucci Is Just Tired.

The only member of the defense department who did not require medical or surgical attention yesterday was Johnny Mariucci, former University of Minnesota football and hockey star, who flew in from Providence just in time to take the ice against the Leafs.

With all their aches and pains the Hawks will go back to practice routines today. In addition there is to be a new wrinkle. After the mass drills Manager Thompson will hold classes in marksmanship for individual rookies. In almost every defeat the rookies have been able to get inside the defense only to shoot wide of the cage.

Schaefer Balks at Terms of Cue Challenge Match

Jake Schaefer, greatest of all balkline billiardists, who last week demanded that Willie Hoppe defend his world 3 cushion title before the 1941 championship tournament opens on Jan. 13, yesterday balked at terms for a challenge match made by Promoter Norman E. Bensinger. Hoppe signed Saturday to defend his crown against Schaefer before the $20,000 tourney gets under way and also entered the tournament.

Schaefer, also a holdout for the tournament, wants a 300 point challenge match instead of the 480 point event proposed. Hoppe, however, stated he would play Schaefer at anywhere from 100 to 1,000 points, but Bensinger wants the match to embrace four days from Jan. 6 to 9, inclusive, with eight blocks of 60 points each. Schaefer's request for 300 points would, of course, comprise six blocks of 50 points each. A meeting between Bensinger and Schaefer is scheduled for today to try to iron out all details for the challenge match and tourney.

Joliet Preps Await Debut at St. George

Catholic High of Joliet, one of the outstanding teams in the national Catholic basketball tourney over a period of years, will make its debut in the St. George invitational tournament which starts Thursday in Evanston.

Among the dark horse entries is St. Gregory, a north side co-educational school. St. Philip, always a threat, may surprise.

The tourney will open in the St. George gymnasium, 350 Sherman street, Evanston, Thursday night at 7:30 with three games. Three contests will be played Friday afternoon starting at 3 o'clock. Three more Friday night will conclude the first round. Seventeen teams will compete.

FRANKLIN STOPS SELMAN MARTIN IN 4TH ROUND

Dubs Halts Eulien in 7th in Marigold Ring.

Lem Franklin redeemed himself for a defeat at the hands of Paul Hartnek for the Chicagoland Golden Gloves heavyweight championship in 1937 by stopping Selman Martin in the fourth round of a scheduled 10 round bout in Marigold Gardens last night. Martin, who earlier had scored an eight round victory over Hartnek in Omaha, was saved by the bell in the third round. He was sent to the canvas for a three count in the fourth, but after Martin regained his feet Referee Frank McAdams awarded the verdict to Franklin on a technical knockout. It was the first time Martin has failed to go the distance during a two year campaign.

Harvey Dubs, hard punching lightweight of Windsor, Ont., scored a seven round technical knockout over Eu Eulien in a secondary feature scheduled for eight rounds. Eulien was floored once in the fourth round and three times in the sixth before Referee Frank Sikora stopped it as the seventh round started. Jimmy and Billy Pierce, fighting middleweight brothers of Milwaukee, registered four round victories in preliminary matches, the former beating Tony Reno, and Bill conquering Stanley Murczek. Speedy Schaefer, local 160 pounder, pounded out a decision in four rounds over Johnny O'Hara.

The attendance was 1,179 and gross receipts were $1,331.88.

Bill Rand was in a happy mood yesterday afternoon following receipt of Steve Mamakos' signed contract for a 10 round nontitle bout against Middleweight Champion Tony Zale in Chicago Stadium Jan. 10. The match will be held under Rand's auspices.

"Now we're all set," Rand beamed, gleefully rubbing his hands. But he wasn't all set, as he learned to his dismay a little later when it was announced plans are being completed to have Zale meet Tony [Cianciola] Martin, Wisconsin 160 pound title holder, in an overweight match in Milwaukee New Year's afternoon.

Sam Pian and Art Winch, managers of the champion, tried to assure Rand that Martin was a soft touch, but the Chicago promoter remains somewhat dubious, because he regards Martin as a tough man. However, he realizes he hasn't the power to stop the Milwaukee encounter.

Max Baer stopped off in Chicago yesterday en route from Boston, where the musical comedy in which he was being starred ended a three weeks' run on Saturday. He was bound for Sacramento, Cal., to spend the holidays with his family. He was accompanied by Ken Overlin, New York middleweight ruler, and Trainer Issy Kline. After a brief pause Overlin continued on to his fireside in Decatur. He will not box again until after Jan. 1. He likely will make the next defense of his title against the survivor of an elimination engagement in Madison Square Garden Jan. 3 between Billy Soose, uncrowned champion, and Tami Mauriello.

Trick Clubs Prohibited by Golf Rulers

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The United States Golf association yesterday announced from its New York headquarters the adoption of manufacturing specifications for markings on iron clubs which clarify the present general rule.

This latter provides "that club faces shall not bear any lines, dots, or other markings with sharp or rough edges, made for the obvious purpose of putting a cut on the ball." The move was made after nearly a year of experimentation by the U. S. G. A., a great deal of it in Chicago's Illinois Institute of Technology.

The new specifications will become effective on Jan. 1, 1942, but the members of the National Association of Golf Club Manufacturers already have agreed that all iron clubs manufactured on and after Jan. 1, 1941, will comply with these specifications in their entirety.

New Ruling Explained.

The U. S. G. A. announcement went on to say that it did not feel the specifications will result in any financial hardship on the golf public, as they will not apply until after Jan. 1, 1942, to those tournaments conducted under U. S. G. A. auspices.

Reasons for the clarification of the general rule are three. The first is that in recent years the association's attention has been called to several iron clubs which did not conform to the spirit of the general rule. Another reason was that manufacturers and players found the general rule difficult to interpret and were constantly seeking specific information on its limitations. Finally, the U. S. G. A. makes it plain that it wishes all competitors for its championships shall play with clubs conforming to the rule, and that such championships shall be won by the skill of individuals rather than by advantages gained thru their equipment.

Specifications Are Technical.

The new specifications are quite technical, very detailed, and are intended only for the guidance of the makers of iron clubs. However, it is possible for the individual player to determine for himself, with the aid of a scale graduated in thirty-seconds of an inch and perhaps with a small magnifying glass, whether his clubs are within the limits of these specifications.

DE PAUL VICTOR, LOYOLA LOSER IN DOUBLE HEADER

Tommy Chapman in the final two minutes gave Iowa's quintet a 39 to 37 victory over Indiana State Teachers tonight before 3,500. After going into a 27 to 15 half-time lead, the Hawks saw their advantage dwindling down by the sharp basket shooting of George Pearcy, big forward, who connected for 14 points.

With but five minutes remaining, the Teachers had a one-point lead but Rudy Soderquist tied up the game and then Chapman clinched it when he dropped in both free throws after Leland Melvin fouled him in the waning minutes.

It was Iowa's third nonconference victory in a row. Capt. Vic Siegel, with 11 points, was the Hawks' high scorer, while Pearcy led the Hoosiers with 16. Lineup:

Forward Brownie Jaquay was high scorer for the Bluejays with six baskets.

HOOSIER BASKET SQUAD OF 13 OFF TODAY FOR COAST

Bloomington, Ind., Dec. 16 [Special].—Coach Branch McCracken tonight named a squad of 13 Indiana university basketball players for a four game invasion of the Pacific coast. The Hoosiers will leave tomorrow afternoon by bus for Indianapolis, where they will entrain at 5 p. m. for Chicago. They will board a fast train there tomorrow night for the west coast.

The following were picked for the trip:

FORWARDS—Paul [Curly] Armstrong, Fort Wayne, Jay McCreary, Frankfort; Chet Francis, Avon; John Logan, Richmond; Bob Menke, Huntingburg, and Hal Driver, Aurora.

CENTERS—Bill Menke, Huntingburg, and Andy Zimmer, Goodland.

GUARDS—Bob Dro, Berne; Herman Schaefer, Fort Wayne; Irvin Swanson, La Porte; Jim Gridley, Vevay, and Ed Denton, Vevay.

A record of 27 consecutive non-Big Ten victories will go on the block in the Indiana invasion. Indiana has not lost to a nonconference opponent since 1937, when Bradley Tech won a 50 to 39 decision. This string of victories was begun under Coach Everett Dean, now head coach at Stanford, Indiana's first opponent on the trip. The Hoosiers will meet Stanford at San Francisco Dec. 21. Other west coast engagements are California at Berkeley Dec. 23, and U. C. L. A. Dec. 27, and Southern California Dec. 28, both at Los Angeles.

Snow Forces Nebraska to Work Out Indoors

Lincoln, Neb., Dec. 16 (AP).—Snowdrifts three feet deep on practice fields forced Nebraska's football team indoors today to drill for its Rose Bowl game New Year's day with Stanford university. Coach Lawrence M. Jones ordered the team thru a light running and passing workout and a long blocking drill against dummies.

Bruins Meet Akron Five on Armory Floor

John Moir, onetime Notre Dame star, one of three former members of Fighting Irish basketball teams, will lead the Akron Firestones against the Chicago Bruins, when the latter open the National Basketball league season here tomorrow night in the 132d Regiment armory, Madison and Rockwell streets.

Firestones Are Champions.

Moir last year led the Firestones to the league title, the second successive crown won by the Ohio aggregation. This season Tommy Wukovits and Paul Du Charme, who played on the same team with Moir at Notre Dame, will be on hand to help the Firestones in their bid for a third title.

Wukovits, one of five newcomers on the Akron roster, is the only player to crash the starting lineup. Moir and Bob Hassmiller, ex Fordham university captain, will be at the forwards; Gerry Bush will be at center, and Wukovits and Jack Ozburn will handle the guard assignments.

Coach Likes Club's Chances.

Harry Sorensen, University of Nebraska; Jack Jennings, Washington State university; Fred Beretta, captain of Purdue's Big Ten conference title winner last year; Bob Loeven of St. Bonaventure college; Tommy O'Brien of George Washington university, and Irv Terjesen of New York U. are reserves, in addition to Du Charme.

The Bruins tonight wind up practice which started three weeks ago. Every member of the squad is in good shape for tomorrow night's bid for a galloping start in league title play.

Fight Decisions

Lafayette, Ind., Dec. 16 [Special].—Purdue's defending Big Ten basketball champions, off to a flying start with four straight victories, face a more strenuous assignment this week as they meet Wabash college here tomorrow night and move to Chicago to face De Paul and Loyola on Friday and Saturday, respectively. The games in Chicago are the Boilermakers' first road contests this season.

Wabash's Little Giants are expected to give Purdue its most formidable opposition of the early season. The Crawfordsville five provided a scare for Northwestern, leading, 15 to 10, at the half, altho finally beaten, 35 to 32. The quintet is given balance by a trio of veterans, Bill Fisher and Rawl Ransom, guards, and Carl Klein, forward, working with a pair of sophomores, Carl Kelley, center, and Ray Greve, forward.

Against De Paul, the Boilermakers will be seeking to even matters for one of their two nonconference defeats last season.

Purdue's weakness so far has been lack of height, a shortcoming that has been counterbalanced by fleetness of foot and deft ball handling on a fast break attack.

SKATER TO MARRY.

Ivy King, 25, former featured skater in Chicago roller Derbies, will be married Friday to Albert Imlah, 30, of 2637 West Monroe street, a bank teller. They obtained a license yesterday. Miss King lives at 2532 West Adams street.

Tularemia Kills Rabbit Hunter in Connecticut

East Hampton, Conn., Dec. 16 [Special].—Tularemia, or rabbit fever, caused the death Saturday of Charles W. Metcalf of East Hampton, it was disclosed today. This was said to be the first fatality of this kind in Connecticut. Metcalf gashed his finger while cutting up a rabbit, one of three he had killed on a hunting trip Nov. 23. Five days later he began to show symptoms at first thought to be of grippe. He became unconscious last Monday and was taken to the hospital. He regained consciousness for an hour just before he died.

CARDINALS MAKE JIM CONZELMAN A VICE PRESIDENT

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

James Conzelman, coach of the Chicago Cardinals, was named vice president of the club at a meeting of the club's directors yesterday. Announcement of the appointment was made by Owner Charles Bidwill.

Conzelman came to Chicago last summer from Washington university in St. Louis to take over a sinking Cardinal club at its lowest ebb. He compiled an enviable record for accomplishment by winning two games and tying two others.

Handler to Contact Kimbrough.

"As vice president, Conzelman will vote for the Cardinals in the future when I am unable to attend meetings," Bidwill said. "Also, in addition to his coaching duties and such matters as generally fall to the lot of the 'vice president in charge of public appearances,' Conzelman will be charged with handling the Kimbrough situation."

Conzelman, only recently returned from the Gridiron dinner in Washington last Saturday, was not available yesterday, but at his office it was said he had been assured by John Kimbrough, the Texas A. and M. full back, that he would sign no contracts until he had talked with the Cardinals.

He'll Still Coach—and Talk.

Conzelman's duties as vice president will be second in his interest. What he enjoys most, outside of writing and talking, is coaching, and he will continue in that capacity on a year round schedule, seeking to build a contender around the nucleus he culled from last season's large squad of rookies. After Kimbrough, Conzelman's attention will be centered on Paul Christman of Missouri, Bobby Fox of Tennessee, John Clement of Southern Methodist, and Ray Apolskis of Marquette.

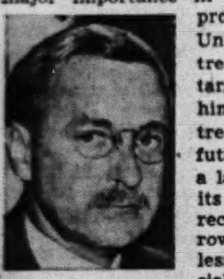
THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

INDICATE SHIFT IN U. S. MONEY POLICY IMPENDS

Enlistment of Public Loans Expected.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.



Winthrop W. Aldrich says immediate change is best.

Developments indicate a shift of major importance in the financing program of the United States treasury. Secretary Morgenthau hints that the treasury in the future will raise a larger share of its funds by direct public borrowing, relying less on commercial banks to finance the government's deficits.

The treasury, it is indicated, will put on a new drive to sell savings bonds to the public. It may also issue a new series of savings certificates in denominations smaller than the $25 in which the savings bonds are now available. These would be patterned after the savings certificates of the world war period for which subscriptions as small as 25 cents weekly were accepted.

Plan Has Double Purpose.

The new program would have the double purpose of raising revenue and absorbing savings that might go otherwise into "luxury" spending.

Secretary Morgenthau states that he favors the removal of the 10,000 a year limit on savings bond subscriptions. This would require congressional action. An amendment to the second liberty loan act of 1917 which was adopted by congress in 1935 authorized issuance of the savings bonds and fixed the $10,000 limit on subscriptions. Corporations were excluded from purchase of the savings bonds under a treasury regulation issued last spring.

The savings bonds yield 2.9 per cent interest to the investor who holds the security to maturity—a rate far above that prevailing on other government securities.

"Cheap" Money Proves Costly.

In the tentative steps taken by the treasury is seen a modification of the easy money policy in which the national administration has persisted in the face of widespread criticism for the last eight years. How far the treasury will move in this direction is uncertain. It is now evident, however, that the treasury officials are no longer convinced that sale of government paper to banks at artificially low rates of interest is necessarily the "cheapest" way for the government to finance itself.

Critics of the easy money policy have contended that the economic and social cost of the easy money policy would in the long run exceed any immediate savings on government borrowings that would accrue from it. They asserted that the policy discouraged savings by penalizing the thrifty, diminishing the income from savings accounts and life insurance policies. At the same time, it is asserted, the policy has encouraged extravagance in government.

Might Break Bond Prices.

A complete reversal of the treasury's policy, however, would be difficult to accomplish. It would entail a slump in prices of government bonds, large blocks of which are held by banks, insurance companies, and other large investors. Despite this situation some leading bankers believe the adjustment should be made now.

Speaking last week in Boston, Winthrop W. Aldrich, chairman of the Chase National Bank of New York, said: "The fact that commercial banks hold a substantial amount of long-term bonds, and the fact that higher rates of interest will increase the cost of our federal government, make a break with the extremely easy money policies of the last six years extremely difficult. Nevertheless, a break must be made. The sooner the change comes, the smaller will be the financial, economic, and social costs, and the less the danger of the imposition of totalitarian controls on our credit and capital markets."

WHEAT AND SOY BEAN FUTURES DIP IN CHICAGO

Wheat and soy bean futures declined yesterday to the lowest levels since early in November on the Chicago Board of Trade. Soy beans closed 3⅝ to 4⅛ cents a bushel lower. Wheat futures finished at losses of 1⅛ to 1⅜ cents.

The probability that wet weather will retard the movement of cash corn to market held the decline in that grain to ¼ to ⅜ cent. Oats closed unchanged to ⅝ cent lower, the former on December and rye declined ¼ to ⅞ cent.

Farmers who refused to sell soy beans when the price was over $1 were reported offering more freely despite a decline of over 20 cents a bushel.

Bars State Tax on Foods Sold to Institutions

The state sales tax on food sold to hospitals, schools and similar institutions was declared invalid yesterday in a ruling handed down by Judge Harry M. Fisher in Circuit court. Judge Fisher ordered the refund of approximately $60,000 paid under protest by wholesalers bringing the suit. He also issued a permanent injunction restraining further tax collections on such sales.

Attorney John H. Gately, representing the People's Store of Roseland, 112th street and Michigan avenue, instigators of the suit against the state department of finance, said he would appeal Judge Fisher's refusal to order refund of about $700,000 which the plaintiffs said they paid before the suit was filed last December. The People's Store was joined in the suit by 24 other food wholesalers.

Voids 2 Finance Rules.

Judge Fisher ruled that the sales should not have been taxed because they were not made directly to consumers. His decision voided finance department rules 34 and 74, the first of which applies to hospitals, old people's homes, orphanages and state institutions, and the second one to sales to schools, universities, churches and other religious institutions.

The order will become effective in 20 days unless the state, represented during the hearings by Assistant Attorney General Loring B. Brown, decides to appeal.

The $60,000 paid under protest has been held in a special fund under terms of a temporary injunction issued by Judge Fisher when the suit was filed Dec. 28, 1939.

May Cost State Half Million.

Among the Chicago wholesalers who joined the People's Store in the suit are the Borden and Bowman dairy companies; Sprague Warner & Co., Steele-Wedeles company, and Reid Murdoch & Co.

Judge Fisher's ruling, it was estimated, will cost the state in the neighborhood of a half million dollars yearly.

FORD MOTOR COMPANY UNION SEEKS HIGHEST PAY IN THE INDUSTRY

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 16 (AP).—The Ford Brotherhood of America today asked the Ford Motor company to pay its hourly rated workers higher wages than employés of any other automobile manufacturer. The request was contained in a telegram sent to Edsel B. Ford, president. No specific wage was mentioned.

The message was signed by Ben Love and Dwight Edwards, brotherhood trustees, who declared the organization has a membership of 21,000 Ford employés.

"We shall expect your coöperation," the telegram read, "to the end that the Ford hourly workers shall receive higher wages than any now paid by others in similar production."

The brotherhood was held to be a company dominated union by the National Labor Relations board in 1937. Later it was approved as a bona fide union and requested a NLRB election among Ford employés.

In a statement issued today the brotherhood charged that the present demand of the United Automobile Workers [C. I. O.] union for a similar election "is a desperate attempt to excuse its three year delay while it prosecuted the brotherhood on false charges."

Cook County Inventories of Used Cars Are Larger

The Chicago Automobile Trade association yesterday reported that used car inventories of Cook county dealers were equivalent to a 46.7 days' supply as of Dec. 1, compared with a 40.7 days' supply on Nov. 1.

HEAR SEC PLANS EDISON ELECTRIC INSTITUTE RULE

New York, Dec. 17, Tuesday (AP).—The New York Herald Tribune said today the Securities and Exchange commission "has taken the first step in what is believed to be an attempt to bring the Edison Electric institute under its control by classifying it as a service company."

The newspaper said the institute—a statistical, scientific and informational organization for the electric light and power industry—was the subject of an SEC order early in October in which the commission sought to determine whether the institute had violated or was about to violate certain rules.

The SEC, it was said, has ordered the institute to make its books available so the commission may study its activities, its finances, their source and expenditure, and its relation with registered holding companies and their subsidiaries."

BRITISH QUOTE MEDITERRANEAN WAR RISK RATES

LONDON, Dec. 16.—As the direct result of British and Greek military successes against the Italians, Lloyds underwriters for the first time since Italy entered the war are quoting rates for risks on cargoes bound for India and Turkey by sea route.

The premiums are 15 per cent of the value of shipments on cargoes for India and Turkey passing thru the Mediterranean and 17½ per cent on cargoes going via Greece and Smyrna. These are the first rates on voyages involving the Mediterranean passage scheduled on the open war risks insurance market here since Italy became a belligerent.

The rates are admitedly high, but the fact that insurance is obtainable on the open market indicates the confidence of the underwriters regarding the situation in the Mediterranean, observers said.

DIAMOND T GETS 6 MILLIONS IN TRUCK ORDERS

Army Places Other Big Contracts.

C. A. Tilt.

Award of a $6,311,085 order to Diamond T Motor Car company, Chicago, for large army trucks was announced yesterday by the war department.

The order increased to about $25,000,000 the total of contracts which the government has given the company. The trucks will be of the three axle, six wheel drive type, designed so that two tires may be used on each of the front wheels, according to C. A. Tilt, president of the company.

Another Chicago concern, Goodman Manufacturing company, received a government contract for $428,715 of artillery material.

Other Contracts Awarded.

Other war department contracts announced at the same time included: Eastman Kodak company, Rochester, N. Y., fire control equipment, $3,710,016; Standard Pressed Steel company, Jenkintown, Pa., ammunition components, $1,696,412; Fairchild Aviation corporation, Jamaica, N. Y., fire control equipment, $516,474; Freuhauf Trailer company, Detroit, trailers, $1,115,096; Federal Motor Truck company, Detroit, tractor-trucks, $3,246,150; Willys-Overland Motors, Inc., Toledo, O., ¼ ton reconnaissance trucks, $1,424,115, and P. O. B. Montgomery, Dallas, Tex., emergency construction at Fort Sam Houston, Tex., $1,903,370.

A $5,210,513 contract was awarded by the department to Republic Aviation corporation, Farmingdale, N. Y., for expansion of the company's plane making facilities. No details were made known.

Expand Army Warehouses.

The department announced it would spend an additional $1,730,000 for construction of warehouses, shops, and other facilities at the general army depot in Ogden, Utah.

Brazilian efforts to establish a domestic steel industry figured in the day's news. A contract to design a 36 million dollar iron and steel plant in Brazil and supervise its construction was awarded Arthur G. McKee & Co., Cleveland, O. The plant will be near Rio de Janeiro, and construction is expected to require 2½ to three years.

A 20 million dollar loan from the United States Export-Import bank paved the way for construction of the plant, for which materials and equipment will come largely from the United States.

Independent Pneumatic Tool company has arranged to build a new plant in Los Angeles costing $500,000, it was announced.

Build Chicago Addition.

The Owens-Illinois Can company announced yesterday it will start work at once on a $450,000 three story addition to its plant in the Clearing industrial district. Containing 172,800 square feet of floor space, this will more than double the present area of the company's plant at 6501 West 65th street, which contains 168,000 square feet.

The company, a fruit and vegetable can making subsidiary of the Owens-Illinois Glass company, now employs about 500 persons. This will be increased to around 800 when the new addition is completed, it was said.

Chicago Hails New High Speed Railroad Services to Miami

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

The reality of a high speed streamlined train service between Chicago and Miami, Fla., was celebrated yesterday at a luncheon in the Union League club.

J. B. Ford, vice president of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois railroad, was toastmaster. The road's train, the Dixie Flagler, will leave Chicago at 9:40 a. m. today on its first regular run to Miami.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Edward G. Budd, president of the Edward G. Budd Manufacturing company, Philadelphia, Pa., and representatives of Miami and cities along the route of the new service spoke at the luncheon.

Competitive Positions Compared.

Col. McCormick compared the competitive positions of the railroad and the newspapers, both of which for many years have had virtual monopolies in their respective fields. Col. McCormick recalled that when he was in college the railroads enjoyed a virtual monoply with the only competition that which existed among themselves. They now have stiff competition from trucks, buses, private automobiles, and air lines, he said.

Telling how the trucking industry had its birth, Col. McCormick said that when he was in France during the world war the German armies cut an important railroad line. Thereupon some genius under Marshal Petain organized a truck operation to fill the place of the railroad, he said, and that was the start of truck operation.

Col. McCormick said many may not realize it, but the newspapers are facing a situation such as that in which the railroads found themselves. He said the newspapers now face stiff competition from radio and other mediums. He cited the use of colored lights on signs at night as one form.

If the newspapers continue to run as they did, they will lose business just as the railroads did, Col. McCormick declared. However, he said, the newspapers have found that the camera, which enables them to devote a large part of their space to pictures, and the use of color in printing are effective ways to combat competitors.

Praises Chicago Initiative.

Budd praised Chicago's initiative and enterprise for the rapid development of the streamlined train. He said it was all very well for a group of engineers and mechanics to develop the idea of a streamliner, but no progress could be made until some one with courage and vision to buy such a train could be found. A Chicago railroad bought the first streamliner, he said, and Chicago roads now operate more than any other.

The new Miami service is shared jointly by the three originating Chicago railroads—the C. & E. I., the Illinois Central, and the Pennsylvania together with connecting southern railroads. The Illinois Central's City of Miami, which will be on display today at the I. C. station, will make its first run tomorrow, and the Pennsylvania's South Wind will make its first trip Thursday. Thereafter one of these trains will leave Chicago every day for Miami.

FORECAST CHRISTMAS SALES WILL AVERAGE 8 PER CENT ABOVE 1939

New York, Dec. 16 (AP).—A nationwide average dollar sales gain of 8 per cent and individual store increases of as much as 30 per cent over the last Christmas shopping season were reported today by the National Retail Dry Goods association.

The organization, after a telegraphic survey of members covering the first 10 shopping days of December, said: "The unit total of Christmas purchases this year will undoubtedly be the country's largest ever."

Pennsylvania Grade Crude Oil Prices Advanced Again

Pittsburgh, Pa., Dec. 16 (AP).—For the second time in a month the price of Pennsylvania crude oil was hiked 15 cents a barrel tonight with the prime Bradford-Allegany type going to $2.15.

$3,250,000 Catholic Note Issue to Be Paid Jan. 18

Samuel A. Stritch, archbishop of Chicago, has called for payment on Jan. 18, the $3,250,000 of Catholic bishop of Chicago series D 4 per cent notes, dated Feb. 1, 1936, and due Feb. 1, 1956. A premium of 1 per cent will be paid to holders, together with interest to the redemption date.

SWIFT INCOME AT 4 YEAR PEAK, $1.89 PER SHARE

Packer's Sales Top 771 Millions.

John Holmes.

With the national defense program causing larger demand for packing house products, Swift & Co. during the last year realized its largest net income since 1936, John Holmes, president, announced yesterday in a report to shareholders.

Consolidated net profits for the fiscal year ended, Oct. 26, totaled $11,183,484, equivalent to $1.89 a share, compared with $10,321,523, or $1.74 a share in the preceding fiscal year. The 1936 net income was $12,103,751.

Sales amounted to $771,573,482, against $756,731,537 the year before.

Hide, Wool Values Gain.

"The development of the domestic defense program has provided a strong impetus to the nation's productive machine," Holmes said. "A direct result of the defense program has been an increased demand for wool and, to a lesser degree, for hides, which has resulted in improved values for these two important products.

"The increase in employment on defense projects has stimulated the demand for consumer goods of all kinds, including meats. We are confident that bottlenecks in regard to the supply of meat products will not develop in the industry."

Provision for Taxes.

The company's provision for United States and Canadian income taxes for the fiscal year came to $3,010,164, compared with $2,081,187 in the preceding year.

Holmes said that taxes paid directly by the company had more than

STOCKS DECLINE FRACTIONS TO ABOUT 2 POINTS

New York, Dec. 16 (AP).—The stock market declined under relatively light pressure today.

Leading industrials, with steels in front, closed with losses of fractions to around 2 points. A few minor recoveries were in evidence at the final gong.

The Associated Press average of 60 issues was off .4 of a point, largest drop for this composite since Nov. 27. On the other hand, transfers amounted to only 659,870 shares, compared with 961,450 last Friday, when the trend was upward.

In addition to a little more year-end tax selling, traders inclined to lighten accounts, brokers said, in the wake of the President's statement at Warm Springs, Ga., Sunday that he would return there next March "if the world survives." Considered a bit ominous also, marketwise, was the warning of Defense Commissioner William S. Knudsen to the machine tool industry that "if you could see as I do from the inside the terrible urgency of the situation" a quick speedup of production would get under way.

Chicago Stocks.

The price trend on the Chicago Stock exchange was downward yesterday. Sixty issues declined, 21 advanced, and 28 closed unchanged. Turnover was 25,000 shares. Chicago corporation, the volume leader, closed at ⅞, the same as previous sales.

A comparison of several stocks listed both in Chicago and New York, showing the changes here in the hour after the New York close, follows:

New York Bonds.

New York, Dec. 16 (AP).—The bond market absorbed some of the pessimism evident in other financial quarters today and active issues yielded fractions to a point.

Offerings were never in large volume, however, and in numerous cases buyers were attracted in sufficient number to bring modest recovery before the close. A few foreign dollar loans, notably South Americans, were ahead all day.

United States government obligations were quiet and finished up 14-32 of a point to down 5-32.

Belgium 6½s bounded up 6⅝ points to 43 and the 7s rose 2¼ to 43¼. Bonds of Chile, Colombia, and City of Buenos Aires also were gainers of fractions to more than a point.

Bank Stocks.

Northern Trust shares advanced two points yesterday in Chicago bank stock trading. Chicago Title declined two points and City National, First National and La Salle a point each. Continental Illinois eased half a point.

WISCONSIN TAX ON DIVIDENDS IS DECLARED VALID

Supreme Court Decides by Vote of 5 to 4.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 16 [Special].—Out of state corporations today lost their fight to prevent Wisconsin from exacting a tax of 2½ per cent on dividends accruing from profits on business done within the state. The United States Supreme court, in a 5 to 4 decision, upheld constitutionality of the tax and reversed the Wisconsin Supreme court which had ruled in favor of the J. C. Penney company, chain store organization. The state also collects a corporation income tax on the same proportion of earnings.

"The incidence of the tax, as well as its measure," wrote Justice Felix Frankfurter for the majority, "is tied to the earnings which the state of Wisconsin has made possible, insofar as government is the prerequisite for the fruits of civilization for which, as Mr. Justice Holmes was fond of saying, we pay taxes. The substantial privilege of carrying on business in Wisconsin, which has here been given, clearly supports the tax."

Minority Opposes View.

Writing for the minority, which included Chief Justice Charles E. Hughes and Justices James C. McReynolds and Stanley Reed, Justice Owen J. Roberts said a state cannot extend sovereignty by legislation so as to prohibit, to regulate, or to tax property or transactions of citizens of other states and that disbursing dividends was an act wholly beyond the reach of Wisconsin's sovereign power.

The Supreme court ruled that if the federal government could prove that the Northern Pacific railroad was guilty of fraud in the classification of lands in an 1864 land grant it might be deprived of any award.

The government had contended in the long litigated case that the carrier, by fraud, had obtained a classification as mineral land of 3,782,377 acres along its right of way in order that it could select more valuable lands. The company under the law could not select mineral lands.

The returned the twice heard case to the Eastern Washington Federal District court, after deciding some issues in favor of the government, some for the railroad, and some not at all.

Denies Merchants' Plea.

The Supreme court denied a group of Kansas City, Mo., produce merchants the right to proceed with litigation seeking to enjoin construction by the Union Pacific railroad of a $500,000 line to a rival produce market at Kansas City, Kas.

In other litigation, Kansas City, Kas., and the railroad were granted a review of a decision enjoining them from granting illegal rebates or concessions in connection with the operation of the Kansas City, Kas., produce market.

The court agreed to review a decision that consolidated railroad companies are responsible for the obligations of their constituent companies. The New York, Chicago, and St. Louis railroad appealed from the New York Supreme court. The carrier sought to avoid payment of overdue interest on bonds of the Northern Ohio Railroad company, issued in 1895, which had been guaranteed by the Lake Erie and Western railroad, a constituent company of the New York, Chicago, and St. Louis.

FIRST IN PAINTS.

What is the position of the Sherwin-Williams company, in the paint industry? I would like some information about its earnings record. What is its current financial condition?—R. E.

Answer: Sherwin-Williams company, Cleveland, O., is the world's leading manufacturer of paints and varnishes, which are sold to dealers, industries and railroads. It makes most of the raw and intermediate materials used in its processes.

Moving generally with the swing of business conditions, the company's operations have risen since 1938. The earnings record of the company and its subsidiaries in recent fiscal years ended August 31 and dividends on the common stock in calendar years follow:

	Net income.	Earned per com. share	*Dividends per com. share.
1936	$5,887,629	$8.04	$4.00
1937	6,034,955	8.44	6.00
1938	2,228,361	2.42	2.50
1939	4,463,992	5.96	2.75
1940	4,828,746	6.57	3.00

*Calendar year.

The company has outstanding 122,289 shares of 5 per cent cumulative preferred stock of $100 par value and 638,927 shares of $25 par common stock. Regular payments are being made on the preferred stock and dividends on the common stock have been paid consistently since 1898.

Current assets of the company last August 31 amounted to $34,945,210 against current liabilities of $4,992,206, indicating a net working capital of $29,953,004.

The company recently announced a five year plant expansion program to cost $4,500,000, of which a considerable portion would be spent in Chicago.

GREENBACKS.

I am told the President has the power to issue greenbacks. Can you tell me from what congressional act this power is derived? Are greenbacks necessarily issued against silver?—R. G. B.

Answer: The so-called Thomas amendment to the agricultural adjustment act of 1933 provides that the President may, under certain conditions, direct the secretary of the treasury to issue United States notes up to a total of 3 billion dollars. United States notes may be issued under the authority granted in the amended greenback act of Feb. 25, 1862, but the law requires that the treasury maintain a reserve of at least $150,000,000 in gold, not silver, behind these notes.

EXPECT DETROIT EDISON'S BOND OFFERING SOON

Big Issue Speeded Thru SEC 'Incubation.'

Public offering of $50,000,000 of general and refunding 3 per cent mortgage bonds, series H, of the Detroit Edison company is expected Thursday it was reported yesterday. Should the issue be marketed then, it would mark the speediest passage of any issue thru the "incubation" period of registration with the Securities and Exchange commission. The statement was filed with the commission only last Friday. The clearing process usually requires 20 days.

The bonds will be offered by a nation-wide group of 84 underwriters headed by Coffin & Burr, Inc. The utility intends to refund a like amount of 4½ per cent mortgage bonds, due in 1961.

Offer Steel Bonds.

An investment banking group headed by A. G. Becker & Co. today will offer at par $6,500,000 of Pittsburgh Steel company first mortgage 4½ per cent bonds, due 1950. Proceeds will be used to retire about $4,900,000 of 6 per cent debentures, due 1948, and to pay bank loans.

Maximum annual interest requirements on the new bonds, which will constitute the company's only funded debt, will be $292,500. Reported earnings before interest and taxes were $1,098,871 in 1939 and $1,367,628 in the first nine months of 1940.

An underwriting group of 24 firms headed by Hemphill, Noyes & Co., today will offer 56,000 shares of Colonial Stores, Inc., 5 per cent cumulative preferred stock, series A, at $50 a share, and 75,000 shares of common stock at $14. The preferred carries nondetachable common stock purchase warrants.

Merger Is Provided.

As approved by stockholders of both companies recently, Southern Grocery Stores will be merged into David Pender Grocery company to create Colonial Stores, Inc. Of the proceeds from the stock sale $1,559,915 will be paid to holders of Pender class A stock, and $1,403,100 to holders of preferred and participating stock of Southern, both of which issues are to be retired.

A group headed by the Chase National bank will offer $4,379,000 of Metropolitan Water District of Southern California 4 per cent Colorado River Waterworks refunding bonds at prices to yield 2.70 to 2.75 per cent.

- Government contracts awarded; supplies already furnished
- Effect of defense program on prices
- Developments in the chemical industry . . . synthetics and substitutes
- Export trade situation
- Roundup of South American financial and industrial developments
- Forecast of probable taxation in 1941 for defense revenue
- A revised business index
- New products and processes
- Post-war competition with German manufacturers
- Stock, bond and commodity reviews
- Banking—foreign exchange—brokers' loans—stock market leaders—complete record of security transactions in 1940
- Review of foreign markets and the outlook as told in special wireless articles from European capitals. . . .

In addition, The Times will present its usual chronology of month-by-month developments during the past year, and authoritative discussions of money, interest rates, corporation and government financing; prospective legislation, progress of public utilities and the railroads, and the outlook for commercial and investment banking under the defense program . . .

ADVERTISERS will welcome this new and greater REVIEW and FORECAST as a medium for calling the attention of an audience of more than 500,000 readers to their companies' products, services and progress.

trebled in the last 10 years, without taking into consideration the increase in indirect taxes.

"The government indebtedness of this country is increasing," Holmes said. "I believe each of us is willing to carry his share of the current expenditures, so that our children and our children's children will not inherit a debt staggered government. The solution does not lie in reducing current taxes, but in the elimination of unnecessary expenditures. As necessary expenditures for defense purposes increase, it is to be hoped that ways will be found for reducing other less necessary expenses."

Holmes said that the increase in packing house tonnage was nearly in proportion to the change in national live stock production. Cattle, calves and lambs were marketed in nearly the same numbers as in the preceding year, he said, with the increase in tonnage resulting almost entirely from a gain of about 20 per cent in the number of hogs marketed.

Surplus Account Larger.

The report showed that $10,200,000 was taken from cash on hand as of Oct. 26 for retiring $10,000,000 of the company's first mortgage sinking fund 3¾ per cent bonds, called for payment on Nov. 15 at a premium of 2 per cent over par. The surplus account showed a net increase of $4,480,400, rising to $86,270,041.

Holmes said that the branches of Swift & Co. in continental Europe had been severely restricted, but that the company was maintaining curtailed organizations to keep business contacts in those countries. The company's wholesale distribution business in Great Britain has continued on a satisfactory basis, he added.

During the last six months of the fiscal year, he said, United States exports of meat and lard were "drastically reduced" with the exception of shipments to the West Indies and Central America. Europe proved a "fair" export market for certain pork products and lard last winter and spring, he said, but this trade now is at a standstill.

Cotton markets were fairly active in early trading yesterday, but business declined later. Scattered selling and pressure from houses with Bombay, India, connections more than offset buying by cash firms, closing sales of futures showed losses of .02 to .05 cent a pound.
